ESSA President and Evening Director Trade Charges

By Neeraj Vohra

Terry Morris, president of the Evening Session Student Assembly, has formally complained to the Office of the Dean of Students about "the behavior of one [of the] employees in the department of student services, namely Mr. Charles Lyles, director of evening and graduate services." But according to Lyles, Morris's "letter is in response to a memo that I sent to the dean (of students) about abusive language that Morris used." A copy of that letter, dated Jan. 3, 1986, was sent to Morris, and it says in part:

"I had hoped you had accepted or at least understood the responsibility with which this office is charged, especially pertaining to the review of student fee allocations. However, your memorandum of 1-28 and your emotional outburst on 1-30 suggest that you do not understand my function and moreover, that you are increasingly becoming an impediment to the fulfillment [sic] of that function."

In the Feb. 3, 1986 memorandum sent to Dr. Henry Wilson, Jr., dean of students, Morris wrote that "on two occasions during the Fall semester of 1985 Mr. Lyles bursted [sic] into my office while I was engaged in conversations with students, interrupted my conversations, raised his voice at me and stormed out of the office angrily."

The letter said that although Morris was willing to overlook those incidents, Lyles's "actions at approximately 7:15 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 30, 1986 cannot be forgotten."

According to the letter, on that evening Lyles stormed into the ESSA office and interrupted a meeting that Morris was having with Earlie Butler, a member of the ESSA. As Morris wrote in his complaint: "I then asked Mr. Lyles to put what he has to say in writing and to allow me to get back to my meeting. It was at this time that Mr. Lyles took two steps away from me and began to threaten me. 'I am going to take you before the disciplinary committee for spreading lies about me. Do you hear what I said? I am going to take you before the disciplinary committee.'"

According to Lyles, Morris "provoked a situation by not understanding his role in the ad-hoc committee." (Continued on Page 8, Col. 1)

Minority Alumni Committee Calls for Convocation Rally

By Eric J. Fox

The Baruch College Black and Hispanic Alumni Association Ad-hoc Committee is planning a protest in the future after the ad-hoc convocation ceremony.

The rally, which will take place on Sunday, Feb. 25, at 11:30 a.m., will protest the refusal of Joel Segall, president of Baruch College, to recognize the group as a separate alumni association.

"This demonstration will expose the insensitivity and racist policies of Baruch College against its black and Hispanic students," said Joseph Sellman, chairperson of the ad-hoc committee.

Sellman said that he contacted David Dinkins, the Manhattan borough president, who has been involved in trying to reach a settlement, and asked that he meet with representatives of the ad-hoc committee.

Dinkins was unavailable for comment, but David Kirby, who is in charge of scheduling for Dinkins, said that Dinkins would appear as scheduled on Feb. 23. Kirby spoke before he received the letter from Sellman and based his comments on background information had over the phone by a Ticker reporter.

It is not clear whether Dinkins will meet with the ad-hoc committee.

When contacted, Joel Segall, president of Baruch College, said he was unaware of any planned rally and refused comment because the issue of recognition of the ad-hoc committee was in litigation. He did say that "it would be a shame" if the rally interrupted mid-year convocation.

The ad-hoc committee filed a lawsuit in Oct. 1984 with Sellman charging that Segall's position opposing recognition was "arrogant."

Security Incidents During January Called 'Modest'

By Caitlin Mollison

Security incidents during January were running at about "one per day" according to David O. Green, vice-president for Administration.

Green called the estimate "modest" and said the number was based on preliminary results received from security.

Several Baruch students told The Ticker that they had several items stolen from their handbags in the journalism room, a minority of the English department located on the 10th floor of 4 E. 26 St. Other reports by students were that four electric pencil sharpeners and a toaster oven had been stolen from 101 E. 18 St.

Another report, in the same building, was that a woman returning from the bathroom, found a man rummaging through her purse.

Henry J. McLaughlin, the director of security, would not confirm any of these incidents, except to say that the report about the man going through a purse was "a possibility."

"People don't secure their own possessions. People shouldn't leave their handbags and not lock their desks," said McLaughlin.

