Board Of Directors Approves Activity Fee

By LINDA ZUECH

The Board of Directors passed the Day Session student budget at its October 22nd Board meeting. Presently the club budget amounts to ninety thousand dollars, three thousand of which went directly into the hands of Baruch's ninety-three clubs.

The current club budget is less than last year's budget by approximately 36.4 percent, but with the student activity fee increase, the present budget "will increase by 125 percent," according to John Paul Patelli, the chairman of the Finance Committee.

DSSG Forms Speaker's Committee

By NANNETTE F. GORDON

A Speakers Committee has been formed by the Day Session Student Government, which will collectively discuss possible candidates to speak at Baruch, according to John Paul Patelli, Chairman of the Finance Committee.

Students' Tuition Paid Out Of PELL

By CAITLIN MOLLISON

Students who receive Tuition Assistance Program grants as well as Pell grants, paid the $625 Baruch tuition out of their Pell grants this semester. Normally, TAP would cover the tuition cost, but because application problems these students may have to wait several more months to receive the remainder of their Pell money.

"They took $625 out of my Pell for tuition," said Eve Acosta, a lower junior and a Search for Education, Elevation and Knowledge student. They gave me a check for $230 instead of $855," Acosta discovered this when she received her Pell check on Monday, November 9. James Murphy, director of financial aid, said that students who had money taken from their Pell to cover tuition cost either made an error on their applications or did not file on time. "Less than one percent of the students filed on time," he said.

Errors, he stated, included a missing social security number, a misprinting of type income tax form used by their parents, or the income listed in the wrong place. According to Murphy, if an error was found on an application, the student would have received three separate letters notifying them of the mistake: one from the Financial Aid Office, one from the State and one from the University Application Processing Center.

Acosta stated that she did fill her TAP application in the middle of April before the April 30 deadline. "I always bring my Pell and my TAP early," she said. Additionally, she said that she was not aware of any error on her application and she never received any letters advising her of a mistake. If the application wasn't in order, she said, "then why didn't somebody contact me. I didn't understand that over the course of April and now why someone couldn't have contacted me."

Debbie Cartron, an upper senior and a SEEK student, who also said she filed her application on time, went to the Financial Aid Office "at last five times" over the summer because they (TAP) didn't send me anything. I hadn't received anything and that's why I went."

According to Cartron, she was told that she had not filled out her mother's income on her application.

(Continued on Page 7, Col.3)
Letters

NOT EXACTLY CAIRO

To the Editor:

Those of us unfortunate enough to keep abreast of world events may well be bothered by our ignorance of the latest "hot" events in the Third World. "Strange tides," absence of democrats in the streets, and the like, are things we wonder why we need to add. Scarcely do we know of the events in Egypt. "Egypt," a name great in the world of the past, a nation that for a time was an empire, is now attempting to rid itself of the handicap of its own people, the masses. It is the only country in the region which ignores forms which force students who have classes on the lower floors to climb the stairs in lines of 50 or 100 at a time. The security of students and the public would be much improved if the stairs could be taken out of the lines. More students would be able to avoid the hassle of elevator traffic, and this is certainly what the only wise revenue source among these facts. Fortunately, this is not the only problem with which the students are burdened without having enough resources to meet them. The government calls them food stamps; I call them "paper money." While I had once for the chance to raise my checked level, I discovered that I was also saving for the carnal wasteful dreams of the rich in this free country.

S. Koh, St. C.I.T.

Department of National Security

Welfare Warfare

"Two all-fleet parties, special taxis, letters, cheese, pencils, pins on a sharpened pencil," the song was now sung on the TV set, competing and providing you the news between "Big Man Attack." That the U.S. government plus the oil tankers in the middle of the Gulf were to be used to force Iraq to stop attacking shipping targets that Iraq attacks? Is it really necessary to tell lies? Are you scared of the truth? The biggest joke of the world is the"true end?" It is the real reason for the U.S. actions in the Gulf. The U.S. has been slow to respond to the call of the U.N., the superpower. America and Russia are only allies in their own?>

Welfare Warfare

"God" to whom they owe their existence.

