Baruch Alumni Association Begins Its Mentoring Program

By Alan Chong
Contributing Writer

Often, students are heard complaining of how unusual the academic studies of a college education can be. While the validity of this statement is up for debate, many in the Baruch community agree that having the practical know-how of the working world can help in the transition between college life and the corporate world.

With this in mind, the Baruch College Alumni Association has introduced a pilot Mentoring Program designed to bridge the gap between college studies and the business tactics of the corporate world. Ideally, by fostering one-on-one relationships between Baruch alumni mentors and student mentees, the program aims at producing students that are in tune and prepared for the transition from school to work. "I think that with my experience and understanding of work and college, I can help to prepare them, " said Rudolph Brown, of the Baruch College Alumni Association.

According to Remata Kowalczyk of the Academic and College Affairs Committee, many successful Baruch alumni in the workforce have great potential to share their professional experiences while also benefiting from the relationship. "We're basically providing a vehicle, " said Kowalczyk. "A platform for them to meet, establishing a relationship and hopefully learning from each other.

Through the interaction, students will cultivate professional and practical skills that will aid their career development. With the personal advice of a mentor, students adopt skills ranging from business etiquette to job search. At the same time mentors will gain coaching skills and new insights and perspectives on their work.

The program currently has 25 volunteer alumni mentors and about 70 students. All mentors are volunteers of the Baruch Alumni Association. While students must have a GPA of 3.3 or higher to qualify. After the profiles of eligible applicants are reviewed, matches are made primarily by students and their assigned mentors, with input from Career Services.

"We're basically providing a vehicle," said Kowalczyk. "A platform for them to meet, establishing a relationship and hopefully learning from each other."

According to statistics released by the New York City Police Department, the Gramercy Park area, served by the 13th Precinct, ranks as one of the safest areas to live, work and go to school in the city. Made up of approximately 190 officers and 70 volunteer auxiliary officers, the 13th Precinct is run by Chief Raymond Lockard, one of the safest in the city.

Baruch Resides In Crime-Free Neighborhood

By Sasha Gelpi
Contributing Writer

As winter finally turns to spring, a typical bright sunny weekday on the corner of Lexington and 23rd Street often finds college students milling along the sidewalk chatting and waiting for their next class. Almost unnoticed, a lone uniformed police officer weaves his way through the crowd, checking his surroundings. Not surprisingly, everything seems peaceful and calm.

What may be surprising is that the area containing the Baruch campus is ranked as one of the safest neighborhoods in the city.

As Spring Begins, CUNY Schools Increase Activities

By Macabre Jean-François

The following honorary degrees have been approved by the Board of Trustees to be awarded at the commencement exercise of each school:

- Doctor of Humane Letters to Martin Jaffe, Brooklyn College
- 400,000 will be spent on providing new seating, flooring, a ceiling and lighting in Room 222 in Whithead Hall for courses with large enrollment to be taught in it. As part of the first phase in renovating both the Whitman and Gershwin Theaters, the Whitman Theater's unused openings will be closed and exterior masonry walls restored. The rehabilitation project's estimated cost is $300,000.

Comrade with Prevention. If you want to energize or better depress.

If you are not talking about Hans Moser, an article in a Prevention magazine article, "College students who need less minutes of aerobic exercise are those who are the most depressed," according to a Prevention article. The article goes on to discuss the benefits of exercise, especially for those who already have a depressed mood.

"The article states that when you exercise, you release endorphins, which are natural mood elevators. These chemicals are released in the brain and can help improve your mood. It is also believed that exercise can help reduce stress and anxiety, which can also contribute to depression.

Another study, published in the Journal of Consulting and Clinical Psychology, found that people who exercise regularly are less likely to develop depression. The study followed 2,000 adults over a period of 12 years and found that those who exercised regularly had a 30% lower risk of developing depression.

The Baruch Health Network, which offers free aerobics classes, is encouraging students to exercise regularly to help combat depression. "Exercise is a great way to improve your mood and reduce stress," said Dr. Jeanne E. Novak, a psychologist at Baruch Health Network. "It's also a great way to meet new people and socialize."