McLaughlin would not say just

President of BLACK Under Investigation

By Molly Kong

A student leader was investigated by the Office of the Dean of Students for having sponsored an activity in Room 114 of 155 E. 24 St. without proper authorization.

Jocelyn Murphy, president of BLACK — Black Leadership Through Action, Collectiveness, and Knowledge — and a member of the evening government, said the room on the evening of Nov. 22 to host a talk without first securing the approval of Charles Lyles, director of evening and graduate student services.

"What I did, I violated the student code," said Murphy. "I didn't get permission to use this space."

As a result, Murphy said she was told she was guilty of the following offenses, listed in the undergraduate student handbook under "Regulations Governing Students Conduct":

a) Violation of regulations relating to the entry and use of institutional facilities including closing hour location.

Charles Lyles, director of evening and graduate student services

b) "Advertising, soliciting, or selling merchandise or service or soliciting of information on campus without the permission of the Office of the Dean of Students."

c) "Failure to comply with direction of duly authorized and identified college officials acting in performance of their official duties."

Murphy was informed of these offenses by Lyles and did not know...
EDITORIALS

Annoying Confrontations

Ultimately, this issue of The Ticker had to report on two incidents that concern administration/student confrontations. While both situations involve Charles Lyles, director of evening and graduate student services, they are facing off against each other.

While Senator Morris, president of the SGA, has a legitimate complaint against the administration for not providing adequate security, Lyles is being accused of exploiting the situation for personal gain.

This is a classic example of how confrontations can escalate into major issues. It is important for both sides to remain calm and理智地 handle the situation.

Students Should Pitch In

To the Editor:

When I walk into a room filled with students, I hear a common refrain: "I don't want to be here." This attitude is not unique to these students, but it is a problem that needs to be addressed.

Student organizations play a vital role in the life of the university. By pitching in and making a difference, students can help create a more positive environment for everyone.

By Travis Bickle

The Ticker

A Day In The Life of a Hack

Last August, I began driving a taxi at Dewey’s Taxicab Service in downtown Brooklyn.

I am a student at Brooklyn College and I drive a taxi as a part-time job. It is a job that allows me to earn money while attending school.

The Ticker

LETTERS

An Ounce of Prevention

David O. Green, Baruch’s vice-president for Administration recently said that security incidents during January, a month in which few people are in the school, could be linked to “remedial, one-per-day.”

If one-per-day is a modest amount for an off week, what is typical of a month in which classes are in session? Henry J. McLaughlin, director of Security and Emergency Management, “isn’t sure what the average is.” Whatever the case may be, Baruch students, faculty, and administrators are facing a problem with a solution that appears to be heightened vaccination, surveillance, and deterrence.

It appears that many administrators are reluctant to disclose information about such matters for fear they will induce others to do so. Although this argument may have some merit, Baruch’s population must be made aware of the hazards in and around the school. With this knowledge, individuals can take precautions to reduce the risk of harm.

The Ticker

The Man of Many Faces

By Ernest Francois

He is a devoted philanthropist. He is the commander-in-chief of the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola (UNITA). He is the man who travelled to Washington to seek the United States’ support for the anti-communist movement in Southern Africa.

While it would be ideal if the administration were to contribute to Mr. Savimbi’s appeals to the United Nations and the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola in their pursuit of independence, it also seems necessary that the administration continue to support Mr. Savimbi’s efforts to achieve this goal.

Savimbi is the darling of American conservatives. This is not surprise. Conservative’s have traditionally placed a great deal of emphasis on the importance of a strong United States and a strong United States needs a strong ally in Africa.

While Savimbi is a multi-faceted man, this barger of any, this master of self-sacrifice certainly is not. His experience in driving in a city. Put them on a two lane road in Butt#$. New Jersey, and you’ll see him in a city a day’s drive away from South Africa.

To the Editor:

I began driving a taxi at Dewey’s Taxicab Service in downtown Brooklyn.

I am a student at Brooklyn College and I drive a taxi as a part-time job. It is a job that allows me to earn money while attending school.