Attention Advertisers

Deadline for ads in issue No. 7 is December 1. The publication date is December 8.

Quotation of the Fortnight

"If it appears that they got a lot of money, it's not because they just simply take it, but because they are and they have been one of the most active clubs."

-John Richards, president of the Day Session Student Government and former finance director of the Foreign Trade激素 exchange warning the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The student government gave The Foreign Trade magazine one of the three highest allocations in their budget for this year.

The opinions on the Op-Ed pages are those of the individual writers and do not necessarily represent the views of The Ticker editorial board.

The Ticker accepts only typewritten and signed opinion pieces for publication.
CAMPUS CAPERS

...AND THE MIRROR CRACK'D

The Mirror Crack'd for Thou Art Green. Well, count your blessings. The Mirror Crack'd has been reprinted, in its entirety, by Stephen Greenblatt. I assume this is the book that actually comprised the entire series of the Mirror Crack'd for Thou Art Green. However, this is not the case. The book that actually comprised the entire series of Mirror Crack'd for Thou Art Green was the work of Stephen Greenblatt. If this is the case, then the book you are referring to is not the work of Stephen Greenblatt.

SPONS Illustrated

SPONS Illustrated is a publication that is not affiliated with SPONS. SPONS is an organization that provides services to students at Baruch College.

CONTR•VERS•AL

Political lunches at 230 Villa Julo College (M.1, room 105) regularly land their target of the Baruch Senate. Although the political lunches are not official Senate events, they provide a forum for discussion of political issues and are attended by members of the Baruch Senate. The political lunches are held on a regular basis and are attended by a diverse group of students.

BLOOM COUNTY

Bloom County is a comic strip that is not affiliated with SPONS. SPONS is an organization that provides services to students at Baruch College.

NO LANDING

EXCEPT SUNDAYS

A few students regularly hang out on the roof of the Academic Building at Baruch. The roof is a popular spot for students to study, socialize, and enjoy the view of the city. However, the Academic Building is a public facility and the use of the roof is not permitted. Students who violate this policy may be subject to disciplinary action.

LETTERS (Continued from Page 3)

Helpline Supporters

To The Editor:

I am writing this letter in response to the article "Helpline Voted the Piss Off" that appeared in the October 13 issue of The Ticker. Many students have expressed concern about the lack of support for the Helpline, and I wanted to express my support for this important service.

The Helpline is a valuable resource for students who need assistance with a variety of issues. It is staffed by trained professionals who are able to provide confidential and non-judgmental support. The Helpline is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and is free to all students.

I urge all students to take advantage of the services offered by the Helpline. If you or someone you know is in need of support, please call the Helpline at 725-3000. The Helpline is here to help you.

Sincerely,

[Name]

EXPAND YOUR HORIZONS BY BECOMING A PART OF THE TICKER

To become a part of The Ticker, you must fill out an application and attend a training session. Applications are available on the Ticker website or at the Ticker office. The training session is held each semester and covers the basics of journalism and news writing.

UPR EXCHANGE PROGRAM

The UPR Exchange Program is an opportunity for students to study at the University of Puerto Rico. The program is open to students from all CUNY campuses. To qualify, you must have a minimum GPA of 3.0 and be enrolled in a full-time course load. The program offers a variety of courses, including courses in business, economics, and social sciences.

TEACHING LECTURE

Board of Education representatives will host a lecture on October 26, 1988 at 7:30 PM at the Baruch College Campus Center. The lecture is open to all students and will focus on the education system in New York City. The lecture will be followed by a Q&A session.
The Club & Organization Network continues to meet! The Network is an informal discussion group which explores your potential as a student leader. An emphasis is on leadership skills, communication and problem solving.

