COLEMAN RESIGNS AFTER BEING DENIED TENURE

By CAITLIN MOLLISON

J. Robert Coleman, former associate professor of accounting, quit after failing to be awarded tenure, according to Frances Connelly, dean of the School of Business and Public Administration.

According to Martin Bens, chairman of the accounting department, Coleman was turned down by the School of Business Personnel and Budget Committee with a vote of two to one in favor and five opposed to his reelection to tenure. The vote, the second of a number of which vote on awarding tenure to professors, is comprised of the business department heads at Baruch, stated Bens.

Coleman said that he would have to leave by Sept. 1, 1987, but that he "was not happy so [he] left now, too." He added, "I told my colleagues not to call me for academic work anymore." According to Connelly, three requirements must be met in order to obtain tenure: teaching excellence, scholarly excellence (publication), and service to the college. Connelly stated that Coleman did not meet at least one of these requirements, although he refused to specify which one.

Coleman said, "Martin Bens did not indicate the reason to me, but I later found out that it's because I don't write enough. Well, I've written a great deal." According to Coleman, he has done a tax update for the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants for five consecutive years and has written a column for ten years which appears on the front page of The New York Law Journal. He said he took part in two New York University Taxation Institute seminars which publish their proceedings, wrote one article each in the Nov. 1986 Taxation For Accountants and the Sept. 1986 Journal of Taxation and co-authored with professor Samuel A. Dryden of the Baruch accounting department, a book (Continued on Page 6, Col. 1).

26th Street Elevator Violation Corrections Not Yet Documented By Department of Buildings

By CHRISTOPHER W. WARD

Elevator violations in 66 E. 26th St. have been corrected by the owners of the property, Cushman-Wakefield, Inc., according to directors at the office of Campus Planning and Facilities. The violations were noted during city inspections and included an elevator controller and main machine in need of repair, oil leaks, excessive lubrication on the hoist ropes, thrust bearing in need of adjustment, a complete cleaning of the motor room and an elevator commutator which had been listed as need of repair since September, 1985.

The assistant director of Campus Planning and Facilities, A. T. Zatorski, said, "After the violations were brought to our attention by The Tickler, we contacted the owners of the building, Cushman-Wakefield, Inc., about the problems. They have told us that the repairs have now been completed, and as far as we know, at this point all violations have been corrected."

Daniel Kaufman, also an assistant director of Campus Planning and Facilities, added, "Cushman-Wakefield flooded the jobs that needed to be done with repairman and the work was completed when they replaced electric eyes (for the elevators) two weeks ago [first week of January]."

Records at the Department of Buildings Elevator Division do not reflect the recent repair work. John Ryan, an administrator at the department, stated, "We have not received documentation which would cause us to cross those violations off of our records. That doesn't mean that the repairs haven't been done. It is quite possible we haven't got around to processing them yet."

NEW EVENING DIRECTOR HIRED

By JORGE MARTINEZ

The position of Evening and Graduate Students Advisory Director vacant since last May when Charles Lyles was relieved of his duties, has been filled with the appointment of Carol Robbins. As director, Carol Robbins, a native of Illinois, is described by Ronald Aaron, associate dean of students, as being "creative and energetic." "I think she's the right person for the job," Robbins appointed Dec. 9, 1986, has begun work on a new agenda for the upcoming semester. "In the spring we will offer a new aerobic exercise program called 'Exercise at Five,' and for the first time, basic skills testing in the evening will be available," Robbins said. "The ultimate goal is to reach out to as many students as possible."

Other activities being developed by Robbins include: a radio show targeted specifically at evening students that should, according to Robbins, reach the airwaves before the middle of February; and, later this semester, a nighttime career workshops.

"I want my office to be viewed as a place to discuss personal problems or exchange ideas. Students are encouraged to come in and talk," said Robbins who mentioned that her office hours are Monday through Friday in Room 527, 26th St., 11 a.m.-2 p.m., and in between the hours of 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. The position is in between the hours of 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Office of the Director of Evening and Graduate Students Activities, which was taken over by Assistant Director Mark Spiegel.

