Mattress Catches Fire at 23 Street Building

Security and Fire Department keep blaze from causing any damage

By Sue-Peng Chu

A fire broke out behind the stage in the auditorium of the 23rd Street building on February 19, causing smoke to rise to higher floors and interrupting evening classes. The fire, which started at approximately 8 p.m., was caused by a cigarette butt carelessly thrown on a mattress—a stage prop that had been left there for about a year.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Quinlan, the cleaning supervisor of the building. He quickly notified the security guard, who then called the Fire Command Station and 911. Fortunately, the fire was extinguished by the automatic sprinklers before the firefighters arrived.

Henry J. McLaughlin, director of security, says a mattress fire is very smoky and the smoke went up through the venting system behind the auditorium. "Fire alarms were not set off throughout the building for the reason that the minor fire had been contained within a short period of time. However, Assistant Director of Security Donald Barta was on the communication system to repeatedly announce that the fire was under control," said McLaughlin. A student at the scene claims not to have heard anything. McLaughlin responds, "Perhaps your source is not accurate."

Fireman Art Mezzano of Ladder Co. 7 says "Baruch's fire alarm system is good. For example, the sprinklers were already turned on by the heat when we got there."

"We have fire extinguishers, heat sensitive sprinklers and manual pull box alarm on every floor. We have smoke detectors that simultaneously turn on strobe lights that have dual purpose, to illuminate the smoke/hazy areas and to alert the hearing impaired on an emergency," says McLaughlin. Once the smoke alarms are set off, all elevators automatically return to the lobby while an emergency call is forwarded to a central fire station which monitors a specific geographic location and notifies the fire department.

According to the fire department, it is the job of colleges and universities to instruct and train students with drills. Drills should be held at least three times each year.

McLaughlin says, "Fire drills are religiously held for the day and evening students once per academic session in each of the six buildings. There are also weekly maintenance checks on the fire extinguishers and strobe lights. The fire exit signs and alarms are checked daily before school."

The last fire drill occurred on November 21 in the 23 street building. Nonetheless, one student reflected that in her four semesters in attendance at Baruch, she only experienced one drill.

The last real fire occurred about four or five years ago during renovations at the 360 Park Avenue South building.
CUNY Board Votes to Eliminate USS Funding

By Farrah Gohy
The board of trustees of the City University of New York’s Office of Student Affairs has voted to eliminate the University Student Federation (USF) and select an agency to replace it.

According to the move which the board has approved, the University Student Federation will be eliminated, and the Student Senate will be dissolved.

The USS received the $85,000 in funding from the University, while the Student Senate received $40,000 in funding from the University.

The USS has been representing the students at the University since 1950.

Somebody, Anybody, Validate Me
To The Editor,

I need a spring 2003 validated I.D. sticker so now my Baruch I.D. needs to be validated in the Edmonds Services center for free. Does every Baruch student know that he or she can get in free with a validated I.D. on the Edmonds Services Center website? Baruch students will not be able to get the $15.00 Edward I.D. Sticker for free at any time of the year. If you do not get this sticker within the first 30 days of the semester, students must get one from the Department of Human Resources because we are in the Library on campus.

For things, the A.C.A. lets you buy two tickets for $4 each. That is a savings of fifty cents over the出路州 I.D. Sticker Baruch students and their guests at the Free United Airlines tickets for those who buy the A.C.A. card. There is also a $1.00 charge to get United Airlines tickets at the Baruch discount rate tax.

Finally, instead of being events tickets at a discount from the Baruch College Student Center, just go to the Jailhouse bar and grill in the 11th. to get free tickets.

A Heart Felt Thanks
To The Editor,

We meant heart felt thanks to the many people who contributed to the success of African American History Month in Baruch College.

In addition to the students of African Descent, CSTEP Club, National Association of Black Students, Students for Student Workers, Student Affairs, Management, Student Center Program Board, Phi BeSigma, West Indian Cultural Club, Table Tennis Club, Day Student Student Government, Evening Student Student Government.

The following departments:
Office of Student Development, Office of Student Activities, Office of the President, Office of the Dean of Student Affairs, Office of Campus Planning, Audio Visual Department, Counseling and Multicultural Services, English Department, and Business Studies.

The Following Professors:
Dorothy Ann, Riva, Maria Rodríguez, Susana Tronski, Robert, Polandcy, Mr. Grača Polisch, and Ms. Pet. O'Connor.

The Following department chairmen:

The following administrators:
President Goldstein, Vice President Samuel Johnson, Dr. Bert Lamon, Dr. Carl Aylman and Ms. Gloria Paulus and Ms. Pat O'Connor. The knowledge to develop their power and influence. There is enough of ancient and modern history. If you do not have an idea about the history of the above, you cannot understand the influence and power of the above.