The Ticker

Quotation of the Fortnight

"I would be satisfied with a total investigation of the department of State’s actions this summer in connection with Angola. It’s not just a cap. It’s a whole problem. The whole Senate staff should investigate this thing. Whether it’s 19 peanuts or 19,000, it’s a whole problem. It’s a huge problem."

—Sen. Robert Byrd, D-Wivo, on the 1974 Senate investigation

While in the U.S., various conservative organizations have tended to have three goals: to increase the number of votes for Republican candidates, to increase the number of votes for Republican candidates, and to increase the number of votes for Republican candidates.

I'm not sure how much of this is true, but I do know that many people are concerned about the possibility of increased violence in their areas.

By Travis Bickle

The Ticker

A Day In The Life of a Hack

Last August, I began driving a taxi at Dewey’s Taxicab Service in downtown Brooklyn.

I am a student at Brooklyn College and I drive a taxi as a part-time job. It is a job that allows me to earn money while attending school.

The Ticker

Quotation of the Fortnight

"I would be satisfied with a total investigation of the department of State’s actions this summer in connection with Angola. It’s not just a cap. It’s a whole problem. The whole Senate staff should investigate this thing. Whether it’s 19 peanuts or 19,000, it’s a whole problem. It’s a huge problem."

—Sen. Robert Byrd, D-Wivo, on the 1974 Senate investigation

While in the U.S., various conservative organizations have tended to have three goals: to increase the number of votes for Republican candidates, to increase the number of votes for Republican candidates, and to increase the number of votes for Republican candidates.

I'm not sure how much of this is true, but I do know that many people are concerned about the possibility of increased violence in their areas.

By Travis Bickle

The Ticker

A Day In The Life of a Hack

Last August, I began driving a taxi at Dewey’s Taxicab Service in downtown Brooklyn.

I am a student at Brooklyn College and I drive a taxi as a part-time job. It is a job that allows me to earn money while attending school.

The Ticker

Quotation of the Fortnight

"I would be satisfied with a total investigation of the department of State’s actions this summer in connection with Angola. It’s not just a cap. It’s a whole problem. The whole Senate staff should investigate this thing. Whether it’s 19 peanuts or 19,000, it’s a whole problem. It’s a huge problem."

—Sen. Robert Byrd, D-Wivo, on the 1974 Senate investigation

While in the U.S., various conservative organizations have tended to have three goals: to increase the number of votes for Republican candidates, to increase the number of votes for Republican candidates, and to increase the number of votes for Republican candidates.

I'm not sure how much of this is true, but I do know that many people are concerned about the possibility of increased violence in their areas.
Achieving Your Goals With the Help of Counseling

By Marshall Lee, Ph.D. and Janice E. Ruffe, Ph.D.

Professional counseling can be one of the most valuable tools available to students at Baruch in achieving their personal and educational goals. Baruch’s Office of Counseling and Psychological Services is committed to helping students improve their academic performance. Baruch’s counselors recognize that students’ success in college depends upon many factors, including their growth and development in non-academic spheres. Very often, academic problems are directly influenced by non-academic factors, both within and outside the student’s environment. Baruch’s Office of Counseling and Psychological Services is committed to helping students improve their academic performance. Baruch’s counselors recognize that students’ success in college depends upon many factors, including their growth and development in non-academic spheres. Very often, academic problems are directly influenced by non-academic factors, both within and outside the student’s environment. Baruch’s Office of Counseling and Psychological Services is committed to helping students improve their academic performance.

We have observed two major categories of problems among students on probation: situational and emotional-behavioral problems. Situational problems are those which are often outside of the student’s control. The most typical of these is the student’s ability to do well academically. Emotional-behavioral problems are defined as those which, generally, have a more ongoing personal basis involving the student as well as their skills in coping with life’s demands. As counselors, we find that students’ problems usually fall within one of the above categories or reflect some combination of situational and emotional-behavioral factors.

Baruch’s Office of Counseling and Psychological Services has had contact with students in varying degrees of academic difficulty. However, our experience with students on probation has provided us with some of the most important data on how situational and emotional-behavioral problems affect academic performance. Our experience with students on probation is summarized here to illustrate issues which are likely to be common to all students.