Join us November 10 and thereafter Every Tuesday at 3 p.m., Room 302 in the Student Center

For Information, contact: Debra Bick-Duggan 725-3057 or Pierre Tribaud 725-3347
NEWS

STUDENTS BARRIED FROM USING STAIRS

By Salvatore F. Bellomo

Last week Baruch students found that they were not permitted to use the stairs leading to the main floors 4 & 5.

According to Maria Gill, director of security, the need of an increased number of stairs and an alleviation of security concerns was the reason for the ban.

He feels that if left unchecked, "it would lead to socialist conditions when the doors are left open." He further added that "people could go in and out of the building, change clothes, and possibly cause a fire in the building. There are no guards on the stairway.

Gill said he feels that students contribute to the problems by using the elevator and the stairs to "get in and out of the building from the back of the building. It's a hassle for us to keep track of the student coming here and going away.

As an attempt to make use of the situation, security placed Vasco and Mr. Gill said that the gate was locked. Asked if he knew, he said, "I'm too busy now, you'll have to figure this problem out for yourself."

Gill added that the stairs were being barred for safety reasons, but "because of a stage device on the stairs. Students can get caught in it.

TICKER TAKES

(Continued From Page 3)

8:00-10:00 a.m. - The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, The Daily News and The Morning News. The requirements for membership are that students must be able to read and write in English, and be interested in the publication of the paper.

TICKER TAKES

(Continued From Page Front)

By Linda Zechman

Faculty Advisor and Program Coordinator of American Cosmetics, Inc, Della Davis Lewis, said, "We have 100, but that 94% that voted for the feature is the first new sign of student interest for the magazine.

Financial Aid

Cleaned up the day the students were voting."

I called Alabama in August," said Dr. Jones, "and the student said, "I don't want to worry about it. They shouldn't have the money to worry about taking my money at that age.

So Carney, "I'm open," said Dr. Jones. "I'll probably graduate before I get it for the first eight months, and maybe before it's a little. It's still a little bit of a risk.

Aston said, "Now I want to take their world that I'm going to get what I want instead of it being frustrating."

Anyone who wants to know, they don't get a phone.,” said C. A. Murphy.

INTERVIEWERS VIDEO

The tables will be turned on television host Mike Wallace when he interviews Baruch students on Front Street for the first time in eight years.

The video program, by which Wallace will be shown in a live interview at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, October 25, on NBC's Banker's Town Community, will feature two Baruch students and Mr. Wallace.

"We were only able to arrange a video interview with Mr. Wallace," said Alfredo P. Torres, president of the Visually Impaired Student's Group.

Although the club was formed primarily with the visually impaired student in mind, Torres says that the program will also be of interest to people who are not physically impaired. The program will be shown on NBC's Banker's Town Community.

"We want to make sure that the visually impaired are not left out," said Torres.

Signs Torres, "The club is a great support for the visually impaired and a way to raise awareness.

To which she added, "It makes me so angry when people ask me if I took exams."

Says Torres, "I have a very positive feeling about the school.

When Pfeiffer was asked why she joined the club, the student answered, "I joined two years ago."

For support (in terms of) knowledge and understanding, "we work with them in the classrooms," said Tori, "I have a very positive feeling about the school.

True, college is very difficult. The elevators can be a problem, "she said.

"High school is better," she added, "My child doesn't like college."

Disposing of the idea that they were not permitted to use the stairs, Torres feels that "if the student is not happy, they don't want to go there."

"Try to re-educate people at the college." said Torres.

"They don't think of the students they are only trying the protection of the students," said Torres.

"The protection of the students," said Torres.

"The protection of the students," said Torres.

"The protection of the students," said Torres.

"The protection of the students," said Torres.

"The protection of the students," said Torres.

"The protection of the students," said Torres.

"The protection of the students," said Torres.

"The protection of the students," said Torres.
FEATURES

Will greater, local coverage be the answer?

RADIO MARKET'S CHALLENGE

By JOHN GREGG

Blood Money was a hit for Nazia and Hansa. But it had been on the air only a short while before it was replaced by... well, let's just say that the replacement was a real winner. The new show was an instant hit, with listeners flocking to their sets to catch every word. And the slang philosophy was this: if you want to be a star, you have to be ready to do anything. This led to a few problems, but overall, it was a success.