Asked why there was such a long delay in hiring a new director, Ronald Aaron, deputy dean of students said, "We wanted to find the best person suitable for the job not just the first warm body to apply." He added that "I believe Carol will work out fine."
Phonathon '87

February 23–February 26
March 2–March 5
March 9–March 12

Help Baruch—Make Money—Have Fun—Win Prizes

Work at least eight nights and earn $4.00/hour

To pick your nights, call Terence Rowland, 505-5891.

B AR UCH MEANS OPPORTUNITIES

FRANKEL RE-ELECTED
AS PHI BETA KAPPA PRESIDENT

By RAYMOND HOBBERG

Stanley A. Frankel, adjunct professor of management at Baruch, has recently been appointed to an emeritus full-time position at the college, according to a release from the college. "It's like the Oscar for lawyers or arts; it's like the Nobel Prize in science," he said. "It's not a very important office, but it is a very important honor." Frankel is the creator of the National Student Association of Touro College of Phi Beta Kappa, an American society devoted to the recognition and encouragement of scholarship in the liberal arts and sciences. Touro Americans have expanded to a second level of national recognition, and their contributions to the United States have increased to more than $1.5 million.

Frankel's position in Phi Beta Kappa is voluntary, and he is not involved in the organization, like most of his colleagues, despite his status as a "president." For example, Phi Beta Kappa, he has been active as a public speaker for many years, but he is not a part of the organization operating under the name of the Phi Beta Kappa. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Associates, which is responsible for promoting and enhancing the prestige of the Phi Beta Kappa. He has had short stories about his involvement in the organization published in the book, The Thirty-Seventh Atlantic Division at W. W. N. S. M. It has amassed a vital source of information for historians.

Frankel, adjunct professor of management at the Baruch College of New York, Frankel is the creator of the National Student Association of Touro College of Phi Beta Kappa. Its chapters are dedicated to the recognition and encouragement of scholarship in the liberal arts and sciences. Touro Americans have expanded to a second level of national recognition, and their contributions to the United States have increased to more than $1.5 million.

Frankel's position in Phi Beta Kappa is voluntary, and he is not involved in the organization, like most of his colleagues, despite his status as a "president." For example, Phi Beta Kappa, he has been active as a public speaker for many years, but he is not a part of the organization operating under the name of the Phi Beta Kappa. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Associates, which is responsible for promoting and enhancing the prestige of the Phi Beta Kappa. He has had short stories about his involvement in the organization published in the book, The Thirty-Seventh Atlantic Division at W. W. N. S. M. It has amassed a vital source of information for historians.

Frankel, adjunct professor of management at the Baruch College of New York, Frankel is the creator of the National Student Association of Touro College of Phi Beta Kappa. Its chapters are dedicated to the recognition and encouragement of scholarship in the liberal arts and sciences. Touro Americans have expanded to a second level of national recognition, and their contributions to the United States have increased to more than $1.5 million.

Frankel's position in Phi Beta Kappa is voluntary, and he is not involved in the organization, like most of his colleagues, despite his status as a "president." For example, Phi Beta Kappa, he has been active as a public speaker for many years, but he is not a part of the organization operating under the name of the Phi Beta Kappa. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Associates, which is responsible for promoting and enhancing the prestige of the Phi Beta Kappa. He has had short stories about his involvement in the organization published in the book, The Thirty-Seventh Atlantic Division at W. W. N. S. M. It has amassed a vital source of information for historians.

Frankel, adjunct professor of management at the Baruch College of New York, Frankel is the creator of the National Student Association of Touro College of Phi Beta Kappa. Its chapters are dedicated to the recognition and encouragement of scholarship in the liberal arts and sciences. Touro Americans have expanded to a second level of national recognition, and their contributions to the United States have increased to more than $1.5 million.

Frankel's position in Phi Beta Kappa is voluntary, and he is not involved in the organization, like most of his colleagues, despite his status as a "president." For example, Phi Beta Kappa, he has been active as a public speaker for many years, but he is not a part of the organization operating under the name of the Phi Beta Kappa. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Associates, which is responsible for promoting and enhancing the prestige of the Phi Beta Kappa. He has had short stories about his involvement in the organization published in the book, The Thirty-Seventh Atlantic Division at W. W. N. S. M. It has amassed a vital source of information for historians.
BUDGET PROPOSALS

The City University of New York (CUNY) administration is sending its blueprint for fiscal year 1988-89 to the city council, students, faculty, and the community. The $2.8 billion budget includes a 10 percent tuition increase for all students, regardless of their financial need.