Regardless of the nature of the problems for which students seek help, the counselor-student relationship is the essential ingredient in problem-solving. Counselors make every effort to contribute to students’ improved understanding of their problems and, as a result, help them make decisions that will lead to solutions. Sometimes students’ own personal factors which significantly influence their academic performance, but for many reasons, they are unable to admit the severity of their problem. Sometimes students are not motivated to take steps toward improving their academic performance. In these situations, students have difficulty expressing themselves, and in the course of their problem status, they most often fail responsibility for changing the state of affairs.

The counseling relationship with students on probation is, as always, who relate with the counselor, is highly individualized. Problems approach each student with an appreciation for their personal history, goals, academic, personal and family problems, which allows the counselor to...
Freshman Survey Results

McLaughlin, director of enrollment

Baruch Offers Counseling Services

SECRETARY WANTED

FOR EVENING STUDENT GOVERNMENT

QUALIFICATIONS: CURRENTLY ENROLLED DAY STUDENT. ABILITY TO TYPE 50 W.P.M. DEPENDABLE, HIGHLY MOTIVATED INDIVIDUAL

DUTIES: TYPING, FILING. WILL BE REQUIRED TO ATTEND MEETINGS AND TAKE NOTES.

To schedule interview call: 725-3031 or 725-3385 (4-8 p.m.) (M-Th)

Deadline: Feb. 27, 1986

Computerized Registration To Arrive in February

By Angela Robins

It is now testing time for the computer system. McCarthy said, "We must see the system works before we make it an integral part of student life at Baruch College." One of the main functions of the new system is to make it easier, faster, more accurate to make changes in registration.

The Baruch College Freshman Course is a complete registration system. It is designed to do all the functions of a manual system, but then go one step further and do others. The system is designed to take care of the needs of Baruch, but as part of a CUNY program.

Legal Service Program

The Day Session Student Government provides a free legal service to all students at Baruch College.

The program provides assistance in housing, consumer, domestic and criminal matters as well as race and sex discrimination cases.

The lawyer is available at Baruch in Room 409 on:

Tuesday 12:35 - 3:30 PM

To make appointment call: (212) 725-3377/8 in the event of an emergency call: (212) 466-8578.

SECURITY

For the Baruch College Student Government Security System.

This year's survey was administered last spring and summer to 21,000 students currently enrolled at Baruch College.

The survey was conducted by the Office of the Dean of Students, who administered the survey at the instigation of Dr. Adrienne Leinwand, director of counseling services.

The survey was conducted by the Office of the Dean of Students, who administered the survey at the instigation of Dr. Adrienne Leinwand, director of counseling services.

The survey was conducted by the Office of the Dean of Students, who administered the survey at the instigation of Dr. Adrienne Leinwand, director of counseling services.

The survey was conducted by the Office of the Dean of Students, who administered the survey at the instigation of Dr. Adrienne Leinwand, director of counseling services.
Lyles vs. Morris

(Continued from Front Page)

Ronald M. Aaron, associate dean of students, said that he had been asked by Wilson to look into the matter and submit a report. "One thing that I thought about today was what's going on between the student and the administration."

According to Murphy, the administration had been trying to resolve the situation for some time, and had been seeking a diplomatic solution. "We tried to have a meeting with the student and the other officials, but he wouldn't come," said Murphy.

According to Murphy, the administration had been trying to resolve the situation for some time, and had been seeking a diplomatic solution. "We tried to have a meeting with the student and the other officials, but he wouldn't come," said Murphy.

According to Murphy, the administration had been trying to resolve the situation for some time, and had been seeking a diplomatic solution. "We tried to have a meeting with the student and the other officials, but he wouldn't come," said Murphy.

According to Murphy, the administration had been trying to resolve the situation for some time, and had been seeking a diplomatic solution. "We tried to have a meeting with the student and the other officials, but he wouldn't come," said Murphy.

According to Murphy, the administration had been trying to resolve the situation for some time, and had been seeking a diplomatic solution. "We tried to have a meeting with the student and the other officials, but he wouldn't come," said Murphy.

