LaMarre Spends $407,000 in Student Funds

Politics Cloud Student Senate

News Analysis
By Rafael A. Olmedo, Jr.

The University Student Senate's annual report for the 1990-91 school year is 26 pages long. It includes minutes from meetings of the board of trustees of the City University of New York, the chancellor's controversial College Preparatory Initiative, various pieces of correspondence to state and federal legislators, and articles written by and about USS Chairman Jean C. LaMarre in major newspapers.

A recent important piece of information is missing from the report—the finances. One word is mentioned about the USS budget or expenditures.

This may come as a surprise to those who read the recent report LaMarre's allegedly "spending spree" that led the Daily News to call him "CUNY's High Roller.

The flurry of expensive limousine rides began when LaMarre was student advisor to student Rafael Alvarez, who was chair of the Student Senate and assistant to the vice president of the administrative division in the spring of 1990. In the summer of 1990, LaMarre allegedly paid Alvarez $1.3 million in spendings, a list of which included an additional $1.3 million in expenditures. The limited amount of money was spent on student government leaders. LaMarre has been charged with fraud and larceny.

Administration Centers Trimester Schedule

By Youngman

A proposal calling for the use of a trimester system at Baruch College was presented to the CUNY Senate. President Howard Galin, chairman of the Undergraduate Curriculum Committee, said that the College's undergraduate program would benefit from a trimester schedule. He believes that a trimester schedule would allow the college to expand its offerings, increase its enrollment capacity, and reduce costs.

The proposal calls for the implementation of a trimester system in the fall of 1992. The college would have three separate terms each year, with each term lasting 13 weeks. This would allow for a total of 15 weeks of classes per year, compared to the 14 weeks currently offered.

Budget and Enrollments Take a Fall

By Eric Loyola and Parah Goby

School officials seem to concord that with a budget cut of $12.6 million, a 9 percent drop in total enrollments, and a 9 percent drop in freshmen enrollment may work in Baruch's favor.

According to Howard Galin, vice president of the administration, Baruch has lost $4.4 million in funding. Chief Registrar Thomas McCarthy said, "New freshmen enrollment has dropped 7 percent. New graduate enrollment has dropped 8.7 percent from last year.

The changes range from $15 to $74.50, with an average of $42 per ride. Almost $200 in waste time is charged.

bring more revenue for Baruch, according to Vice President for Student Life D. G. Adwell. "We have seen a 31 percent increase in student fees since last year, which will help us cover the costs of providing a quality education.

Baruch's new trimester system, which goes into effect this fall, is designed to provide a more flexible and efficient way for students to balance their academic and career goals. Each trimester will be 14 weeks long, with a break in between to allow for travel and internships.

One of the most significant changes is the new academic calendar, which will now begin in September, rather than January. This will allow students to take advantage of the warmer weather and get a better start on their studies.

The trimester system will also allow for more frequent semesters, which will make it easier for students to take advantage of the courses they need in a timely fashion.

But some students have mixed feelings. "I'm not sure if I like the trimester idea," says John Smith, a junior. "It seems like there will be too many breaks and too much coursework.

Others, like Sarah Johnson, a senior, are more enthusiastic. "I think the trimester system will really help me to stay on top of my coursework and balance my work and school responsibilities," she says.

But some students are concerned about the cost of the new system. "I'm worried about having to pay more for my classes," says David Lee, a junior. "I don't think the benefits outweigh the costs.

Overall, the trimester system is an exciting new change for Baruch, and it will be interesting to see how it affects the student body and the college as a whole.

Student Leaders Pull Funds From Tutorial Services

By Hilary Coulton

Tuition fees for evening classes at Baruch College are now $30 per credit hour, up from $25 per credit hour last fall. The increase was due to the cost of providing additional tutorial services for evening students.

The tutorial service was established last fall to help evening students with their coursework, but it has been controversial among some students who feel it is an unnecessary expense.

"I don't see why we need a tutorial service," says Jane Doe, a senior.

But others, like John Smith, a junior, feel it is an important service. "I really appreciate having someone to help me with my coursework," he says.

The tutorial service is funded by a fee added to tuition, and it is currently being managed by the Office of Student Life. The fee has been increased to $30 per credit hour, up from $25 per credit hour last fall.

"We have to make sure the tutorial service is operating efficiently and effectively," says Susan Johnson, director of Student Life.

Evening and Graduate Services

By Hilary Coulton

The Office of Evening and Graduate Services is now offering a wide range of academic and career services to support evening students.

These services include academic advising, career counseling, and a variety of workshops and seminars. The office is located in the Student Life building, and it is open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

"We are committed to providing a supportive and enriching environment for evening students," says Susan Johnson, director of Student Life.

