Minimum Standards Set For CUNY
By Adam Ostaszewski
News Editor

On May 22nd, the CUNY Board of Trustees approved a resolution for the establishment of minimal standards for health services at each of its campuses.

"All colleges will be required to provide health and wellness awareness education, administer and manage the immunization program, maintain health and wellness awareness education, and administer first aid treatment that includes over-the-counter medication," stated the resolution. In order to assess its existing health services and identify the areas that may require changes or improvements, individual colleges will conduct surveys and then collaborate to ensure that the standards are maintained throughout all of CUNY.

However, health is only the first in See MINIMUM, Page 3

Race For Space Begins at Site B
By Vanessa Witensko
News Editor

On Thursday, October 19, during club hours, the Baruch community gathered to witness the unveiling of the floor plans for the new academic complex (referred to as Site B).

Those present were able to find their exact location in the new building and view its completed layout. "Each office located on the plan has your name," said Philip Logan, Project Coordinator for the Academic Complex's Furniture and Equipment Program. There were also swatches of fabric, and pictures of the new office furniture for faculty.

Once the curtains were removed and the floor plans were made visible, there were mixed reactions from those present.

Of those present, some were ecstatic about the new building's layout. "The new building is fabulous. All services are together, and students will be more invited and inclusive," said Julie Augustin, from the Center of Advisement and Orientation.

Mixed Reactions To Allocation of Space
Part 1 of Space Race Series

Black and Hispanic Studies Chair Resigns
By Graceann Hall
Managing Editor

The Black and Hispanic Studies Department has lost its chairman. Dr. Arthur Lewin, who resigned after the administration requested his resignation. He remains in the department as a tenured professor.

It is unclear, however, whether the college's administration asked the professor to step down. Lewin would not comment on the reason for this measure. However, he did say he did not believe the reason given.

The Ticker contacted the office of Baruch College President Edward Regan, but was told that the president was traveling. When asked by The Ticker if the president would be available for a comment the following day, David Barto, the president's assistant, said that he did not expect to hear from the president. However, when contacted the next day, Regan and Barto were in a meeting. Neither returned several messages.

Lewin's resignation comes as a blow to an embattled department that has long complained about under-
Students Making a Difference: NY Cares Day

By Jennifer Clevenger
Corresponding Editor

October 14th was New York Cares Day, an annual event in the city. A total of 3000 volunteers, including 50 Baruch students helped beautify schools. The Baruch students came from Golden Key, Phi ETA Sigma, and in campus community service advocates. Krista Stoddard, as officer of Phi ETA Sigma, was Baruch’s coordinator this year.

At eight in the morning, Baruch students assembled at Bryant Park to receive guidelines on the different initiatives. The group was divided among the 13 different initiatives. Baruch students were sent by bus to various locations throughout the city. Upon arrival, Baruch volunteers immediately went to work. They planted flower bulbs, sold used textbooks, and painted murals in the schoolyard. Michelle Allen, with Philadelphia in hand, praised the Baruch administration about giving back to the community. Meeting concerned students who really want to make a difference is always a great experience. I just wish I had been able to have been a part of the fun too.

Minimum Standards Forthcoming for Student Services

Minimum Standards for Student Services from New York City, and therefore the college and faculty need to provide them with services at CUNY’s expense. As a result, during the spring term, CUNY students have been able to take advantage of these services.

Currently, as with standards, there is a high variability from campus to campus in how student services are defined. At one campus, Advisement and Financial Aid might be included under the heading of student services, whereas at another college they may not. Baruch, student services monographs the following: Career Development Center (Office of Disabilities, SEEK, Counseling Center, Health Center, Child Care, and Office of Campus Life). It’s very difficult to achieve compatibility among all these student services.

Johnson spoke to Lewin about developing interdepartmental cooperation. Wilson will be moved to the English and History departments simultaneously. Unfortunately, Baruch’s Black and Hispanic students are left without proper funding.

Baruch Career is an offshoot of the Office of Career Development, Counseling Services, and Student Services. Samuel Johnson, University Registrar, according to Vice President of Student Affairs, minced words and said that the Baruch’s administration has prevented him from hiring new staff to accommodate the growth of the student population.

According to Lewin, Baruch’s administration has pressured him to hire new staff or face those who wished. He did not say any other dean specifically.

“Unfortunately, this has become a more in higher education because there has been a scarcity of talent, not only because of the competition between schools but throughout the country. In the city, courses offered by the Black and Hispanic studies department are not part of the Baruch curriculum. The high staff turnover is because there is a turnover by this department is a new one.

According to Lewin, students should allow the Black and Hispanic students departments when he tried to develop interdisciplinary cooperation, this would allow the Black and Hispanic students department to retire: Professor of Accounting.