According to Murphy, the administration had been trying to resolve the situation for some time, and had been seeking a diplomatic solution. "We tried to have a meeting with the student and the other officials, but he wouldn't come," said Murphy.
Always A Warm Reception At Center

By Marie A. Peluso

Those who utilize Baruch’s Student Center expect to receive a warm smile and pleasant assistance from one of the women who track the receptionist desk and it’s a wonder why. They find a place where their questions can be answered and they can get some relief from the busy streets outside.

Dorothy Conway reports back to Baruch College after spending 16 years with the company. Baruch, she said, is a place where she enjoys her work.

In fact, we believe in your future. And it’s not long before the essential part of maternal love becomes a task; one of the issues that those who have made it that far in student life are facing. It’s not long before the essential part of maternal love becomes a task; one of the issues that those who have made it that far in student life are facing.

The Student Center’s Marble Ledge is where Dorothy first began her career. That was 16 years ago when she worked as a barista, going over her to students. Perhaps that’s where Dorothy developed such a distinct national sense of people. Her root is in the Front Office.

If you are unable to meet with us when we’re on campus, please forward your resume to the Hirebar Office. We provide professional growth opportunities for the recent graduate through formal on-job training.

Baruch, Wednesday, February 26.

The American College Counseling Association.

Don’t leave school without learning how to prove your degree. Of course of the year after you graduate. If you’re a senior. and you don’t have a job. The circumstances surrounding the financial aid officer is helping students to obtain the fastest, easiest, least expensive financial aid possible.

The American College Counseling Association. We are here to help you. If you have any questions, please feel free to ask.

If you have any questions, please feel free to ask. The circumstances surrounding the financial aid officer is helping students to obtain the fastest, easiest, least expensive financial aid possible.

The American College Counseling Association. We are here to help you. If you have any questions, please feel free to ask.

If you have any questions, please feel free to ask. The circumstances surrounding the financial aid officer is helping students to obtain the fastest, easiest, least expensive financial aid possible.

The American College Counseling Association. We are here to help you. If you have any questions, please feel free to ask.

If you have any questions, please feel free to ask. The circumstances surrounding the financial aid officer is helping students to obtain the fastest, easiest, least expensive financial aid possible.
Originally marshalled in 1926 by Carter G. Woodson, a black historian known as the “Father of Black History,” February is the month in which the world pays tribute to the many deeds and accomplishments black people have made throughout history.

Many people still do not realize that black people are responsible for the many things that we take for granted in today’s society. The traffic light, refrigerator, modern sugar refining, rubber vulcanization and the development of the third rail, now widely used as a safe means of transfer by many railways across the country, are some of the things invented and perfected by blacks.

Black activists, like Frederick Douglas and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., made impacts that helped shape and mold not only the lifestyles, freedom and civil rights of black people, but of all people.

Black people also helped shape the music and film industries by adding certain lifestyles and ideologies that have been adopted by people all across the world.

With each passing year, it is hoped that through Black History Month people will gain a better understanding of the accomplishments and great works of black people.

—Martin Starkey

New York-born artist and filmmaker, Michael J. Singletary, feels “very proud to be part of Black History Month at Baruch College.” The work exhibited shows a “progression” of all his work ranging from 1965 through 1982. Says Singletary, “My work no longer adheres to any particular movement in art... My work must reflect my inner growth and rapidly changing environment from the streets of Harlem to the cafes of Europe and, the hustle and bustle of the marketplaces of Mexico and West Africa.”

His paintings are rich in texture and possess a history of black individuals that calls to memory the poverty, struggle, talent and beauty of his people. To sum up his work, Singletary says, “For my goal as an artist is to glorify life, be it happy or sad or, just there.”

—Marie A. Peluso
Phonathon '86

February 24—February 27
March 3—March 6
March 10—March 13

Help Baruch—Make Money—Have Fun—Win Prizes

Work at least eight nights and earn $4.00/hour

To pick your nights, call Terence Rowland, 505-5891.

RUN WITH THE BEST AGAIN
Department of Speech Announces

Auditions!

for

Agatha Christie's

TEN LITTLE INDIANS

Wed. Feb. 19, 4:00 - 6:30 pm - Auditorium

Thurs. Feb. 20, 5:00 - 7:30 pm - Rm. 914, 23rd St.