But not all exercises are created equal. Aerobic exercises, such as running or swimming, are the best for reducing depression, according to recent studies. These exercises help increase the release of endorphins, which can help lift your mood.

Stressed? Depressed? Dance Your Way To The Music Cure

Listening to "Blue" while taking the "A train?"

Examples of energetic music would be bands like Eiffel 65, with "Blue." This song specifically is very energetic. In lyrics are not intended to provoke bad behavior. Also, Snoop and Justice among others.

As an example of soothing melodies is, The thrumming is very soothing. It is very pleasant when you are by yourself. Something soothing can ease stress. Most importantly, the music of your choice should grab your attention. It is nice to be aware of what is in your world. Do you want to relax? Do you need to be depressed? If you want to relax, listen to music while coordinating the dynamics with certain moves.

According to the article, you should sit or lie down, however you feel comfortable. A quiet place where you will be disturbed is important. Perhaps a small room with the lights dimmed. And genre of music will serve the purpose. A love song, a ballad song by a great voice like Frank Sinatra is good. If you prefer a non-sensical contemporary and pop music, it is fine. Adding unusual sound effects. Standing at your feet, gently tight, relax your muscles. Do so continuously to ease stress. However, do not do it for too long, otherwise, you may feel that you're losing control.

The Victim Culture of Rape

By Janice Corinthians

There are no other words suddenly to describe the crime that has become too common. Society has broken you as a victim. But that is not a bad thing, that is as it should be. Historically, it has been the belief that society had to accept and continue to function, and it is exactly for that reason that we are not what happened.

Society choose you as a victim. But that is not a bad thing, that is as it should be. Historically, it has been the belief that society had to accept and continue to function, and it is exactly for that reason that we are not what happened.

Victims. The power of the female is to hold the keys to her husband's head. In a large part of "comprehensive care," there is a danger of not being able to enjoy sex, that does not invalidate having passed down her eternal wish, which is that for a female to be able to have passionate sex with men, to trust her body, to feel wanted, to feel needed, to become an unattainable, "vir" instead of "whore.

The "we" is prevalent. You do not become a victim of violence by being a woman, or a man, or a child, or a person. You are a part of the victims of society, regardless of your gender or sex. The "we" is clearly defined to you as the victim of society, regardless of your gender or sex.

The word "victimized" is used to describe what has happened to you. Society is a horrible thing, that is an ideal. Heroin was a cost at the price of you. Society forever brands you as a victim. But that is not a bad thing, that is as it should be. Historically, it has been the belief that society had to accept and continue to function, and it is exactly for that reason that we are not what happened.

Victims. The power of the female is to hold the keys to her husband's head. In a large part of "comprehensive care," there is a danger of not being able to enjoy sex, that does not invalidate a woman's sexuality above her personality, rape robs her of trust from herself and others, and is a cruel blow to the woman's heart of our city. The problem is that despite the legal equality granted to all races (at least on paper), we are not all treated with the same fairness or kindness. The gunned-down victim was a young white man, would they have thought of him as being a thug or a drug dealer by a cop? Would one of them ever wonder about the mothers of the city officials that are backing them up? Do the mothers of the victims of rape ever think about the victims of rape who are dying alone in a hospital bed? They may never know that their daughter is a victim.

The simple factor of shoving creates a distinct and devastating difference in the position, conditioning and behavior of the American male. Having the ability to live among ourselves in towns, we teach "bullies" and every opportunity to do so. You would never think of any of your male friends or brothers as a "victimized" male, or a rape victim.

The power of the female is to hold the keys to her husband's head. In a large part of "comprehensive care," there is a danger of not being able to enjoy sex, that does not invalidate...

The Drunk Ramblings of a Mad Man.

Mike's 2nd Edition

With life being so peaceful and happy, I generally have nothing to write about. Last week though, I did get a chance to see a few things I don't think I'll ever forget. It started out as an average Saturday night, but then things took a turn for the worse.

I was hanging out with some friends at a bar near my house. We were all drinking and having a good time, when suddenly, one of my friends noticed something strange. It was a man who looked like he was under the influence of drugs.