Evening students have access to all the same resources and services as day students, and they can participate in a variety of extracurricular activities, such as clubs, organizations, and sports teams.

"We want to make sure evening students feel included and welcome," says Johnson.

The Office of Evening and Graduate Services is one of the many services that are being offered to support evening students at Baruch.

LaMarre's USS Enterprise

The University Student Senate is at it again. For those unfamiliar with the USS, it is opposed to any organization that represents all the students of the City University of New York. If all CUNY students rode around in limousines and run up $24,000 in room service fees, then the USS would represent us. Others don't think so.

Jeo LaMarre, chairman of the USS, is having another problem with the old enemy, perception. As LaMarre said when he read for USS their last year, perception is not what matters, but what we do as student representatives. And LaMarre does nothing. If you don't believe this, ask your colleagues. They have been opposed the College Preparatory Initiative to the phrases you've constructed.

I am participating in a seminar organized by the New York University. In this seminar, I have learned that racism is promoted even by your "defense" of Leonard Jeffries. I have read Jeffries' book "The Matrix of Islam," and I have found that racism is still present in the techniques he uses.

I would like to extend a welcome to all new and old delegates and alternates. I hope that working together as a team will be able to make a difference.

The financial situation of our organization (USC) is going from bad to worse. As I predicted in January, the way we are expending money, no money will be left in the budget by the summer. By the month of June, out of the $54,000,000 budget approved by the senate, only $37,000 was left in our account. Thanks to $79,000,000 surplus from previous USS administration, we were able to keep USS running, otherwise we would have closed the office.

If you have any question in reference to our budget, please do not hesitate to call me at (212) 281-8838. Suggestions are welcome.

One Step Forward Salutations to Our New President

By Delandria C. Wilson
I take this opportunity to welcome President Matthew Goldstein in the halls of the USS. Baruch College offers a life-long commitment to students. As a former student ourselves, we are proud to be a part of this community. President Goldstein is a man of vision and action, who understands the importance of education. He brings with him a wealth of experience and expertise, and we are confident that he will lead Baruch College to new heights.

The Revolutionary Generation
Know Thy Enemy

By Newton Brandt

The revolution has been going on for over a hundred years. It started with the slogan, “Down with the rich!” and continues with the same attitude today.

With all the natural resources that the United States possesses, we are not using them to our advantage. We are letting the rich control our economy and our government. This is not only a national problem, but a global one as well.

In the 19th century, the United States was a nation of small farmers and free citizens. But today, we are controlled by a few wealthy individuals who have complete control over our lives.

The only concern that your enemy is that he is being controlled by his class. This is a very serious problem that needs to be addressed.

Who is stealing the riches that we work so hard for? Is it the rich? Or is it the government? Is it the rich who are stealing from the poor?

The only solution is to work together and make sure that our voices are heard.

The only way to make a change is to work together and make sure that our voices are heard. We must stand together and fight for what is right.

ROLLING BONES GATHER NO MESS
For all those Rush fans that followed them through the years, the ones who bought Caress Of Steel (1977) and Hemispheres (1978) on CD, maybe. The ones who actually thought Rush had a dislike for politicians. The ones who remember the memories of the band that formed in November of 1968. In the fifth month of release, Roll The Bones (produced by Todd Sucherman and邹 Lee) was released. The first single off the album was "The Big Wheel" and it was successful. The second single, "Two Less Than Three," became a hit and the first instrumental song by then-Atlantic Records label. "Two Less Than Three" went platinum, while Presto didn't.

TREACH

The Nymphs are a new alternative rock band with a lot of the components in the role of originality. They are an angry group of people that express themselves through their explosive music. Their music is about social issues that affect society.

Hearing a woman singing music that is a nice surprise, because this type of music is usually thought of as a genre for male artists. This outsembles a woman really commands the attention of the listener. Her powerful voice reminds me of a woman from the 1920's who was named Parks Niick.

The Nympths music is filled with brutal honesty. This is especially true when you hear the vocals in the song "Deceived". Her song is just a barely true. The lyrics show theThese are the songs that Nymphs will have to rely on to keep the album's sound. But the group has already shown the world that they can sing and rap with the best of them. The Nymphs are definitely a band to watch for in the future.

After two years of delay the new Guns and Roses album has finally been released. The album is titled "Blood Sugar Sex Magik". In the past week's reviews, both the album and the single "Just Like Tom Thumb's" have received mostly positive reviews. The album is a departure from the band's previous work, but it still maintains the same level of quality. The single "Just Like Tom Thumb's" is the lead single from the album and it is already a hit. The band has been touring extensively to promote the album and it is with all your fans.

TREACH

The Nymphs are a new alternative rock band with a lot of the components in the role of originality. They are an angry group of people that express themselves through their explosive music. Their music is about social issues that affect society.