(Actors and Crew)

Come Join Us For Murder and Mayhem!

---

STUDENT CENTER PROGRAM BOARD SPRING '86 MOVIE SCHEDULE

Thursdays

2/20 Witness

2/27 Mask

3/6 Cocoon

3/13 Soldiers Story

3/30 Cotton Club

4/10 Man With One Red Shoe

4/17 E.T.

5/1 White Nights

5/8 Rocky IV

Fridays

2/21 Witness*

2/28 Mask

3/7 Cocoon

3/14 Soldiers Story

3/21 Cotton Club

4/11 Man With One Red Shoe

4/18 E.T.

5/2 White Nights

5/9 Rocky IV

Mondays

2/24 Witness

3/3 Mask

3/10 Cocoon

3/17 Soldiers Story

3/24 Cotton Club

4/14 Man With One Red Shoe

4/21 E.T.

5/5 White Nights

5/12 Rocky IV

* JUST ONE SHOWING

 MOVIES WILL BE SHOWN IN ROOM 4 SOUTH

---

ALL FILMS TO BE SHOWN ON MONDAYS AND THURSDAYS WILL BE SHOWN AT 5:30pm IN THE OAK LOUNGE OF THE STUDENT CENTER.

ALL FILMS TO BE SHOWN ON FRIDAYS WILL BE SHOWN IN ROOM 114 OF THE 24TH STREET BUILDING AT 1:00pm AND 3:00pm.

ALL FILMS ARE SUBJECT TO CHANGE OF TIME, DATE, LOCATION AND/OR CANCELLATION.
Goldie Gets Sacked

By Laurie Nussroot

First she was a successful member of the cast of "Three Sisters." Then she was made a G-note actress. Now she has been sacked. "Goldie Gets Sacked" is a comedy that stars Goldie Hawn as a woman who is trying to survive in the world of entertainment. The movie is directed by Woody Allen and co-written by Allen and Marshall Brickman.

Rappaport Moves Uptown

By Elie Kran

For New Rappaport, a crashing comedy currently playing at the Northgate Theatre, it is a question of who is the mo­ment. Out of two generations. Starring Judi Landmesser and Alan Mandell, this play centers on the interactions of a group of friends, upon learning about the American dream. It is a lot of humor in the show, but it is also a poignant look at the challenges of survival. The play even makes a few subtle references to current events, such as the Cuban missile crisis, and the Vietnam War.

Monty Python + 1984 = Brazil

By Sean Yeates

How does one define a movie that is as much a visual experience as it is a critique of the American dream? One could say it is a visual experience. "Monty Python's Life of Brian" is a movie that is as much a critique of the American dream as it is a movie about the life of Jesus. The movie is directed by Terry Gilliam and stars John Cleese, Michael Palin, Graham Chapman, Flying Circus, and Terry Gilliam.

Allen's Latest Celebrates the Family

By Jeff Barron

In the past few weeks, Woody Allen's "Three Sisters" has been playing in theaters across the country. The film is a meditation on the family, and how it can be both a source of joy and a source of pain. The movie is directed by Woody Allen and stars Mia Farrow, Liam Neeson, and Woody Allen.

Monty Python + 1984 = Brazil

By Sean Yeates

How does one define a movie that is as much a visual experience as it is a critique of the American dream? One could say it is a visual experience. "Monty Python's Life of Brian" is a movie that is as much a critique of the American dream as it is a movie about the life of Jesus. The movie is directed by Terry Gilliam and stars John Cleese, Michael Palin, Graham Chapman, Flying Circus, and Terry Gilliam.

Allen's Latest Celebrates the Family

By Jeff Barron

In the past few weeks, Woody Allen's "Three Sisters" has been playing in theaters across the country. The film is a meditation on the family, and how it can be both a source of joy and a source of pain. The movie is directed by Woody Allen and stars Mia Farrow, Liam Neeson, and Woody Allen.