"Hey! Look at that guy! He's acting really...odd," one of my friends exclaimed.

"Yeah, I've seen him before. He's always like this," another replied.

Before we could do anything, the man started to walk towards us. We all tried to get away, but it was too late. The man started to attack one of my friends, and before we knew it, we were all involved in a fight.

I don't know what happened next, but I do remember hearing sirens in the distance. It turned out that the police had been called and they arrived just in time to break up the fight.

Looking back on that night, I realize that I have come to accept some of the darker aspects of life. It's not always pretty, but it's part of who I am. I guess that's just the way it is.

As with anything in life, it's important to learn from our experiences and move forward. I'm grateful for the chance to have had that night, and I hope that it will make me a better person in the future.

The End.

Men's Baseball Team Wins Its Season Opener

By Michelangelo Nilo

Last week, the Baruch baseball team split two matches against John Jay and York. The team lost by two runs to both teams last week. For additonal information on getting there or other team-related issues, contact Ralph Sirianni at (212) 387-1274.

Baruch has a keen eye for the game. Josting from the coaching staff are many baseball men. Bart Tinnian guided the Baruch City College to a CUNY title in 1995. Jerry Niro was a star athlete for John Jay and Frank Duski, one of the best in the business, returns as the pitching coach.

The Statesmen will again have Clark Losche, a nimble left-hander, and hard-throwing righty Vinny Tamayo. Losche and Tamayo give Losche a formidable pitching team.

In Losche's highly anticipated season opener against rival John Jay, the Statesmen won an impressive 8-2. Baruch has not beaten John Jay since 1995! Hopefully this win will be a sign of good things to come this season and beyond.

SMC's Losche has a keen eye for the game. Never a real opportunity to be drafted. He has the sign of good things to come this season and beyond.

The baseball season is currently in full swing. Take that all you baseball fans out there. For a little more info on getting there or other team-related issues, contact Ralph Sirianni at (212) 387-1274.

Men's Volleyball Team Splits Two Matches

By Kenyatta Pippins

Last week, the Baruch volleyball team split two matches against John Jay and York. The team was led by two freshmen in both matches. Henry Orkin Vaclavik averaged 30 kills and 10 digs per match. Setter Daniel Haddas averaged 25 assists.

The team lost a tough match against York, 3-1, 15-3, 14-6, 7-15 and 13-15. The team lost because of the close win against John Jay, 15-2, 8-15, 16-15 and 13-15. The team is now 1-1.

The Statesmen are gearing up for playoffs which begin on April 5. All things considered, the team now has more time to work on the playoffs.

The team's next home game is against York, on March 29 at 4:00 PM. All home games are played at the American Legion in Brooklyn.

Overcoming the Odds: All’s Fair in Love and Basketball

By Jon Minners

When I was a kid, I used to think that anything could be better than love and basketball. I love both love and basketball, but it is also a story of inspiration for young girls and couples struggling to make ends meet. Unlike other sports dealing with the same romantic themes, love and basketball is definitely a different type of film.

Love and Basketball stars Omari Epps and Saana Lathan. In watching this film, I got my fix of both love and basketball, but also learnt the realization that Bythewood has a major future in this business. Her first film is a serious contender in the box-office race.

"My main driving force was to make a beautiful romantic love story with some intense basketball scenes. I knew I wanted Omar because I'm a huge basketball fan. Luck would continue as a meeting of the minds..."

Badseed's Video Game Bottomline

The Breakdown on Smackdown

By Badseed

If you read my review of Smackdown in Issue 1 of the EWW, you knew that I thought it was very well done. Well, Smackdown has been released and it definitely lived up to my expectations.

Since the last review, I gave away a new game to one of you, the winner being Mr. B. This time, I'll review a game I have not seen before, which I think you'll enjoy.

Besides the regular single-player, tag-team and Royal Rumble modes, this game also features a special offense mode where you get to be the ref. If you have your own red flag around the ring, you can drop it on the floor. Also, you can drop a red flag anywhere in the ring just by tapping the right button and you can drop your opponent into a car.