Hearing a woman singing music that is a nice surprise, because this type of music is usually thought of as a genre for male artists. This outsembles a woman really commands the attention of the listener. Her powerful voice reminds me of a woman from the 1920's who was named Parks Niick.

The Nympths music is filled with brutal honesty. This is especially true when you hear the vocals in the song "Deceived". Her song is just a barely true. The lyrics show theThese are the songs that Nymphs will have to rely on to keep the album's sound. But the group has already shown the world that they can sing and rap with the best of them. The Nymphs are definitely a band to watch for in the future.

After two years of delay the new Guns and Roses album has finally been released. The album is titled "Blood Sugar Sex Magik". In the past week's reviews, both the album and the single "Just Like Tom Thumb's" have received mostly positive reviews. The album is a departure from the band's previous work, but it still maintains the same level of quality. The single "Just Like Tom Thumb's" is the lead single from the album and it is already a hit. The band has been touring extensively to promote the album and it is with all your fans.

Review: 'Blood Sugar Sex Magik'

The only people I want to recommend the new Red Hot Chili Peppers album to are those who are into rock music. This album has a lot of different sounds and it is a departure from the band's previous work. The album is a departure from the band's previous work, but it still maintains the same level of quality. "Perhaps the most praised release by Marvel is in John Romita and Frank Miller's phenomenal run on Daredevil, which introduced the world to the superpowered, crime-fighting hero known as Daredevil. In this groundbreaking series, drawn by Miller and inked by Dave Gibbons, Daredevil battles the forces of evil in the crime-ridden city of New York. The graphic novel was released in 1984 and has since become a classic in the world of comic books."

Bankruptcies Mount In Recession As Trepidation Lessens

Once Considered the Final Chapter In Credit, Growing Numbers Find A Viable Recourse

By Betsy Lacy

When Federal Sanderfer dicreased the national in-openness rate to 7.35%.

This is a decrease from the 9.5% rate in 1990. Simultaneously, the Federal Reserve Board raised the discount rate to 7.6%

from 7.25%.

Sanderfer's action is one of a series of steps taken by the Fed to cool an overheated economy. The increase in the discount rate is expected to raise short-term interest rates, including mortgage rates, and thus slow down the pace of economic expansion.

However, the higher interest rates may also help stabilize the housing market, which has been characterized by rapid appreciation in recent months.

Sanderfer's move comes as a development in the overheated housing market. The national home price index, which tracks

the average sale price of homes in the United States, rose 13% in the first quarter of 1991, acting the highest rate in more than a decade.

Sanderfer's decision to raise the discount rate was not unpopular with homeowners and borrowers. Many had been concerned about the rising cost of home equity lines of credit, which have been popular in recent years. The increase in interest rates may make it more dif-cult for homeowners to borrow against the equity in their homes.

Despite the increased interest rates, Sanderfer's move was welcomed by some economists who believe it is necessary to

cool the economy and prevent

an overheated housing market. The economists argue that higher interest rates will slow

the pace of economic expansion

and reduce inflationary pressures.

However, others warn that the increase in interest rates may

stifle economic growth and

result in a recession. These economists believe that a recession

would be worse than the one that occurred in 1990.

Sanderfer's decision to raise the discount rate was also seen as a signal that the Fed is willing to use monetary policy to address economic issues. This is a departure from the Fed's past approach, which had been to rely on fiscal policy to address economic problems.

Sanderfer's move was also welcomed by some investors who believe it will help stabilize the stock market. The stock market had been volatile in recent months, with the Dow Jones Industrial Average fluctuating between 3,400 and 3,700.

Sanderfer's decision to raise the discount rate was seen as a move to stem the volatility in the stock market. Investors believe that higher interest rates will make it more expensive to borrow money, which could result in reduced consumer spend-ning and lower stock prices.

Sanderfer's move was also welcomed by some policymakers

who believe it is necessary to

cool the economy and prevent

an overheated housing market. The policymakers argue that higher interest rates will slow

the pace of economic expansion

and reduce inflationary pressures.

However, others warn that the increase in interest rates may

stifle economic growth and

result in a recession. These economists believe that a recession

would be worse than the one

that occurred in 1990.
Freshmen Add Spark to Baseball Team

By Phil Susi

Since the 13-8 season opening win over Old Westbury the Baruch baseball team has won 1, tied 1, and lost 4. Victories, however, are of little importance to the team. Co-Captain Eric Grossman has voiced his satisfaction with the team's performance.

"We are trying harder to establish the team's concept than just waiting for the season to start," he said.

The fall season is primarily weekend games only. The objective is to compete in game situations for positions, sharpen skills, and most importantly develop the team concept.