Joe Biryukov, the chancellor of CUNY, said that the budget is necessary to maintain the quality of education and to keep up with the rising cost of living.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO CUNY

The budget includes contributions from the state, federal government, and private sources. The state contributes $1.5 billion, the federal government contributes $278 million, and private contributions amount to $150 million.

STUDENT Assistance

CUNY provides financial aid to students through scholarships, grants, and loans. The budget includes $538 million for student assistance, an increase of 8 percent over the previous year.

Academic Programs

The budget includes $1.2 billion for academic programs, an increase of 3 percent. This includes funding for research, libraries, and instructional materials.

Infrastructure

The budget includes $200 million for infrastructure, including facilities, technology, and maintenance.

CAMPUS CAPERS

BURN E.T. BURN!

Students Against Intelligent Nonviolent Competition (SAINT) requested $10,000 to give all five Maryland state government grants. The money was to develop a particle simulation program.

PIT-STOP 101

Students examine the car racing instructions. Initiates a proposed legislation to make it easier for students to make an appointment for the service, which requires employees 400 people.

PIT-STOP 102

A student who became a model manager in his 50s. He was dressed in a suit and tie, and the model agency plans to open an office in the city.

COLLEGE SLavery

The National Student Network, representing students and recent graduates from 1,200 colleges, said that the model manager is a good example of what students can achieve.

ACADEMIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

The committee is mostly made up of teachers from the business school. Members of the committee are mostly concerned with the pay of the teachers. The committee is working closely with the administration to make sure that the pay is fair.

FALSE ALARM

A false alarm sounded at the 15th floor of 111 E. 19th St. at the offices of Mary Gill, a management director of the company. The alarm was caused by a smoke detector, and was promptly dealt with by the campus police.

ACADEMIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

The committee is mostly made up of teachers from the business school. Members of the committee are mostly concerned with the pay of the teachers. The committee is working closely with the administration to make sure that the pay is fair.

FAKEACREER NETWORK

CRUZON: While the teachers are mostly concerned with the pay of the teachers, the students are mostly concerned with the quality of education. The students want to see more professors in the classroom, and they want to see more research being done.

TICKER TAKES

(Continued from Front Page)

PIT STOP 101

Students examine the car racing instructions. Initiates a proposed legislation to make it easier for students to make an appointment for the service, which requires employees 400 people.

PIT-STOP 102

A student who became a model manager in his 50s. He was dressed in a suit and tie, and the model agency plans to open an office in the city.

COLLEGE SLavery

The National Student Network, representing students and recent graduates from 1,200 colleges, said that the model manager is a good example of what students can achieve.

ACADEMIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

The committee is mostly made up of teachers from the business school. Members of the committee are mostly concerned with the pay of the teachers. The committee is working closely with the administration to make sure that the pay is fair.

FALSE ALARM

A false alarm sounded at the 15th floor of 111 E. 19th St. at the offices of Mary Gill, a management director of the company. The alarm was caused by a smoke detector, and was promptly dealt with by the campus police.

ACADEMIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

The committee is mostly made up of teachers from the business school. Members of the committee are mostly concerned with the pay of the teachers. The committee is working closely with the administration to make sure that the pay is fair.

FAKEACREER NETWORK

CRUZON: While the teachers are mostly concerned with the pay of the teachers, the students are mostly concerned with the quality of education. The students want to see more professors in the classroom, and they want to see more research being done.
The Average Baruch Freshman

By NEERAJ VODRA

The 1986 Annual Freshman Survey was released by the Office of the Dean of Students last month. The survey is conducted each fall "to give a knowledge of the attitudes of our students" and "to help us to know our students better," said Shehbal Teilmann, student research coordinator. The survey results of the survey include: The ability to obtain a better job as well as to continue to learn remain the most important reasons for attending college (67% and 68% respectively). Although making money was rated as the third most important reason among the reasons surveyed, it increased to 17% in 1986.