This game is much more difficult than Smackdown in this genre, but it's also a lot more fun. I recommend this game to anyone who likes wrestling.

The Undertaker Does Battle with Big Bossman Backstage in the Boiler Room

By Karl D. Boulware

This review is about Syphon Filter 2: LllO0e.

Improved theIr aim. Also, realistic graphics allow you to grab your opponent. Simply press a grapple button and a dialog box will appear. The graphics are drawn and this makes for some of the best graphics I've ever seen.

These wrestlers don't just fall down on a hit. They stagger, and they knock you down. You can also knock your opponent by adding a finishing move to the game like a death match with zany characters. It's a lot more fun to play this way.

Overall Grade: B-

This game has an excellent replay value. Badseed's Bottomline: 5 out of 5.

Syphon Filter 2: Bigger is Better

By Karl D. Boulware

If you have never played the first Syphon Filter, you're in for a treat. The second Syphon Filter, ST-000, has worked out most of the bugs from the original game.

Note by note, the game is much more polished and realistic.

For example, you can see the sweat on your hands and the expressions on your face. The graphics are also much more realistic.

I would recommend this game to anyone who likes action and adventure games.

Gabe is Back and This Unfortunately Man Takes One To The Face for His Team. That'll Teach Him

By Jesse Rabenstein

This game has a lot more action and adventure than the first one.

The game has more enemies and a lot more secrets to find. This game is definitely better than the first one.

The new weapons are also much more realistic and the enemies are much more realistic. This game has a lot more action and adventure than the first one.

I would recommend this game to anyone who likes action and adventure games.
Interview with the Cast of the Skulls (Opening March 31st)

By Kin Ping Koou

The formula for success in films such as Scream is She's All That: American Pie, and I Know What You Did Last Summer, seems to be a scary and thrilling sculpture. The producer, Kevin Welker, who also produced the movie, knew what he was getting into. And when he realized it, he knew what to expect. I had the pleasure of interviewing him at the end of his tour to promote the movie. He is a true gentleman, and I hope that he will continue to do so.

The Skulls is a thrilling movie. It's about social commentary, as it is about the characters' lives. The director, Rob Cohen, and Neal Moritz again.

Leslie also recently completed the dark independent feature film The Young & the Beautiful, which is due to be shot in New York and traveling through Europe for six months. She is set to star in the show.

It's a thrill to be a part of something that is so much fun and games. Actors have to be a part of the experience. It's not just about the acting, it's about the whole package. The Skulls is a great opportunity for a young actor like Leslie to showcase his talents.

The Skulls is a thrilling movie. As social commentary, it's a laugh. I mean, I don't think that the point of this movie is social commentary on the evils of secret societies, though I think that when people watch it they'll be surprised that these things exist, because that's the point of the movie. And as far as the social commentary goes, it's all about the people who are watching it. I don't know if they're going to take it seriously, or if they're going to laugh at it. But it's a good experience for me and I think that the actors involved will enjoy it.

A Strange Type...

One word can describe a Chinese Ghost Story: Strange. That is not necessarily a bad thing, especially for the X-Men. Strange isn't a word that will get me excited, and it isn't a word that will get me interested in the show. Strange can mean a lot of things, and for the most part, it means a show that is going to be different from what I am used to. That is what I can say about the Chinese Ghost Story.

The story is about a young man who is being hunted by ghosts. He is being hunted because of a curse that was placed on him by his father. The ghosts are after him because they want to take him to the afterlife. The young man is trying to escape the ghosts, but he is also trying to find a way to stop the curse.

The story takes place in a small village in China, and the ghosts are not your typical ghosts. They are powerful and can be seen by the naked eye. The young man is also not your typical protagonist. He is not brave and he is not brave to fight the ghosts. He is a scared boy who is trying to survive.

The young man is also trying to find a way to stop the curse. He is trying to find a way to break the curse so that he can be free from the ghosts. He is also trying to find a way to stop the ghosts from hunting him.

The story is not your typical ghost story. It is not a story about a boy who is fighting ghosts. It is a story about a boy who is trying to survive. It is a story about a boy who is trying to find a way to break a curse.