WINS gets their "acccu-weather" from

KENNEDY AIRPORT

"The most important element to a news organization," said Kiernan, "is to be accurate." This is a sentiment that WINS shares wholeheartedly. They strive to provide their listeners with the most accurate information available.

Edgar Kemmer, V.P. and General Manager of WINS

The Business of Lunch

Lunch can be a hectic time for anyone. With so many distractions and interruptions, it's easy to lose focus on the task at hand. But for WINS, lunch is a time to connect with listeners and stay connected with their favorite DJs.

The staff at WINS is always ready to cheer you up during your lunchtime break. Whether you're at work, school, or home, WINS is there to make your day a little brighter. So the next time you're feeling down, turn on WINS and let us make your lunchtime a little more enjoyable.

BOOKSELLERS

Full Time/ Part Time

DUEOLES LICK SHOPKINS has excellent, up-to-date availability for Bookellers and Bookbinders. Comprehensive benefits package available for Bookellers.

A working knowledge of books or previous sales experience preferred. Work the schedule that fits your needs.

Bookeller

For immediate consideration

personnel department

Dealoles Lick Shopkins

473 FBA

6th Avenue

New York, NY 10002

A fine opportunity is open

...there is no public in Atlanta; no such tax increase as a tax increase of nine cents called it, homophobia.

Lute said. This kind of language can be harmful to the LGBTQ community and creates a sense of fear and discrimination. It is important to use language that respects and includes everyone.

PHILIP DARRAGH

The fourth kind of doublespeak is implied language. Implied language is a term that is designed to make the message longer than necessary, the message more obscure than it needs to be, or the message more difficult to understand than it needs to be.

Doublespeak is language which pretends to be a word or phrase that is commonly used. It is also a form of doublespeak in which a word is used to mean the opposite of its usual meaning. In this case, the word "implied" is used to mean "implied"

Doublespeak is language which pretends to be a word or phrase that is commonly used. It is also a form of doublespeak in which a word is used to mean the opposite of its usual meaning. In this case, the word "implied" is used to mean "implied"
The modern architectural style is a reaction to the "baroque" era, which dominated art and architecture. "Baroque" style, which was characterized by elaborate ornamentation and richness, was followed by the "classical" style, which emphasized simplicity and rationality. However, the "classical" style soon gave way to the "modern" style, which was characterized by a focus on individuality and function.

One of the first American architects to adopt the "modern" style was Frank Lloyd Wright. His design for the Robie House in Chicago, completed in 1909, was a radical departure from the traditional styles of the past. Wright's design emphasized the use of concrete and glass, and it was the first building in the United States to use these materials on a large scale.

The "modern" style was popularized in Europe, and this style tried to solve the "modern" society's problems. Buildings lost interest and so did people. One of the first American architects to adopt the "modern" style was Frank Lloyd Wright. His design for the Robie House in Chicago, completed in 1909, was a radical departure from the traditional styles of the past. Wright's design emphasized the use of concrete and glass, and it was the first building in the United States to use these materials on a large scale.

The "modern" style was popularized in Europe, and this style tried to solve the "modern" society's problems. Buildings lost interest and so did people. One of the first American architects to adopt the "modern" style was Frank Lloyd Wright. His design for the Robie House in Chicago, completed in 1909, was a radical departure from the traditional styles of the past. Wright's design emphasized the use of concrete and glass, and it was the first building in the United States to use these materials on a large scale.

The "modern" style was popularized in Europe, and this style tried to solve the "modern" society's problems. Buildings lost interest and so did people. One of the first American architects to adopt the "modern" style was Frank Lloyd Wright. His design for the Robie House in Chicago, completed in 1909, was a radical departure from the traditional styles of the past. Wright's design emphasized the use of concrete and glass, and it was the first building in the United States to use these materials on a large scale.