In addition to the students of African Descent, CSTEP Club, successful future, it has been amazing. Since the arch is the highest level, they would be a great asset to the present storm confidence.

THE REVOLUTIONARY GENERATION

The Revolutionary Generation
Back To The Future

Sorry sir, we didn’t mean to intrude

Baruch College President, Matthew Godstein, has set up a commission to deal with how we should handle our impending student crisis. The commission will be looking at long term and short term strategies to counter the effects of President Johnson, and not to the commission itself we cannot help but feel second class. We see no need for such a buffer zone.

We understand how Goldstein could feel that student representation is not necessary since student apathy is at an all time high, that no one seems to want to protest about anything, not even these difficult times and that the college as remarkably silent during the early phases of our present conflict. We hope to have no desire to trade the ISBO, but the time has come to look for some kind of action.

We are all very busy people. We believe students can and must unite to be sure that not only the college administration but the State bears our call and our cry. We cannot sit silent while our University is ravaged.

University.

Multiculturalism lives, and grows, at Baruch

By Kathryn Garcia

Dominican Celebration

By Kathryn Garcia

Dominican Independence Day was celebrated at Baruch in the Marble Lounge of the Student Center on Thursday, Feb. 27, 1980. As the crowd, mostly young and enthusiastic, formed, the theme was to explore the history of the Dominican Republic and how Baruch students present at the event were helping to keep promoting the values they already have, teaching in their families, and passing them on to their children.

Nestor Hidalgo, SEEK coordinator at Baruch, expressed his view as to why Baruch keeps Dominicans, and Dominicans in general, behind their return to school. He was performing multicultural roles in the dance and about the history of the Dominican Republic and how they acquired their independence from Spain. It was a reflection of the Dominican Heritage culture offered by the Black and Hispanic studies department.

This week's question: What do you think of last month's verdict in the Mike Tyson rape trial?

Arturo Torres, senior

"I don't think that it was a fair trial, and I believe that the justice system failed the victim. We need a fair trial to ensure justice for all parties involved."

Melina Laanse, freshman

"I don't think that the trial was fair, and I believe that the justice system failed the victim. We need a fair trial to ensure justice for all parties involved."

Marcela Oliveros, senior

"I think that the trial was fair, and I believe that the justice system did its job. We need to trust the justice system to ensure justice for all parties involved."

Addison Gayle (1932-1991) was the losing event. The event was a tribute to the late distinguished professor of English who passed away last year. Gayle was Baruch's leading authority on African American Literature. Among his many books are "Richard Wright: Ordeal of a New Man" (1969), "The Way of the Black New World: The Black Novel in America" (1991), "The Black Situation" (1970), "The Black Expression: Essays by and About Black Americans in the Creative Arts" (1969). He also wrote his autobiography "Wayward Child: A Personal Odyssey" (1977). He had recently completed his last book, a biography of W.E.B. Du Bois which has yet to be published.

Dr. John Todd, chairman of the English Dept., spoke about the contributions of Addison Gayle to a multicultural curriculum at Baruch. At the tribute to our late Professor Addison Gayle, featured speaker Sooia Sanchez read from her poems. She also reminisced about her and Gayle's long-established friendship and their love of literature and writing.

Michele Paynes, who worked diligently as coordinator of African American History Month, read excerpts from Monica Galet's "The Black Situation."

Baruch Goes Down In Semi-Final

By David A. Amir

The Baruch College Men’s Basketball team ended their quest for a CUNY Championship with a defeat of 72-67 to CCNY (ranked 7th in CUNY Division). Baruch lost to CCNY after beating third ranked Medgar Evers in the opening round 77-71.

Baruch was up virtually the entire second half but just couldn’t put CCNY away. CCNY took control of the game with the last seven points and too advance to the final round. Even though CCNY lost their number one player, Rich Maida, they were able to stay close to the final round.

Final Note

Baruch has a chance to enter a post season tournament bid. They will soon find out if they will enter the ECAC (Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference) tournament.

Riddle Of the Week:

Why does Sid Fernandez wear the number 50?

- It represents his career ERA.
- It represents his IQ.
- It represents his waistline.

*Some Good News:

This is a very young team. There are no starting seniors on this team and all the players are expected to return next year. Leading the team in scoring is junior Kirk Davis and the leading rebounder is junior Charles Daniel. Sophomore Darin Kimble, Chicago (28 gms, 5G, 0A, 229 penalty minutes), Mike Peluso, Chicago (28 gms, 5G, 0A, 229 penalty minutes) These guys are killers. There are many more just like them. I know hockey is a high speed contact sport and fighting is a part of the game, but how about continued on page*
