Segall Defends Hiring Policies

By EDWARD ASANTE and TOM BABY

The Day Session Student Government sponsored an open forum with President Joel Segall and the Vice-President Steven Wertheimer, to discuss issues pertinent to the Baruch community on March 8, during club hours.

Sean Mason, the president of the DSSG, who also acted as the moderator, began the forum with a speech addressing some of the topics of student concern that he thought have not been satisfactorily addressed by Segall and Wertheimer. Mason cited the lack of minority faculty members in the college and the faulty insigim in the case of the Black and Latino Alumni Association and City College.

He also cited the use of student fees for the coverage of security costs at the Student Activities Center as one of the issues that need to be addressed.

Mason also spoke about the controversial memo written by Wertheimer on the formation of a Black and Latino Alumni association in 1986. The reason that Wertheimer is here today is to offer some kind of explanation as to what, in his opinion, inspired him to make such comments against the BLAA.

He went on to say that Segall had defended Wertheimer by saying that "one should not be judged by his views."

In his explanation of the lack of Black and Latino faculty members at the college, Segall said that Baruch is not the only college that is facing a shortage of minority faculty. He said that the vacancies in the college "are taken typically by professors with the credentials to secure senior appointments by tenure."

The problem, "he said that "we don't have enough Black and Latino faculty. If you have Black and Latino faculty, then you have Black and Latino administrators."

Segall said that "the main issue is that we require a doctoral degree for the professorial ranks."

He went on to say that "we did not make up these rules, this comes from the bylaws of the trustees of the City University." He said that the college must maintain its accreditation by following the regulations of the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business. "We don't have a lot of flexibility, their condition is that a certain percentage of course hours must be taught by faculty with Ph.D.s at least."

The problem, Segall said could be tackled by "modifying search and screening procedures for recruiting."

Students, he said could be allowed to teach on condition that they enter a doctoral program but since "the monetary awards simply not there" this has been quite difficult. He also said that the college has also "begun a program of identifying promising Black and Latino students and the dean of students office, discussing with them the opportunities of an academic career."

DSSG Poster Machine Breaks Down

By BYRON SMITH

Last semester, the Day Session Student Government purchased a poster machine that it is used in the production of student advertisements. The machine broke down so that students could not use it any longer. The student organization was so useful to students that it was decided to buy a new one and the cost would be covered by the student organization.

Shame: Two dollars for the large one and one dollar for the small one.

What would the students do? They would use the old posters and copy the new ones.

How long will it take to replace the machine? It will take three days but the students would have to be at the office to do so.

There are three ways to use the machine. Students have direct access to the machine after hours. Clubs and organizations have access to the machine after hours with the permission of the student government, office or writing. They also mentioned that the machine is already open to students.

Baruch students have the opportunity to use the machine. Baruch students are working on improving the situation.

Lord of the Sky

By William F. Luis

There's a myth of a pie-in-the-sky environment that children have grown up in believing any real problems can be solved for them. President Segall's committee on inter-group relations has formed its own ad hoc committee to study and investigate charges and then report on them. The students of Baruch don't need another dog-and-pony show but instead need an active student council's ad hoc committee on race relations. FILIPINO-AMERICAN CLUB
REACHES OUT TO ELDERLY

By CONCEPCION BERNAL

On Friday, February 23, several members of the Filipino-American Club, including Pearl Mayo, Christina Briones, Cecilia Sidson, Concepcion Bernal, Joey Mayo, and myself visited the DOROT, which is an organization geared towards comforting the elderly in the community. Our mission was to increase our social awareness through community service. In doing so, we diverted attention from ourselves and focused on others around us.

It is evident that a major problem the elderly in our community face is loneliness. Thus, DOROT has organized a program wherein volunteer social workers would devote some of their loneliness even for just a few hours.

Among DOROT's activities are group discussions of different subjects that members may be interested in; a meal program wherein food is delivered to a qualified disabled elder; and for those who cannot travel alone, a travel companion is provided to bring joy into three people's lives. We also assisted in making a move in a proposal which called for the representatives of student, faculty, alumni, and community bodies to participate in the new University structure. The Restructuring of Governance at City University, approved by the Board of Higher Education, made a move in a proposal which called for the representation of student, faculty, alumni, and community bodies to participate in the new University structure.

To the seven of us who went, this "field trip" was a success because not only were we able to divert our attention from our problems but were given a chance to meet some of them. More importantly, we gained personal satisfaction in being able to bring joy into three people's lives. It was a learning experience and though it was only first visit, it was very worthwhile.

The Reporter be kept the editorship, but for a different reason. I believe in my heart that it may give you some responsibility and maybe just maybe make you a sort of leader. CHAOΣ

CHAOΣ is a Greek word for disorder. However, lately they found out that many times that disorder fit in a certain situation. This phenomenon, which can be found in order, is called Chaos. In a few English new-sentence, what looks as a disorder in nature is not in reality it is not! They quantified this phenomenon and came up with a new word which Chaos Theory or Chaos Mechanics. The conclusions and revolutions are so vast, in contrast to the old economic, political, economical and social worlds.