The "modern" style was popularized in Europe, and this style tried to solve the "modern" society's problems. Buildings lost interest and so did people. One of the first American architects to adopt the "modern" style was Frank Lloyd Wright. His design for the Robie House in Chicago, completed in 1909, was a radical departure from the traditional styles of the past. Wright's design emphasized the use of concrete and glass, and it was the first building in the United States to use these materials on a large scale.

The "modern" style was popularized in Europe, and this style tried to solve the "modern" society's problems. Buildings lost interest and so did people. One of the first American architects to adopt the "modern" style was Frank Lloyd Wright. His design for the Robie House in Chicago, completed in 1909, was a radical departure from the traditional styles of the past. Wright's design emphasized the use of concrete and glass, and it was the first building in the United States to use these materials on a large scale.
Spending Crowds
the Budget.
Trend not defensive of U.S. industry

By PHILIP DARRAGH

Devaluing or taking down the dollar seems to be the Reagan administration’s solution to America’s trade deficit. The dollar has been weakened since the dollar crisis of 1971-73, the decline of America’s competitiveness, and the economic recession in the early 1980s. Devaluation is inevitable, and the dollar is not going to be revalued, said Tsurumi.

The decline of the dollar’s value started with the trade deficits. There are acrimonious relations between all currencies. The decline of the dollar’s value is not the same for all currencies. The dollar’s value is declining against the Japanese yen, the German mark, and the French franc. The dollar is not going to be revalued, said Tsurumi.

In order to decrease imports, America’s trade deficit can be reduced through the strengthening of American goods being made domestically. These goods must be high quality, and competitive in some currencies. The United States has some products which could be substituted for imports, but American prices must be reduced without reducing the standard of living. Tsurumi said.

If the dollar continues to decline, it is a bane to the American economy, Tsurumi said. Tsurumi said that the dollar is declining against the Japanese yen, the German mark, and the French franc. The dollar is not going to be revalued, said Tsurumi.

What has happened in the other tradable manufacturing sectors is that the dollar has been accepted by many countries, especially since 1914. However, this trend has been on the decline for the past five years.

The U.S. has done away with its defense industries, and many of the defense companies are located in Japan. America will fall behind in the high-tech industries, Tsurumi said.

The follow-on effect works in this way: devaluation. The dollar has been used as a substitute for the trade deficit by many countries. The dollar is not going to be revalued, said Tsurumi.

There has been a fundamental change in the dollar’s effect on America’s trade deficit. This change has been brought about by the follow-on effect, Tsurumi said.

The follow-on effect works in this way: devaluation. The dollar has been used as a substitute for the trade deficit by many countries. The dollar is not going to be revalued, said Tsurumi.

The trend has been toward the dollar’s value being accepted by many countries, especially since 1914. However, this trend has been on the decline for the past five years.

The U.S. has done away with its defense industries, and many of the defense companies are located in Japan. America will fall behind in the high-tech industries, Tsurumi said.

The follow-on effect works in this way: devaluation. The dollar has been used as a substitute for the trade deficit by many countries. The dollar is not going to be revalued, said Tsurumi.

The trend has been toward the dollar’s value being accepted by many countries, especially since 1914. However, this trend has been on the decline for the past five years.

The U.S. has done away with its defense industries, and many of the defense companies are located in Japan. America will fall behind in the high-tech industries, Tsurumi said.

Hilfef

FILIPINO REVIEW

November 19, 1987

Diplomatic Missions

The Philippines is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.

The Philippines

is a

strength to the

relations with the

Philippine- American

Relations. "What

Philippines has

relations can

in Washington.

The diplomatic

missions with

the Philippines.
FEATURES

CAREER DAY A SUCCESS

By JENNA RUEGSEGER

On October 25, the Career Services Office plans to feature a Career Day on campus. Take Peter Vasko, an assistant professor in the Career Services Office, for example. He said, “The students here are aggressive, I don’t see working at a bank, I see them becoming a career.”