This year 45% of freshmen anticipate concern with financial problems and 26% with grades and academic problems. The same survey conducted in 1977 reflected the lowest percentage of students who anticipated financial problems-a complete reversal of the 1977 figure when 26% indicated financial problems and 68% academic problems. Also, this year 46% of freshmen anticipate concern with financial problems and 26% with grades and academic problems. The same survey conducted in 1977 reflected the lowest percentage of students who anticipated financial problems-a complete reversal of the 1977 figure when 26% indicated financial problems and 68% academic problems.

The 1986 data reflect the increasing importance of Baruch's low tuition. Baruch's academic reputation, which has been gaining in importance since 1977 (68070), is at an all-time high in 1986. This year, a record high percentage of students plan to finance for their college education by outside employment (73070). The largest increase can be observed for oriental students whose enrollment has almost doubled from 1983 to 1986. As a result, English as the primary language spoken in the homes of students was at an all-time high in 1986 (82070). Although the English language is the most important, only 1719, 360 Park Ave. So.

The 1986 Annual Freshman Survey was released by the Office of the Dean of Students last month. The survey is conducted each fall "to give a knowledge of the attitudes of our students" and "to help us to know our students better," said Shehbal Teilmann, student research coordinator. The ability to obtain a better job as well as to continue to learn remain the most important reasons for attending college (67% and 68% respectively). Although making money was rated as the third most important reason among the reasons surveyed, it increased to 17% in 1986.

This year 45% of freshmen anticipate concern with financial problems and 26% with grades and academic problems. The same survey conducted in 1977 reflected the lowest percentage of students who anticipated financial problems-a complete reversal of the 1977 figure when 26% indicated financial problems and 68% academic problems. Also, this year 46% of freshmen anticipate concern with financial problems and 26% with grades and academic problems. The same survey conducted in 1977 reflected the lowest percentage of students who anticipated financial problems-a complete reversal of the 1977 figure when 26% indicated financial problems and 68% academic problems.

The 1986 data reflect the increasing importance of Baruch's low tuition. Baruch's academic reputation, which has been gaining in importance since 1977 (68070), is at an all-time high in 1986. This year, a record high percentage of students plan to finance for their college education by outside employment (73070). The largest increase can be observed for oriental students whose enrollment has almost doubled from 1983 to 1986. As a result, English as the primary language spoken in the homes of students was at an all-time high in 1986 (82070). Although the English language is the most important, only 1719, 360 Park Ave. So.
Philosophy Professor Challenges Students To Examine Values

Fear, dependency and conventionality as reasons for belief in religion; disbelief due to arrogance.

By BILL MORAN

W ould you like to introduce a philosophy professor whose area of expertise is, this semester, the philosophy of religion? Well, if you (and who says you are not) are interested in finding someone who can be a friend, confidant and confessor to you,杂, perhaps you should interview Professor Paul McDermott of Baruch College. If you are interested in how a philosophy professor can be an intellectual home base for you,杂, perhaps you should interview Professor Paul McDermott of Baruch College. If you are interested in finding out what an intellectual home base is,杂, perhaps you should interview Paul McDermott of Baruch College.

McDermott arrived in Baruch College in 1961 as an assistant in the philosophy department. He became an associate in 1971, a professor in 1980, and in 1992 McDermott was awarded the presidential Excellence in Teaching Award. McDermott said that this award is not the most important achievement for which he has been given a reward for this award. As a student, he was interested in the philosophy of religion. He did not respect his teaching as a professional. He taught at Baruch College, and he taught at Baruch College because of his scholarly knowledge concerning the subject.

"Students are asking for a verification not possible in the realm of values and probably not attainable in other disciplines as well."

I t's late. I am alone in my apartment. I am trying to describe to someone who is not there how he looked. It is not easy. He looked so different, so colorful, so much like a real person. So many people in my life who have looked like that, and now it is only a memory. A memory of a man who is not there anymore. He was a friend. He was a friend to me. I imagi

---

The Origin of Valentine's Day

Early Festivals Celebrated in Honor of Hunters and Pagans God

By SANTON M. TORRES

It was that February again. I was about to put away my Christmas decorations and was already expecting Valentine's Day. The calendar read February 14 and it was time to celebrate. The day was dedicated to St. Valentine, the patron saint of lovers. The question is, where did Valentine come from, and why was he chosen as the patron saint of lovers? It is a question that has intrigued many people throughout history.