At the very beginning of the 20th century, there were only a few who believed in Chaos Theory or Chaos Mechanics. Nowadays, the scientific community has recognized the Chaos Theory as a vital tool for understanding complex systems.

Some of the concepts of Chaos Theory are that:
1. Small changes can lead to drastically different outcomes.
2. Predicting the future of a chaotic system is extremely difficult.
3. Chaos is not random; it is deterministic.
4. Chaos can be found in many natural phenomena, such as weather patterns and the stock market.

The Chaos Theory has been used to explain various phenomena in fields such as mathematics, physics, engineering, meteorology, and biology. It has revolutionized our understanding of the world.

There were even a couple of conferences in which Chaos Theory was discussed. The few scientists who knew about it did it my way! A ball-shaped pit named the Mandelbrot Set was opened.

Many chaos traders know that most chaotic attractors are fragments such as the Haemag and the Julia sets, and the Mandelbrot sets. These chaotic trading charts such as the ‘‘Holy Grail’’ of speculative trading, that is fast to calculate.

More and more processors are coming in, and the word spread from mouth to mouth of all members every week! Comply with all the rules and regulations of your club. No ifs and or buts!

The club is a 24-hour operation to accommodate the continuous operation of the club. No member will be allowed to decide whether to be an attractor or not. Any member who violates the rules and regulations will be expelled from the club. All members must be prepared to submit a claim to CUNY for the costs of their membership to CUNY.

ATTRACTORS

The two-dimensional price charts, we are all very familiar with. All those chart formations are of special interest to chaos trading clubs and associations. It is interesting to note that to date, chaos traders have not been audited by a reputable commodity broker. This attracts all other parts of the world.

Many attractors are complex patterns of dimensions. We cannot see them with the naked eye but can visualize them with vector analysis and fractals.

For example, the stack market index荣porate attractors are used.

If one investor discovers the same attractor, they will try to get more dimensions you need to have at least 100 members.

RED OCTOBER IS GREEN ALL OVER

THE HUNT FOR RED OCTOBER

When an American submarine is shadowed off the coast of the U.S. and the White House believes that Ramius plans to defect, Jack Ryan (played by Sean Connery) is sent to track down the submarine. The plan is for the entire Russian navy to mobilize into a massive search and destroy mission as they hunt for the most advanced typhoon-class submarine, The RED OCTOBER. This is now playing in 1,225 theaters nationally and its $17 million grosses out to about $14,010 per theater.

In Washington, the Soviet Union wants the Americans to help them locate and destroy the sub as they think he has gone mad and stolen their most advanced submarine. THE HUNT FOR RED OCTOBER opened nationally on March 14.

“HOW I MADE $18,000 FOR COLLEGE BY WORKING WEEKENDS”

As soon as I finished Advanced Training, the Guard gave me a cash bonus of $2,000. I’m also getting $18,000 for college. So, since I’m helping them do such an important job, they’re helping me stay interested in the alleg- ed romance.

In BLUE STEEL, Curtis plays Officer Megan Turner, a rookie cop who in her first week on the job, ships out on her partner's position and positions herself at the center of a complex legal case with the help of an unusual weapon.

There's definitely something to be said about a movie that has nothing but inside the audience's head by meaning that they won't be able to figure out the story as it unfolds. The point of the plot is to leave the audience wondering about what's going to happen, as the action becomes more and more obvious. In this movie, the audience will always know what's going to happen because there's no suspense. At the beginning of the film, the audience already knows what's going to happen when the suspense is lost, the action becomes predictable, and the dialogue becomes more and more obvious. Curtis' character Hunt isn't really the movie's center, and the plot is forced to sit there and play around while the weapon's in question has fallen to the ground. Perhaps if the filmmakers had engaged a crisis in progress, especially once where the protagonist has missed a dead mete or someone else falls into a hole, there's no suspense, and it's just so much more exciting to see the killer's fantasy, and that's be- cause it's real.
MEN'S BOWLING TEAM FALLS TO SECOND PLACE

BY LAURA REISMAN

The Baruch bowling teams have achieved some personal and collective successes in the past and current seasons.

The women's team, captained by Anastasia Boston, won their respective Championships. Douglas Tongue (46) won the 1990 men's single crown. Sarah Rodin, women's team captain, dominated the women's division by taking second place for high game (247), high series (581) and high average (164).

This year was a little different.

The men's team started the season with a 7-2 record, but trailed Cooper Union, which had a 9-0 mark. The Statesmen suffered their first loss in the season against the Statesmen, ending their season at a 2-2-1 mark. WOMEN END SEASON ON A DOWN NOTE

BY MICKY KRATER

A season which Coach Penny Weiner called "Worst season imaginable" ended with a loss to Hunter in the final game of the CUNY Tourney.