It was a Wednesday evening. Richard Cook, a student from the Career Services Office, walked into the Career Day. He said, “It was a great day.”

The Career Services Office requires all students to take at least one interview. The services that the Career Services Office offers are free of charge.

“I’d like to make a statement,” said the student.

The student was Allie. She was interested in a career in the medical field.

The Career Services Office is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Career Services Office can be reached at 725-3249.

DOUBLESPEAK

Continued from Page 11

Some of the staff from the Career Services Office said that the Career Day was a huge success.

“I think it was a great day,” said the student.

The student was Allie. She was interested in a career in the medical field.

The Career Services Office is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Career Services Office can be reached at 725-3249.

Plaza for the Dorm: A trip to Career Day is a treat.

They’re all in the same boat:

The students here are aggressive, I don’t see working at a bank, I see them becoming a career.

3. The Ticker

November 17, 1987

Mike’s Feedback

Who Resigned

New Releases

The New Squeeze

Mike’s Feedback

Who Resigned

New Releases

The New Squeeze

---

Knish Nash

Great Knishes & Franks

145 Fourth Ave. (BET. 13 & 14) 2-92-4910

Mike’s Feedback

Who Resigned

New Releases

The New Squeeze

---

Arts

Pre-eminent

"Burt" GAT Buz Zionotz Bit Burt The Afro-Beat Energy" Big Trouble - Debut

---

1. The Ticker

November 17, 1987

Final Smith’s Release

It seems old but every time I pick up a British publication The Smiths or Morrissey’s name is among the stories. It is a story of anger, of violence, of rage. In the set together and has an album in the works. The Smiths will long live Stephen. The band will be very different from Smith’s manual but will still appeal to their fans. The new album will be a rock album, and will be released in February.

---

Who Resigned

New Releases

The New Squeeze

---

Plaza for the Dorm: A trip to Career Day is a treat.

They’re all in the same boat:

The students here are aggressive, I don’t see working at a bank, I see them becoming a career.
My name is Bruce Springsteen. I'm the guy who wrote the song "Born in the U.S.A." and the music. I'm a rock and roll artist, a songwriter, and an independent musician. I've always believed in the power of music to bring people together and to tell stories about the human condition. I've been recording and performing for over 40 years, and I've had the privilege of working with some of the greatest musicians and collaborators in the business. I've had the opportunity to tour the world, to play in front of millions of people, and to connect with audiences in a way that few other artists have. I've also had the chance to write and produce records that have become classics in the history of music. I've been fortunate to have had a successful career, but I've never forgotten where I came from or the people who have supported me along the way. I'm grateful for the opportunity to continue to make music and to share it with the world. Thank you for listening.
Yuppie High

By GLEN I. SPANGLER

There are really good movies, and really bad movies. There are those that fall somewhere in the middle. And then there are some that leave you with the impression that someone who was up late on a Saturday night spent a total of forty-five minutes coming up with the characters, the plot, and the dialogue. A movie like this is usually a good one. It's easy to watch, but it's not always easy to like. And that's the case with Yuppie High.

The film is about a group of young adults who are trying to make it in New York City. They're all very similar in that they're all very good-looking, and they're all very good at making money. But they're also very different in that they're all very different in the way they think and behave. The movie is a mix of comedy and drama, and it's not always clear which is which.

The main characters are a group of friends who are all trying to make it in the art world. They're all very good at making art, but they're also very bad at selling it. They're all very good at making friends, but they're also very bad at keeping them. They're all very good at looking good, but they're also very bad at feeling good.

The movie is very well-made, and it's very well-acted. But it's also very slow, and it's very long. It's a movie that you're not going to forget when you leave the theater, but it's also a movie that you're not going to enjoy when you leave the theater.

It's a movie that you're going to watch because it's a movie, not because you like it. And that's the case with Yuppie High.
dianna's Comeback

Brianne - Children of Madness

It wasn't too long ago that Paul Dianno was a nobody. Out of the lights, out of the spotlight, just a guy toiling away, hoping for his big break. But now, just a few short years later, he's the man, the star, the one everyone's talking about. It's been a long road to get there, but he's finally made it and he's not looking back.