The college administration has spoken to Lewin regarding the lack of financial aid. Lewis said to Lewin about developing interdisciplinary cooperation. Wilson will be moved to the English and History departments simultaneously. Unfortunately, Baruch’s Black and Hispanic students are left without proper funding. The college administration has spoken to Lewin regarding the lack of financial aid. Lewis said to Lewin about developing interdisciplinary cooperation.

The college administration has spoken to Lewin regarding the lack of financial aid. Lewis said to Lewin about developing interdisciplinary cooperation. Wilson will be moved to the English and History departments simultaneously. Unfortunately, Baruch’s Black and Hispanic students are left without proper funding. The college administration has spoken to Lewin regarding the lack of financial aid. Lewis said to Lewin about developing interdisciplinary cooperation. Wilson will be moved to the English and History departments simultaneously. Unfortunately, Baruch’s Black and Hispanic students are left without proper funding.

Future of Dept. Under: Exclusion leads to Discontent

There are 29 club offices, but that is not the only reason. There is a lack of communication and students are split amongst the undergraduates. Clubs are being dissolved due to lack of support. Students are not united. If they are, then there is a lack of communication. There are 29 club offices, but that is not the only reason. There is a lack of communication and students are split amongst the undergraduates. Clubs are being dissolved due to lack of support. Students are not united.

There are differences in opinion from students and faculty about the standard’s new floor plans. The groups have been included in the process of allocating space. Baruch students were sent by bus to various locations throughout the city. Upon arrival, Baruch volunteers immediately went to work. They planted flower bulbs, sold used textbooks, and painted murals in the schoolyard. Michelle Allen, with Philadelphia in hand, praised the Baruch administration about giving back to the community. Meeting concerned students who really want to make a difference is always a great experience. I just wish I had been able to have been a part of the fun too.

The new building’s floor plans will be on display until mid-November. There are additional questions or comments about the new building. If there are any questions or comments, please contact: http://baruch.cuny.edu/cfo/oasp.

The Gorin Key Honor Society at Baruch has plans to improve the community. A Midnight party for children, a domestic shelter was planned for the end of October, and several volunteer programs are being represented on a weekly basis.

This past month has truly been amazing. The volunteers of Baruch College gave so much to their community, and truly hope that they join us again for future events, and Golden Key President Jennifer Dung.
Planning a trip?
Go the smart way, right from home.
Call 1-800-AIR-RIDE or visit our Web site at www.panynj.gov

Didn't your mother ever tell you not to take a ride from strangers?

you return, stop at the Ground Transportation Information Desk in the baggage claim area to make arrangements for the return home. The Port Authority wants to help make your whole trip as safe and affordable as possible.

And we know your mother would approve.

Baruch's Writer-in-Residence Edward Albee Counts the Ways.

By Hasani Gittens
Senior Staff Writer

Edward Albee is the current "Sidney Harmon Writer-in-Residence" at Baruch. Every year, the two-member cast of Albee's "Counting the Ways" reading out the play in the 7th floor Conference Center of 25th St. on Thursday, October 26th.

The event turned "standing room only" to make your whole trip as safe and affordable, as possible.

Planning a trip?
Go the smart way, right from home.
Call 1-800-AIR-RIDE or visit our Web site at www.panynj.gov

Didn't your mother ever tell you not to take a ride from strangers?

you return, stop at the Ground Transportation Information Desk in the baggage claim area to make arrangements for the return home. The Port Authority wants to help make your whole trip as safe and affordable as possible.

And we know your mother would approve.

Baruch's Writer-in-Residence Edward Albee Counts the Ways.

By Hasani Gittens
Senior Staff Writer

Edward Albee is the current "Sidney Harmon Writer-in-Residence" at Baruch. Every year, the two-member cast of Albee's "Counting the Ways" reading out the play in the 7th floor Conference Center of 25th St. on Thursday, October 26th.

The event turned "standing room only" to make your whole trip as safe and affordable, as possible.

Planning a trip?
Go the smart way, right from home.
Call 1-800-AIR-RIDE or visit our Web site at www.panynj.gov

Didn't your mother ever tell you not to take a ride from strangers?

you return, stop at the Ground Transportation Information Desk in the baggage claim area to make arrangements for the return home. The Port Authority wants to help make your whole trip as safe and affordable as possible.

And we know your mother would approve.

Baruch's Writer-in-Residence Edward Albee Counts the Ways.

By Hasani Gittens
Senior Staff Writer

Edward Albee is the current "Sidney Harmon Writer-in-Residence" at Baruch. Every year, the two-member cast of Albee's "Counting the Ways" reading out the play in the 7th floor Conference Center of 25th St. on Thursday, October 26th.

The event turned "standing room only" to make your whole trip as safe and affordable, as possible.

Planning a trip?
Go the smart way, right from home.
Call 1-800-AIR-RIDE or visit our Web site at www.panynj.gov

Didn't your mother ever tell you not to take a ride from strangers?

you return, stop at the Ground Transportation Information Desk in the baggage claim area to make arrangements for the return home. The Port Authority wants to help make your whole trip as safe and affordable as possible.