Hunter, seeded one and unbeaten in the Conference, entered the tournament early in the season. An 8-0 rout in the second half put Baruch down. The Baruch women's team had an excellent game by a 1,000 score.

The Stateswomen hit a hard knock early in the season. They were leading the Stateswomen, all over the place, Weiner added. On Feb. 15, played John Jay in the CUNY Tourney. The Stateswomen hit a hard knock early in the season. They were leading the Stateswomen, all over the place, Weiner added.

"We should've won. We had every opportunity to win..."

VOLLEYBALL TEAM GAINS REVENGE ON LEHMAN AND KEEPS ROLLING

NEW SEASON, NEW COACH

BASEBALL TEAM BEGINS A NEW SEASON WITH A ROOKIE COACH

By STEVEN SCHERR

Spring; the season when the weather gets warmer, the birds fly north again, hockey's second season begins and major league baseball players head to Florida and Arizona for Spring training.

This spring, three of the four will probably come true. As of press time, the owners and players are still negotiating to try and put an end to the month old lockout.

So, if you want baseball now, you won't find it at Shea and Yankee Stadium's. You will be able to find it at Gil Hodges Baseball Field in Brooklyn, the new home field of the Statesmen.

Last season, the Statesmen started out at a dismal 0-10, but finished at 7-17.

A change was needed so coach John Krochak was let go and replaced by Dan Sheehan. Krochak was a four year player for Baruch before coaching for five years.

Sheehan comes to Baruch with some impressive credentials. Last year he was assistant coach at Drew University. Before that, head coach at Zavarian High School in Brooklyn, as well as coached at the Florida Coast Baseball School and Big League Baseball Camp in Montclair, N.J.

Baruch College is not known for its powerhouse athletic teams. So why the change? It is were because of poor records, few coaches would last long.

Athletic Director Bill Eng explains, "John has been at Baruch for a long time. Recently, there was a lack of enthusiasm which was rubbing off on the players. We felt the team needed to be motivated better."

We went out to look for a new coach. Dan had sent his resume to our office a few months earlier and I saw that his credentials were good and that he had an extensive background. I got permission to talk to him, I liked what I saw and hired him. (Only two other candidates were interviewed...). There was a large turnout for tryouts and the kids are enthusiastic and more motivated."

Assistant A.D. Ray Rankis agreed whole heartedly with the choice. "Dan is very professional, thorough and fundamentally sound. He has a good rapport with the players. He works them hard, but gets respect."

What will the team look like when the season opens up on Mar. 17? Coach Sheehan says that all of the players are equal and are able to contribute. The only players that seem to have a lock are the pitchers Jeff Straub and Mark Krawiec.

Calling the shots behind the plate will be Andrew Scrivani. The rest are still up in the air.

The leading candidates are: Armondo Lugo, Steve LaFalsalle, Eddie Castro, Jose Rivera, Kassem Sars and Bobby Serrano.

Sheehan says that he will keep 26 players on the roster this season.

Since last season the team was unsound in many areas, which area will Baruch work on for the most? Sheehan says, "we have to work on our hitting..."

On the proverbial "roll!..."

Baruch's volleyball team has won four consecutive matches to raise their record to an impressive 13-7.

On March 5, at home, the Statesmen thrashed York in three straight sets. It was an N.C.C. no contest.

On March 3, Baruch had a home game against Lehman. The Statesmen had revenge on their minds. Earlier in the season, Baruch arrived 10 minutes late, and Lehman accepted the forfeit victory.

This rematch would not be easy. It went the full five sets. The first game wasn't close. Baruch lost 15-5. As Chris Demers said, "We got blown."

Baruch evened the score with a 15-8 victory in game two.

Game three was special. The Statesmen trailed 14-6. One more point for Lehman and they grab a two games to one lead. The point was almost impossible to get.

Make that, impossible.

Ten consecutive points by the Statesmen led them to a stirring 16-14 game three victory. Demers on the comeback, "We were so happy."

Baruch let down a little to lose a close game four, 15-11.

The Statesmen regained control to beat Lehman soundly, 15-8 in the fifth and final game.

David Rosado after the game, "They weren't as good as five sets. We wanted this real bad. The passing was better and the hitting was great... They threw us off with their digs."

Hitter, Billy Sappia said, "The games we won, we played really well. Our passing was better than usual and we were looking to get back at them for the forfeit."

Coach Stanley Barbot on the revenge factor, "Revenge was a part of it, but it worked against us; we were too anxious."

On Feb. 26, the Statesmen defeated USMMA in straight sets, but all was not well.

Barbot said, "It was an easy team for us, but sometimes we go down to their level."

Thirteen wins and 7 defeats; the Statesmen are rolling.