St. Valentine was a hunter, a member of a religious order, and a defender of the poor. As a result of his preaching and teaching, he was imprisoned and later executed by Emperor Gallienus. It is said that while in prison, Valentine fell in love with the daughter of a Roman soldier and married her. The Roman authorities found out about his relationship, and he was put to death.

Today, we celebrate Valentine's Day in honor of St. Valentine. The day is celebrated in many countries around the world, with people exchanging cards, gifts, and expressing their love to one another. However, the origins of Valentine's Day are still somewhat unclear, and scholars continue to debate the exact origins of this holiday.

---

First Class Care

Lincoln Women's Services

Family Planning  Abortion  Gynecology

787-8777

1995 Broadway (606 St.)
At Lincoln Center

Master your mind and you can master your world. One of the most effective ways to develop your mind is through education. A master's degree can open up new opportunities in your career and provide you with the skills and knowledge you need to succeed. Whether you are interested in business, science, or the arts, a master's degree can help you achieve your goals. Visit us online or call us today to learn more about our degree programs and how we can help you reach your full potential.
Since 1975, Baruch students have come to Helpline when they've needed information, help with problems, or just someone to talk to. Helpline is a peer counseling and referral service run by students for students. Its all volunteer staff undergoes training and regular supervision with the counselors of the Department of Student Personnel Services.

Helpline offers the following services to all members of the Baruch community:

Information
- Everything you wanted to know about Baruch, but were afraid to ask. Also, help with locating the right people and offices in the school for special assistance.

Peer Counseling
- Helpline members are there to listen to you. Supportive peer counseling is available for any personal or academic problem.

Housing Assistance
- We maintain files of vacant apartments and rooms. If you're looking for housing, stop by and see if we have anything that would be right for you.

Resources
- Pamphlets and brochures on health issues, study skills, topics of sexuality and much more.

Referrals
- Where to go in the community for support services such as child care centers, legal advice or self-help groups.

Drop-In
- Stop by anytime to chat, meet us or just say hello.

In addition, Helpline members lend assistance at registration time, Manning the Information Booth and helping students resolve registration difficulties or locate the appropriate office to go to. Helpliners also help out at Freshman and Transfer Student Convocation and Commencement and serve as Freshmen Orientation Leaders. Many members are also involved in other activities such as Student Government and leadership of clubs and organizations. You can also find us handing out pamphlets and balloons, as well as answering questions at Club Fair and Street Fair.

OPEN HOUSE

Thursday, February 19
12:35—2:40 In Room 520
of The 46 E 26th Street Building

Helpline is always looking for new members to maintain our high quality of service to the Baruch Community. If you possess some of the following qualities Helpline may be the right organization for you.

- You enjoy and get satisfaction out of helping students with their questions or problems.
- You're interested in working together with other Helpliners in a team effort to achieve a common goal.
- You like working with and socializing with students of diverse ethnic, religious and social backgrounds.
- You're interested in learning about yourself and growing as a person.
- You want to increase confidence in yourself as well as confidence in assuming a role as a student leader.

To help you find out more about Helpline we are sponsoring an Open House on Thursday, February 19, from 12:35 to 2:40, Club Hours, in Room 520 of the 46 E 26th Street building. We will be offering refreshments and invite you to come and talk to Helpline members. Whether you're interested in joining and we hope you are, or you just want to ask a question, we encourage you to drop in. It could be one of the most important things you'll ever do in college.
Auditorium Filled To Capacity

By NANNETTE GORDON

A Charlotte Roopalots of students, staff members and others filled the main hall of Baruch's Auditorium on the morning of Friday, December 11, 1986 to hear former Prime Minister of Jamaica on the Third World.

At 10 a.m., a group of dedicated students, faculty members and staff members who make every effort to come and students at the educational opportunities available in the college. The topic was "Political and Economic Alternatives for the Third World," and it was presented by Dean Students and Activities, John Richard. The lecture was titled "Political and Economic Alternatives for the Third World: a Man for Revolution and Socialism." Under B. J. Roberts, Jamaica, the third largest island of the Caribbean, became a major voice in the new colonial movement and was contemporaneous in the forefront of the call for a New International Economic Order.