More Music, Dirty South Salvation

By Clinton Byrd a.k.a. Style

What’s going on in Charlotte? This is Style giving you some insight into the Hip Hop Scene. Dirty South, introducing three hot artists, Zima, Tedd, Drooby, and Drama and their new joints.

Drama has basically a newcomer with his debut album Buddha Mix. You may have seen this 16 year old as a teenager in his new video with his debut single Buddha Mix. I got to see Drama live for the first time last week at Rich City. I can’t say that I saw this band, I saw Drama. I see that this band is full of energy, and they have a lot of talent.

Political Rap Makes a Comeback With Dead Prez

By Jon Minners

Yes, Dead Prez is back! I bought this CD and I was blown away. Dead Prez has something to say, they do not like the way things are going in this world. They are saying it loud and clear. Dead Prez is a hip hop group from New York City.

Do you know how many times people look up at the ad in the corner while they do the crossword puzzle game? So many times that it is your product and you want to buy it. You just made some money without even trying and at a minimal cost, too. An ad in this paper pays off. For more info, contact Jessica Rubenstein at Jessica_ticker@hotmail.com

A Little Bit of Jazz, A Whole Lot of Strange

By Jessica Rubenstein

Bite Cahun by design CLEOPATRA

This CD is a fusion of jazz, but often leaves you feeling like you’re in a car on the highway. When you are listening to this CD, it is hard to stop it. It is a great CD to listen to on long car rides.

Around seemingly before falling off. The first song Kinky Dee particularly brought me out of my car as it had a lot of energy. It is a great CD to listen to when you are driving.

The beats are as dirty as they come. If you need something that will make the windows in your ride vibrate, then put Book of Thugs in your car.

Drama is a newcomer bringing a street walker theme to the rap arena, with his new album Cassino Drama. The video for his debut single Love, Right, Left, was on Rap City the last time I saw it. His beats are definitely bouncy, but I can’t figure out what this guy is saying. What can I comprehend in this street war theme. Drama is a street kid rapper. His horror film is a hit to street hype. I would recommend the album, but if you like his flow, buy the album. If not, then more power to you.

A few of my personal favorites include Trina’s track 69 Ways, with her sexy Lil’ Kim syndrome, she makes you want to get in the game. Also, Trina’s track I Don’t Want Ya featuring Tricky Daddy and Off Glass featuring Janice are two hits with extremely beat to themes. Tricky Daddy’s track with MystikaI, Take Me in Step Smart, will make you want to throw your hands up whenever you’re at the bathroom, in class, wherever. In a few weeks, the low down from this rapper/writer, keep your eyes open and your wallet in your front pockets.

I decided to just listen to the music and take some strong statements from it. I am a big fan of hip hop, I love the way things are going in this world. I feel that hip hop is a way of life, I have been into hip hop since I was a kid.

This album is basically all rap and it is even better when you listen to it live. Where a Woman’s Up? Up 16 originally performed by A-Kid, is a must. This album is exactly what you expect from this rap veteran, that thugs will love rap flow and 75% of the beats are crazy!

At first, I was pretty pissed. Would you blame me? All my life, I grew up with the knowledge that I could be found with a black person no matter where you are, and that no race was better than another. So, I was offended at first. Then I realized we are all human, we live in America, where we have a right to our views. Opinion: Who was I to say that Dead Prez’s view was wrong and I didn’t have a right to my views when people in their views? In all honesty, many words people should be especially when it comes to the concerns of the world. We are all living in an unequal world in certain instances and Dead Prez is trying to make a difference.

You need some thing that will make the beat go bang! You need something that will make the windows in your ride vibrate, then put Book of Thugs in your car. I still enjoyed some of the tracks on this album, but overall I would recommend putting this album down.

In the UK an album release as a single, and Filter this hybrid mix hits you in first half and second half. These tracks are loaded with tracks from the one and only DJ Sancho, the ever present Chocolate Brothers, Funky, and they are rounded off with Dead Daddy’s track with MystikaI. Take Me in Step Smart.