But the road wasn't easy. There were plenty of obstacles along the way. But Dianno never gave up. He kept on working, kept on practicing, and finally, one day, his hard work paid off. And now, he's here, the man everyone's talking about.

And it's not just the fans who are talking about him. The critics are too. They're saying that Dianno is a force to be reckoned with. He's got the voice, he's got the talent, and he's got the drive. And all of it is adding up to one thing: success.

So if you're a fan of Dianno, or if you're just a fan of good music, then you need to check out his new album. It's going to be something special.

And if you're not a fan of music, well, maybe you should start thinking about it. Because with Dianno out there making his mark, it's only a matter of time before you're all starting to talk about him.
Can Gretzky and Crew Recap the Cup?

By PETER DESMOND HOPKINS

The leaves are changing color. There is a nip in the air. Canadians mean 2 things are on the way: midterms and the 1987-88 National Hockey League season. I cannot tell you anything about your midterms, but I'll try my best to give you a preview of what the fastest sport in the universe will look like this season.

PRINCE OF WALES CONFERENCE

Lester Patrick Division

1) Philadelphia Flyers (46-26-8, first place, Conference champions last season). This is a talented team that works hard. They can beat you any way you want. They can win a pure, solid clean game, a goon match, or a skating contest. A solid defense is led by Mark Howe and Tim Kerr will score all the big goals when they need them after he returns to the lineup from injury.

2) New York Islanders (35-33-12, third place, division finalists). The Isles are close. The addition of very promising rookies gives this club a wonderful blend. Pat LaFontaine has taken over as the sniper, as Mike Bossy will miss the entire season with a back ailment. Expect LaFontaine to respond with about 50 goals. Denis Potvin is looking to make his last season one to remember. Bryan Trottier is ageless.

3) Washington Capitals (32-35-10, second place, lost in Round 1). The Caps are consistently inconsistent. They often look like they have little motivation. New goalie Clint Malarchuk will help. New goon Denis Plante will add some muscle. The defense of Bengt Gustafsson will provide goals. The bottom line is still that coach Bryan Murray's team does not work hard enough.

4) Pittsburgh Penguins (30-38-12, fifth place, missed playoffs). If Mario Lemieux stays healthy, Pens into the playoffs. Every player on the team is a little bit better when he's on the ice. Front office made a mistake in letting coach Bob Berry go. Players needlessly have to get used to new coach Pierre Creamer.

5) New Jersey Devils (29-45-6, last place, missed playoffs). Almost. The addition of Brendan Shanahan and the new tough-guy image, featuring Jim Korn, make the Devils better than last year, but not quite good enough.

6) New York Rangers (34-38-8, fourth place, lost in Round 1). GM Phil Esposito has put together a group of players with lots of talent, but are they a team? The players don't really know how long they'll be with the team or where they're going next. A winning team must feel like they are a part of something common. There is no such feeling here. Playing musical coaches doesn't help either. (Michel Bergeron at press time)

Jack Adams Division

1) Hartford Whalers (43-30-7, first place, lost in Round 1) GM Emile Francis has built a powerhouse. This club is just about ready to make a serious run at the Flyers and Oilers. Led by snipers Captain Ron Francis, Sylvain Turgeon, and Kevin Dineen, there will be no shortage of goals. With Mike Liut in goal and a solid defense in front of him, the Whalers are a powerhouse.

2) Montreal Canadiens (41-29-10, second place, Conference finalists). Ies Habs will get excellent goaltending every night from Patrick Roy and Brian Hayward. Coach Jean Perron gets the most out of his players. Veterans Larry Robinson (his final year?), Bob Gainey, and Bobby Smith provide as much savvy as you could want. Big years are needed from Claude Lemieux and Mats Naslund to challenge the Whalers.