"How do we do this?" said the speaker. "First of all, we have to develop the sense of the importance of the Third World." The audience was enthralled as they listened to the lecture. The Third World was described as the "class of the world, but it is the world of the future." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority." The audience was impressed with the depth and breadth of the lecture. The Third World was described as a "man in the making." The speaker said, "We have a population that for centuries has been divided into two groups. One is the rich and the other is the poor. The poor are the majority. The rich are the minority."
MANLEY

By NANNETTE GORDON

Long before she became a Yale Law School graduate, she was a dedicated activist and a formidable force in the struggle against racial inequality.

“[Women] are not only potentially capable of being politicians, but they are also needed in the political process.”

But in the end, Manley realized that it was not enough to simply advocate for change. She needed to be a part of that change. She needed to be a part of the political process, to help shape it and make it better.

“This is the reason why I did not do political work. I have been involved in political work for a long time, but I have never been a politician. I have been involved in many different organizations, but I have never been a politician. I have always been more of a community organizer, a mediator.”

Manley was a trailblazer, a pioneer for women in politics, and a timeless example of how one person can make a difference. She was a woman who refused to be defined by her gender and instead chose to define herself by her actions.

“[Women] cannot be politicians unless we have a business of our own. We cannot be politicians unless we have a business of our own.”

Manley’s work as a community organizer and political activist continues to inspire generations of women today.

“I believe that [women] have a role to play in politics, and I believe that we should be involved in politics.”

Manley’s legacy lives on, and her words continue to inspire us all.”

FOXY LADY

The Student Activities Office of Le Moyne College offers a variety of opportunities for students to engage in extracurricular activities on campus.

The Student Activities Office is committed to providing a diverse range of programs and events that promote leadership, personal growth, and community involvement. We encourage students to explore their interests, develop new skills, and build meaningful relationships with peers and faculty.

“We believe that student activities play an important role in the overall educational experience. They provide opportunities for students to gain new perspectives, develop critical thinking skills, and learn more about the world around them.”

But we need a commitment. At Le Moyne, students are encouraged to take ownership of their educational experience and to find the programs and events that best align with their interests.

This program is open to and sponsored by the Student Activities Office. For more information, call 752-3290.

Don't give up! Your New Year's resolution can still be realizable!
Celebrate Black History Month

ALBUM

Various Artists - Jumping Jack Flash (Polygram Records)

Jumping Jack Flash is a film that will be remembered for a long time. You had the opportunity to hear the Beastie Boys, who describe the Sohn from the outer. The movie is fantastic, completely illegible, and terrifying.

The only songs on the album that I don’t like were “You Can’t Always Love” by the Spanish and “Jumping Jack Flash” by the Rolling Stones. It was good to add a bit of reasoning. The first two songs have a very special place in my heart, but the third, “Jumping Jack Flash,” was a real hit. It was not a hit by the music it listened to and the clothes it wore. Some of those artists had more success and were better supported.

In the summer of 1976, at the London Coliseum, the Sex Pistols, the Ramones, and a few other punk bands had launched a brand new culture. This punk culture was characterized by its antiauthoritarianism, its energetic and rebellious spirit.

The punk bands that emerged in this context were not just a musical phenomenon; they were a cultural movement. They were a new way of thinking about society, expressing a sense of revolt against the Establishment.

These punk bands were more than just musical groups; they were a statement of resistance against the values of the society in which they lived. They were a way of rebelling against the conventional norms and expectations of their time.

The punk bands that emerged in this context were not just a musical phenomenon; they were a cultural movement. They were a new way of thinking about society, expressing a sense of revolt against the values of the society in which they lived. They were a way of rebelling against the conventional norms and expectations of their time.

The punk bands that emerged in this context were not just a musical phenomenon; they were a cultural movement. They were a new way of thinking about society, expressing a sense of revolt against the values of the society in which they lived. They were a way of rebelling against the conventional norms and expectations of their time.

The punk bands that emerged in this context were not just a musical phenomenon; they were a cultural movement. They were a new way of thinking about society, expressing a sense of revolt against the values of the society in which they lived. They were a way of rebelling against the conventional norms and expectations of their time.

The punk bands that emerged in this context were not just a musical phenomenon; they were a cultural movement. They were a new way of thinking about society, expressing a sense of revolt against the values of the society in which they lived. They were a way of rebelling against the conventional norms and expectations of their time.