Monty Python + 1984 = Brazil

By Sean Yeates

How does one define a movie that is as much a visual experience as it is a critique of the American dream? One could say it is a visual experience. "Monty Python's Life of Brian" is a movie that is as much a critique of the American dream as it is a movie about the life of Jesus. The movie is directed by Terry Gilliam and stars John Cleese, Michael Palin, Graham Chapman, Flying Circus, and Terry Gilliam.

Allen's Latest Celebrates the Family

By Jeff Barron

In the past few weeks, Woody Allen's "Three Sisters" has been playing in theaters across the country. The film is a meditation on the family, and how it can be both a source of joy and a source of pain. The movie is directed by Woody Allen and stars Mia Farrow, Liam Neeson, and Woody Allen.
Music: The New... And the Not So New

The Bangles - Different Light (Columbia Records)

The Bangles are a Los Angeles based band consisting of four beautiful females. Their first album on Columbia Records, All Over the Place was a surprise hit in 1984, and a damn good record. The new album, Different Light, is also a damn good record.

Four songs off Different Light were written by outside people, three of which should be recognized. "Walk Like an Egyptian" is a dance tune, which you'll be hearing at clubs all over. It's not for me, but I'm certain you'll have fun if you like that sort of thing. "If She Knew" is another song that was written by Bob Crewe and Jim Tucker. And "If You Go Away" written by John Oates and Daryl Hall is a beautiful love song that is quite different from the rest. It's a great song, and I hope we'll be hearing it a lot on the radio.

Although the Bangles are an all girl group, their music is not for girls only. In fact, it's quite the opposite. The Bangles are a band with a lot of talent, and they deserve to be heard by everyone. Their music is not only good, but it's also very catchy. I think that most people will enjoy the Bangles, and I hope that they will continue to be successful with their music.

The album Different Light is a very good one. I highly recommend it to anyone who enjoys good music. The Bangles are a band that should be recognized for their talent, and I'm sure that they will continue to be successful in the future.

---

The Ticket
February 18, 1986
ARTS

---

Wednesday, March 5
9 am - 4:15 pm
Student Activities Center - 2nd Floor
137 E. 22nd Street

Thursday, March 6
9 am - 4:15 pm
155 E. 24th Street - Room 103

To Schedule an Appointment,
Contact: Baruch College
Student Activities Center - Room 104
725-3057.

The first 300 people who register for an appointment will receive a free Blood Donor cap and a pack of Life Savers.
By Great Monday

Their practice starts promptly at 4 p.m., every day of the week. This is unusual enough at Baruch. Monday, for example, is the day that Ralph Montanaro, the women's basketball coach, and a lack of student interest and in the fact that Baruch's practice facilities are literally blown up. The returning team is the result of Baruch's efforts to facilitate renovations and emergency repairs.

According to Alfred Pender, the chairman of the school and health education department, the repairs should be completed and the pool opened by June 1. Baruch College (Collegiate Athletic Association) rules require a school to field at least four teams of a gender to be considered for NCAA sanctioning. Baruch fields two men's basketball teams, soccer, tennis, women's volleyball, and fencing. "We have the vast majority of those teams," Montanaro, in his own words, "I have a lot of reasons why, but Baruch will no longer field a winning team."

This is due in part to a lack of student interest and in the fact that Baruch's practice facilities are literally blown up. The returning team is the result of Baruch's efforts to facilitate renovations and emergency repairs.

Although the season is coming to an end, a few new players have reported an interest in playing. The women's team will most probably continue into next year, and Montanaro is hoping for additional support of students, it may occur.

The women's basketball team started out with about 30 women on the team, and ended up with only two players. The team is now fielding only two women's basketball teams.

Baruch's teams. ,

As Montanaro said that a lack of student interest and in the fact that Baruch's practice facilities are literally blown up, the returning team is the result of Baruch's efforts to facilitate renovations and emergency repairs.

According to Alfred Pender, the chairman of the school and health education department, the repairs should be completed and the pool opened by June 1. Baruch College (Collegiate Athletic Association) rules require a school to field at least four teams of a gender to be considered for NCAA sanctioning. Baruch fields two men's basketball teams, soccer, tennis, women's volleyball, and fencing. "We have the vast majority of those teams," Montanaro, in his own words, "I have a lot of reasons why, but Baruch will no longer field a winning team."