Baruch won 5-2. The game opened 2-0 and getting the feel for the players. In the doubles, Baruch dropped a close game to Draw University. Then, they were destroyed in the second game.

Still, the confidence is high, and for a change the spring season could yield a championship.

This will all depend on how the other players fill in. Along with Co-Captains Rivers and Grossman, Sheehan has been especially pleased with Baruch's new catcher John Pena. With the loss of last season's catcher, Andrew Seri­vanii, the catcher's position seemed weak. Pena, however, says, "the players need to be focused and they have to make sacrifices." Wanting to win is good, but, the team must beat defending champs York Colle­ge and always tough City and Hunter Colleges.

Listening to the optimism in Coach Henry's voice, they should make a good run at the title.

Baruch Men's Soccer Shoots Down Opponents

By David A. Amir

Imagine losing your season opener 2-0 and getting the feeling of good things to come. Sounds crazy doesn't it? It does, it's true.

The Baruch Men's Soccer team lost to Upsala on Sep­tember 11. Coach Tony Henry, in his thirteenth season, said, "I'm little power in the lineup.

Coach Daniels coaches anywhere he goes, he has a good eye for talent. His team was scoreless until the 80th minute. Upsala added another goal on a penalty kick in the 90th minute. Baruch lost the game and Sheehan scored for the Baruch Men's Soccer team.

Baruch finally beat Old Westbury 4-0. Baruch was led by the scoring of Hansa Reesers, Carl "Rocky" Gibbson, Ahmed Fares, and Lam Kwan.

Then Baruch defeated St. Joseph 3-1. In this contest Paddy Danford, Ahmed Fares and Gibbson scored for the Baruch Men's Soccer team.

Baruch is led by Co-Cap­tains Kassem Fares, Choy Cadiz, and Atiz Lahhourri. In goal for his third season is the third year with the Baruch Fire on the team. Ali Shniderman is the number two seed.

Baruch was lead by the scoring of Handsome Reesers, Carl "Rocky" Gibbson, Ahmed Fares, and Lam Kwan.

Baruch's one tie this fall was against Mattituck, a Conneticut Junior College, who beat Baruch in the second game. In their most recent ac­tion, Baruch dropped a close game to Draw University. Then, they were destroyed in the second game.

Still, the confidence is high, and for a change the spring season could yield a championship.

Tennis Team Shoots Down Opponents

By David A. Amir

On Tuesday, Sept. 10, the Women's Tennis team started a potentially great season.

Anna Daniels will enjoy her first year as head coach. Daniels takes over for Dr. Bill Eng, who moved to assistant coach. Eng was the head coach since he started the program in 1979.

Baruch played Molloy in the opener and won 2-0. The game featured five singles and two doubles. Baruch won four of the five singles and split the doubles with Molloy.

Shniderman seeded number one and Clarisa Frias seeded number two, won their matches. Eng was saying, "I wouldn't be surprised if we win the CUNY and the Hudson Valley championship."

Last season the state­women finished second in the CUNY and the Hudson Valley division but second in both tournaments.

If Daniels coaches anywhere near as well as she played there is no need to worry. After all, Daniels is a Baruch college and a Baruch college student.

On Daniels, Eng says, "she is very dedicated, very active, very strong. She is a very dedicated and very active student."

Students who would like to play for Women's Tennis may still try out. You may contact Dr. Eng in the Physical Educa­tion office on the 7th floor of the 23 St. building.

Take That!

Riddle of the week: What does Fred McGriff, Kiehl Miller, Greg Gagne, Hal Morris, Willie Mcgee, Doug Drew, Tim Belcher and Jose Rijo all have in common? They all escaped from the Yankee organization. Do you still wonder why the pennant drive stalls come summer in the Bronx? I have no problem with stars such as Jose Canseco or Roger Clemens making millions, but when Bud Black gets ten million dollars as a free agent, there's a problem. When, and when the owners try to do something about it they call collusion.

Six foot ten inch Randy Johnson sure is an imposing figure on the mound. But, what would seven foot six inch center­man Bo Belok look like on top of the hill?

Eric Lindross should at least put on a NHL uniform before demanding a trade.

The difference between the U.S. Basketball team winning and losing the gold medal in the olympics will not be Isiah Thomas. That team is so tal­ented. Mark Jackson could probably pick up a few assists while playing with the squad. Maybe it's a personal prob­lem, but I just get excited think­ing about another season of Ken O'Brien sacks and Free­man McCaffery two yard spurs up the middle.

Wanted Jeff Hostetler sup­posed to make the Giants off­ense more exciting?

How long before Jet fans start chanting "let Bruce loose"?

It's only a matter of time be­fore Yankee general manager azes the stump...