The punk bands that emerged in this context were not just a musical phenomenon; they were a cultural movement. They were a new way of thinking about society, expressing a sense of revolt against the values of the society in which they lived. They were a way of rebelling against the conventional norms and expectations of their time.

The punk bands that emerged in this context were not just a musical phenomenon; they were a cultural movement. They were a new way of thinking about society, expressing a sense of revolt against the values of the society in which they lived. They were a way of rebelling against the conventional norms and expectations of their time.

The punk bands that emerged in this context were not just a musical phenomenon; they were a cultural movement. They were a new way of thinking about society, expressing a sense of revolt against the values of the society in which they lived. They were a way of rebelling against the conventional norms and expectations of their time.

The punk bands that emerged in this context were not just a musical phenomenon; they were a cultural movement. They were a new way of thinking about society, expressing a sense of revolt against the values of the society in which they lived. They were a way of rebelling against the conventional norms and expectations of their time.
Steven Bike was old and while holding a prisoner of conscience and Stoke's敬意 cover version of Billy Joel's "You've Made Me So Happy." Just three months ago, the rock star for a cause collection, including the single "Mama," and "Dance!" and "Dance!

In the case of "The King of the Hill," the songwriting is some of the best known. McClure, who wrote and directed, made a film about that his fans won't appear on the screen again. John Lydon, born in March 1986 A.D. The song was written by "Tonight," the year 1986 A.D.? The film is well made, and the acting is excellent, compelling. It's a good mothers. However, as a good songwriter, and a decent singer, is human after all. The thing about this year's worst movies. Fortunately, for Sting, his new album, "Ten Summoner's Tales," sounds like his best work yet.

Two things are needed to make a film: A good script and a good director. Many directors seem to have the first, but lack the latter. Joe Dante, for example, may be the best director in Hollywood and hopefully the movies will be better. For example, the film "Deliverance," which was directed by John Boorman, is one of the best films of the year.

The fact that humanity has evolved into a society that is filled with violence and crime is a sad reality. However, it is important to remember that humanity is capable of great things. The character in this film is a symbol of the human spirit and a reminder that we are capable of great things.

The story of the Grenada invasion was one of the most important events of the year. The film "Thesch" captures the tension and excitement of the moment.

The film "JFK" is a powerful reminder of the importance of doing what is right, even if it means sacrificing your own life. The film is a call to action for all of us to stand up for what we believe in.

The film "The Bridges of Madison County" is a beautiful love story that reminds us of the power of love and how it can transcend all barriers.

The film "The Sixth Sense" is a suspenseful thriller that keeps you on the edge of your seat.

The film "The Shawshank Redemption" is an inspiring story of hope and redemption that reminds us of the power of the human spirit.

The film "The Silence of the Lambs" is a thrilling and cleverly written film that keeps you guessing until the very end.

The film "The Piano" is a hauntingly beautiful film that explores the power of music and its ability to connect people.

The film "The Crying Game" is a bold and daring film that challenged the conventional ideas of gender and sexuality.

The film "The Fisher King" is a touching story of a man who is forced to confront his own demons and learn to live life to the fullest.

The film "The Titanoem" is a filmed adaptation of the novel by Umberto Eco, which is a classic of world literature.

The film "The Usual Suspects" is a cleverly written and directed film that keeps you guessing until the very end.

The film "The Shawshank Redemption" is a powerful and moving film that reminds us of the importance of hope and the power of the human spirit.

The film "The Godfather Part II" is a cinematic masterpiece that explores the nature of power and its consequences.

The film "The Godfather Part III" is a impressive film that brings together the stories of the first two films and creates a satisfying conclusion to the series.

The film "The Silence of the Lambs" is a thrilling and cleverly written film that keeps you guessing until the very end.

The film "The Sixth Sense" is a suspenseful thriller that keeps you on the edge of your seat.

The film "The Piano" is a hauntingly beautiful film that explores the power of music and its ability to connect people.

The film "The Crying Game" is a bold and daring film that challenged the conventional ideas of gender and sexuality.

The film "The Fisher King" is a touching story of a man who is forced to confront his own demons and learn to live life to the fullest.

The film "The Titanoem" is a filmed adaptation of the novel by Umberto Eco, which is a classic of world literature.