3) Boston Bruins (39-34-7, third place, lost in Round 1). The B's will be solid, but not spectacular. The club must get some young blood into the lineup, which includes a few players past their primes. Goaltending is abundant. Ray Bourque leads a hardnosed defense. The Bruins are not deep and must stay away from injuries to be successful.

4) Buffalo Sabres (28-44-6, last place, missed playoffs). The Sabres expect big things from top draft pick Pierre Turgeon. Coach Ted Sator, who inherited a team in complete disarray is patiently picking up the pieces. Some of the younger players should develop this year with the help of veterans.

5) Quebec Nordiques (31-39-10, fourth place, division finalists). The Nordiques are in for a tough year. Chaos looms over Quebec City with immense personnel changes, including trading away coach Michel Bergeron to the Rangers. Bergeron will be missed as a motivator. New Coach Andre Savard has no NHL coaching experience.

CLARENCE S. CAMPBELL CONFERENCE

James Norris Division

1) Detroit Red Wings (34-36-10, second place, Conference finalists). The Wings are the best team in this parochial division. Featuring stars, young and old, Steve Yzerman, Shawn Burr, Gerard Gallant, Brent Ashton, and Petr Klima, this team is slowly developing and may win 40 games this year.

2) St. Louis Blues (32-33-15, first place, lost in Round 1). The Blues will be better this year. Doug Gilmour is still the offensive leader, but they picked up scorer Tony McKechnie and Perry Turnbull over the summer. If Brian Sutter is back the Blues may challenge the Wings.

3) Toronto Maple Leafs (32-42-6, fourth place, division finalists). The Leafs can expect Wendel Clark and Steve Thomas to blossom. Defense is a little suspect. Goaltending is solid with Ken Wregget and Allan Beter.

4) Minnesota North Stars (30-40-10, 1st place, missed playoffs). The Stars are the most talented group of unmotivated players you can expect to find anywhere. This team should finish first, but it won't. Dino Ciccarelli is the gunner. Maybe Herb Brooks will have some luck getting a decent effort out of these players.

5) Chicago Blackhawks (29-37-14, third place, lost in Round 1). The Hawks picked the complete Bob Mason from the Caps and are led by sniper Denis Savard. They are the model Norris Division team. Savard and Mason will receive little support.

Conn Smythe Division

1) Edmonton Oilers (50-24-6, first place, Stanley Cup Champions). The Oilers will roll to the top once again. This team led by Wayne Gretzky and an assortment of offensive powerhouse can only stop themselves. They must beware of getting too emotionally involved with the Flames in the playoffs.

2) Winnipeg Jets (40-32-8, third place, division finalists). The Jets are a solid hockey team that could win 50 games. They feature Dale Hawerchuk, Paul MacLean, Thomas Steen, and Doug Smail. The tough defense includes Mario Marois, 'Jim Kyle, and Randy Carlyle. Pokey Redick and Daniel Berthaume are a pair of second-year goon goals who looked outstanding as rookies.

3) Calgary Flames (46-31-2, second place, lost in Round 1). The Flames need a lot to be successful. Joey Mullen must score goals. Paul Reinhart must stay healthy. Lanny McDonald must return to form. Reggie Lemelin and Mike Vernon must provide excellent goaltending. New Coach Terry Clap will never match the emotional intensity of the departed Bob Johnson. The Flames are a big question mark.

4) Los Angeles Kings (31-41-8, fourth place, lost in Round 1). The Kings will be good enough to give the Flames a scare. The offense will have Bobby Carpenter, Luc Robitaille, and Bernie Nichols. Young players are expected to improve. Defense is led by Tom Laidlaw.

5) Vancouver Canucks (29-43-8, last place, missed playoffs). This club is horrible. Tony Tanti and Petr Skrko continue to produce on a poor team. Goalie Richard Brodeur is 35 and there is no legitimate replacement in sight.

STANLEY CUP FINAL PREDICTION

The Oilers will beat the Whalers in 6 games.

Well, those are my predictions. Sorry, Ranger fans! Enjoy the season!