This is due in part to a lack of student interest and in the fact that Baruch's practice facilities are literally blown up. The returning team is the result of Baruch's efforts to facilitate renovations and emergency repairs.

Although the season is coming to an end, a few new players have reported an interest in playing. The women's team will most probably continue into next year, and Montanaro is hoping for additional support of students, it may occur.
Men's Volleyball Team Wins 2 of 3

By Orest Manday

After losing their first three games in a row, Baruch's men's volleyball team rebounded to win two of their last three to bring their record up to 2-4.

On Feb. 5, the team decisively beat Queens College, at Queens, three sets to one. They lost to New York University at Baruch on Feb. 7, 3-0, and won against Fordham on Feb. 12, 3-0. Stanley "Scooby" Barbot, a Baruch player said, "Winning smells so good."

Playing a best of five match against Queens, Baruch lost the first set primarily because the team wasn't properly warmed up. Gerard Kamperveen, one of Baruch's power hitters, also arrived after the first set had been played. His arrival marked the beginning of highly motivated play for the Statesmen as they hit volleys and blocked spikes with perfect poise. During the third set however, Victor Pajares, one of the team's primary setters injured his right foot and couldn't continue playing. His loss didn't faze the Statesmen terribly, although coach Maurice Corren said that his loss is a major one. For a team setter goal is to "finish at least at 200." Baruch's second victory in three games came on Feb. 12 against Fordham. Again, Baruch played a highly spirited game and never allowed Fordham to score more than nine points in a set. Playing without Pajares and Kamperveen, the Statesmen still played up to their ability. Fordham's team, however, was unimpressive in their play. Pajares' and Kamperveen's absence was more than made up for by the outstanding play of Shawn Lyn-Cooke, Moses Grullon, and Dino Rohoman, the captain of the team.

Corren said, "You go out with a better attitude" after such a dominant victory. "The players play more relaxed and are willing to take a risk."

Having nearly reached the midpoint of the season, it seems as if the Statesmen are on the right road towards their goal, a 500 season. The consensus is that most of the losses incurred during the first half of the season should not occur again. The only "really tough" team Baruch must face again is Columbia.

FREE TICKETS FOR THE CUNY BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT ON FEB. 17 & 18. SEE RALPH ON THE 7TH FLOOR BALCONY.

Where's Bernie?

We are looking for the last Baruch business student who has not started the career search.

Bernie:

Do you know that February 18, 19, and 20 are the last days to file resumes for companies coming to the campus after March 24?

Bernie:

If you want to be successful like other Baruch grads come to the Office of Career Planning & Placement. Speak to us, Bernie!

Where's Bernie is a registered service mark of the Office of Career Planning & Placement (SBPA). Any resemblance to Bernard M. Baruch is entirely intentional.

Office of Career Planning & Placement
School of Business and Public Administration
Room 1711 / 360 Park Avenue South
212 / 725-3062

NFL '85: Retrospect

by Mark Levine

Walter Payton. He had an outstanding season as he compiled an NFL record 1,000 consecutive 100-yard games. The biggest gratification for Payton was reaching the Super Bowl after so many losing seasons with the Bears.

Perhaps one of the more exciting games of the season was when the Miami Dolphins ended the Bears' 12-0 streak as they came out winning, 38-24, when Dan Marino threw three touchdowns passes. The difference in that game was the fact that Marino used a lot of rollout passes to get away from the ferocious Chicago Bear pass rush.

Every now and then a national hero comes along and grabs the imagination of many. This year, that hero is William "The Refrigerator" Perry. This 305-pounded defensive tackle from Clemson scored a touchdown against the Green Bay Packers as a running back and caught a touchdown pass two weeks later to beat the same team. He even tried to pass the ball for a touchdown in the Super Bowl, but was sacked. Criticized by Ryan for being too heavy, Perry worked hard on his defensive skills to emerge as a decent defensive tackle.

For the first time in years, both the Jets and Giants made the playoffs. First year defensive coach Bill Parcells turned the Jets defense

Continued on Page 23, Col. 1