STUDENT GOVERNMENT APPOINTS NEW COUNCIL MEMBERS

By ANDREA F. BENT

The Day Session Student Government, under the provisions of its new constitution, was able to fill five vacancies in the student council without holding an election. The five new members, Michael Inrefibuch, Ed Mills, Tom Faherty, Linda Gioia, and Amir Abbain, were voted into council on Sept. 25 and, according to Pauline Jennett, the chairperson, "it all went very well."

Michael Robinson, DSSG vice president called the old constitution "redundant and verbose." It was amended and the new version was approved in last May's Student Government referendum. According to Robinson, the old constitution did not make adequate provisions for vacancies left in the student council by members resigning for personal and other reasons during the semester.

"We had ten vacancies last semester and it cost too much to replace them," said Robinson. "Each time someone resigns, it cost $6,000 - $9,000 to launch a major election to fill the vacancy."

"We did a lot of renovations over the summer, and at the beginning of the semester," he stated. "We had to do some rewiring, checking speakers, taking out, and adding a few. The speakers are on the ceiling, and we had to do our own electrical work."

"They had problems with the transmission," he said. "If they're up (on the air) four weeks into the semester that would be a record for them, to my recollection."

To The Editor:

This category has been竹子 for information and participation (Election Day, Memorial Day). Throughout U.S. history, June 27 has traditionally been a day of honor and recognition. Today, it is more important than ever to acknowledge the contributions of those who have given us the benefits of the Constitution.

It is my opinion that the Constitution should be read aloud in the classroom, and should be taught as an important part of our history. It should also be taught as an important part of our history.

Sincerely,

The Freshman Orientation Program has become a political football resulting in Baruch students being kicked around...

Most of the issues of the program can be traced back to the students who are involved, who are some of the most concerned faculty members, administrators, and staff. The program was developed by a group of students who were able to bring their ideas to fruition. However, the program has been criticized by some for its lack of transparency. Still, the program has been successful in promoting a positive learning environment.

The Freshman Orientation Program has also played a role in the creation of the Freshman Orientation Program. The program was implemented in the fall of 2012. Since then, the program has been expanded to include more students.

There is no question that the Freshman Orientation Program has been successful in promoting a positive learning environment. The program has been expanded to include more students.

BUDGET REQUEST BRIEFING

Representatives of the student media were invited to attend a special briefing on the City University of New York's 1986-87 Budget Request, hosted by Chancellor Joseph S. Murphy at the Board of Trustees Center, Room 702, 350 Fifth Ave., on Monday, Oct. 26 at 4:00 p.m. The briefing will take place at Room 1747, 360 P.A.S. in Brooklyn College, and Room 1703, Room 1011, 360 Park Ave. South in Manhattan.

The purpose of the briefing is to provide an overview of the major projects of the Budget Request and to answer questions about why these projects are included.

For further information, call Dr. John McGarraghy, director of evening activities.

BARUCH COLLOQUIUM SCHEDULE

The Baruch colloquiums for philosophy, politics, and the social sciences have three evening sessions scheduled for the remainder of the semester.

On Oct. 30, Larry Thurfur, Coordinator of Philosophy at the College, and Maxine McCaul, Coordinator of Philosophy at the College, will present a seminar on the topic of "The Nature of Reality." The discussion will focus on the question of whether reality is objective or subjective.

On Oct. 20, Lester Thomas, Associate Professor of Biology at the College, will present a seminar on the topic of "The Nature of Life." The discussion will focus on the question of whether life is a product of chance or necessity.

On Oct. 15, Professor Tony Tinker at the College will present a seminar on the topic of "The Nature of Knowledge." The discussion will focus on the question of whether knowledge is a product of experience or theory.

The sessions will be held at 4:00 p.m. in Room 1011, 360 Park Ave. South. The sessions are open to the public and are free of charge.

CUNY DISTINGUISHED PROFESSORS

Five outstanding scholars in the fields of poetry, music, psychology and romance language were recently named Distinguished Professors by the City University of New York Board of Trustees at its Sept. 20 meeting.

They are poet Allen Ginsberg, distinguished professor of English at Brooklyn College; composer David Del Tredici, distinguished professor of music at Brooklyn College; actress Mary Louise Wilson, distinguished professor of drama at Queens College of the City University; and Barry Bonds, distinguished professor of music at City College.

The purpose of the program introduced by the Board of Trustees is to recognize the outstanding scholarship of the country's best scholars.

BARUCH ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

The AVANT Achievement Awards have been established to honor and assist junior and senior academic students. These awards are being made available to promote the advancement of students in the field of accounting.

The AVANT Achievement Award is the first and most widely used educational computer software system targeted specifically toward the candidate reviewer. The software has been developed to assist in the training of accounting students throughout the country.

GRADUATE TUITION WAIVER

Graduate students, if you wish to be considered for a graduate tuition waiver, please submit the following materials to the Financial Aid Office before November 1:

- Completed CUNY Student Aid Form (CSAF), please come to the Financial Aid Office for assistance.
- Application for transfer student workshops.

NEW CUNY BA/BS PROGRAM

Two student workshops will take place on Thursday, Oct. 30, to answer questions about the CUNY BA/BS Program being offered.

The CUNY BA/BS Program is an individual approach to higher education that allows students the flexibility to personalize their degree. The program is designed to provide a comfortable environment for students who are looking for jobs during their studies.

For further information, call Professor Tony Tinker at (312) 235-3314.

At the workshops, students will have the opportunity to ask questions about the CUNY BA/BS Program and to learn more about the benefits of the program. The workshops will be held at 3:00 p.m. in Room 1747, 360 P.A.S. in Brooklyn College.

NEW EVENING DIRECTOR Sought: Assistant Recently Hired

By ORBA DEY

A search is currently underway to fill the position of assistant director of evening activities.

The position is being advertised because of the sudden departure of the former basic and advanced courses in major universities, including the CPA exam.

According to the chancellor, the director of evening activities position requires an applicant who is willing to work full-time 7:30-3:30 p.m.

"The students are valuable to work with and I enjoy helping them with their activities," he said.

The search committee is looking for a candidate who is interested in applying for the job and who is able to provide a comfortable environment for students.

"I'm interested in that position and the opportunity for applying for the job paper-jury work. It was a career change," the candidate said.

The Five Day Baruch Career Fitness Program or
Getting Ready for On-Campus Recruitment

Kick-Off, Monday, October 20

Day One: Practice your smile.
A pleasant face gets interviews off to a good start. Show enthusiasm; speak slowly, clearly. Squeeze tennis balls to firm up your handshake.

Day Two: Assemble your assets.
Identify your academic strengths. Examine your job experiences, big and small, and analyze how they make you unique and desirable to employers.

Day Three: Get the names of the recruiters.
Research the companies whose interviewers you will meet. Know their products or services, P & L and balance sheet numbers, and operations. Look in books, ask teachers, check the Career Resource Library (Room 1710, 46 East 26).

Day Four: Dress for success.
Press your blue or gray suit; wear a matching muted tie or scarf; shine your shoes; have your hair done. Wear a watch.
Wear dark socks.

Day Five: Relax.

Remember: you have the resources of the Career Planning and Placement staff behind you. Call us. We want to help.