The film "The Usual Suspects" is a cleverly written and directed film that keeps you guessing until the very end.

The film "The Shawshank Redemption" is a powerful and moving film that reminds us of the importance of hope and the power of the human spirit.

The film "The Godfather Part II" is a cinematic masterpiece that explores the nature of power and its consequences.

The film "The Godfather Part III" is a impressive film that brings together the stories of the first two films and creates a satisfying conclusion to the series.

The film "The Silence of the Lambs" is a thrilling and cleverly written film that keeps you guessing until the very end.

The film "The Sixth Sense" is a suspenseful thriller that keeps you on the edge of your seat.

The film "The Piano" is a hauntingly beautiful film that explores the power of music and its ability to connect people.
ARTS

Stark: Shooting From The Lip

By MARTIN STARKY

Four years ago, it was another one of those "Year in Reviews." I've been here before, I'm sure. If you remember in the October 26th ed.-

12 and the December 28th one of The Ticket. Starky was on the go, talking about "the most popular movie of the year."

So you ask, what's the difference between shooting the lip and writing about what's "hot" in show business? Well, I don't know. I'm not afraid of being cuffed, and neither is The Ticket. Starky is, which is why he's still here. After all, he's got nothing to lose. If he makes a mistake, The Ticket will have to admit it, too. So you ask, what's the difference between shooting the lip and writing about what's "hot" in show business? Well, I don't know. I'm not afraid of being cuffed, and neither is The Ticket. Starky is, which is why he's still here. After all, he's got nothing to lose. If he makes a mistake, The Ticket will have to admit it, too.

If you're still wondering what's hot in show business, I'll tell you. It's "Platoon." Oliver Stone's Vietnam-era war film, starring Charlie Sheen, Tom Berenger, Nick Nolte and Willem Dafoe, has been a huge hit at the box office. The film, which cost $25 million to make, has grossed over $100 million in its opening weekend.

So what's the big deal about "Platoon"? Well, it's a movie about the Vietnam War, and that's always been a hot topic. The film tells the story of a group of young soldiers who are sent to Vietnam to fight in the war. The soldiers are led by a charismatic leader, played by Tom Berenger, who is a Vietnam veteran himself. The film is set in a small, isolated camp in Vietnam, and it shows the soldiers struggling to survive in a hostile environment.

But "Platoon" is more than just a war film. It's also a film about the human experience. The film shows the soldiers dealing with their own personal battles, such as the effects of the war on their families back home. The film also explores the idea of the "Vietnam Syndrome," which was a term used to describe the fear of Vietnam veterans that they would be stigmatized for their service.

So what's the big deal about "Platoon"? Well, it's a movie about the Vietnam War, and that's always been a hot topic. The film tells the story of a group of young soldiers who are sent to Vietnam to fight in the war. The soldiers are led by a charismatic leader, played by Tom Berenger, who is a Vietnam veteran himself. The film is set in a small, isolated camp in Vietnam, and it shows the soldiers struggling to survive in a hostile environment.

But "Platoon" is more than just a war film. It's also a film about the human experience. The film shows the soldiers dealing with their own personal battles, such as the effects of the war on their families back home. The film also explores the idea of the "Vietnam Syndrome," which was a term used to describe the fear of Vietnam veterans that they would be stigmatized for their service.

If you're still wondering what's hot in show business, I'll tell you. It's "Platoon." Oliver Stone's Vietnam-era war film, starring Charlie Sheen, Tom Berenger, Nick Nolte and Willem Dafoe, has been a huge hit at the box office. The film, which cost $25 million to make, has grossed over $100 million in its opening weekend.
TICKER OPEN HOUSE
Feb. 5, 12:30 p.m.

Immerse yourself in:

— Free caviar and Dom Perignon.
— Free cocaine, marijuana and all your other favorite drugs.
— Sex with any and all of our staff members (among them, Tom Cruise and Kelly McGillis).

And if that isn’t enough, enjoy Live entertainment by:

Bruce Springsteen
and the E Street Band
and
Whitney Houston
along with special appearances by the World Champion NEW YORK METS
and
NEW YORK GIANTS

(We’re lying. But, you can come join us in Room 301F, Student Center for free pizza, soda and a chance to challenge yourself by working for The Ticker.)