And we know your mother would approve.

Baruch's Writer-in-Residence Edward Albee Counts the Ways.

By Hasani Gittens
Senior Staff Writer

Edward Albee is the current "Sidney Harmon Writer-in-Residence" at Baruch. Every year, the two-member cast of Albee's "Counting the Ways" reading out the play in the 7th floor Conference Center of 25th St. on Thursday, October 26th.

The event turned "standing room only" to make your whole trip as safe and affordable, as possible.

Planning a trip?
Go the smart way, right from home.
Call 1-800-AIR-RIDE or visit our Web site at www.panynj.gov

Didn't your mother ever tell you not to take a ride from strangers?

you return, stop at the Ground Transportation Information Desk in the baggage claim area to make arrangements for the return home. The Port Authority wants to help make your whole trip as safe and affordable as possible.

And we know your mother would approve.
The Roxy Reporter
You think it. We write it. You read it.

The week, students were asked their opinions on the recent "end of the year" issue of the paper. Here are some of the highlights.

The Questions:
Q1: "Vote apathy in the US is extremely high, particularly among younger voters, why do you think that is?"

Name: Luis
Major: Accounting
Registered to vote: Yes
It's not that young people don't care, but they don't feel that their vote makes a difference. They think that it's just a number game. For example, if we go to the Elephant College. When it comes down to it, the election is not about the person, it's about the numbers.

Q2: "Yes, I am somewhat educated on the issues, but knows what to study more about the election. The school should provide students with the election information, and learn about the issue. Also, I think more focus should be placed on voter education in political science classes.

Name: Danny
Major: Finance
Registered to vote: Yes

Q3: "I don't think I'm going to vote at all this year. I understand the process and the benefits, but I don't think it's worth the time. The presidential candidates are not at the top of my list, and I don't want to waste my time.

Name: Kevin
Major: Finance
Registered to vote: Yes

Final Thought:
"The politicians and their campaigns are unable to relate to us. These problems are related to the disconnectedness of American citizens. Probably it would be best to put more resources and energy into making the election more engaging, and to get involved.

Name: Yves
Major: Marketing
Status: Junior
Registered to vote: Yes

Baruch Students Study Abroad
Being a Baruch Student Doesn't Confine You to Baruch
By Odette Odik and Yasmin Wong
On Thursday, Sept. 21 the Baruch College Study Abroad Fair took place in the 7 floor Common area of the 21 college building. At the event, which was hosted by The Weissman Center, numerous students from different universities were able to explore opportunities that CUNY offers to study abroad. Richard Boyd, coordinator of the Study abroad program, pointed out that the current situation is a result of the recent CUTA-ACRC voting dilemma and effort to help students become global citizens.

Baruch currently offers two types of programs that enable students to study abroad. First, there is the exchange program, which has the advantage of being free. The other option is to pay the tuition of a foreign university in which the student enrolls. Both programs allow students to earn credits at Baruch. The exchange program is run through an agreement with the foreign university or program. Currently there are over 20 institutions that have agreements with Baruch. In addition, many students choose to study in other countries where they do not have agreements with Baruch. In the United States, there are a wide variety of options available.

The Teachers:
"The students that go abroad learn about different cultures and ways of life. They also learn about the importance of having a global perspective.

Name: Danielle
Major: Accounting
Registered to vote: Yes

Question 1: Do you think that you will be studying abroad in the future?

Answer: No, I don't think that I will be studying abroad in the future.

Question 2: Do you think that you will be studying abroad in the future?

Answer: Yes, I think that I will be studying abroad in the future.

Baruch Students Study Abroad
Being a Baruch Student Doesn't Confine You to Baruch

By Odette Odik and Yasmin Wong
On Thursday, Sept. 21 the Baruch College Study Abroad Fair took place in the 7 floor Common area of the 21 college building. At the event, which was hosted by The Weissman Center, numerous students from different universities were able to explore opportunities that CUNY offers to study abroad. Richard Boyd, coordinator of the Study abroad program, pointed out that the current situation is a result of the recent CUTA-ACRC voting dilemma and effort to help students become global citizens.

Baruch currently offers two types of programs that enable students to study abroad. First, there is the exchange program, which has the advantage of being free. The other option is to pay the tuition of a foreign university in which the student enrolls. Both programs allow students to earn credits at Baruch. The exchange program is run through an agreement with the foreign university or program. Currently there are over 20 institutions that have agreements with Baruch. In addition, many students choose to study in other countries where they do not have agreements with Baruch. In the United States, there are a wide variety of options available.

The Teachers:
"The students that go abroad learn about different cultures and ways of life. They also learn about the importance of having a global perspective.

Name: Danielle
Major: Accounting
Registered to vote: Yes

Question 1: Do you think that you will be studying abroad in the future?

Answer: No, I don't think that I will be studying abroad in the future.

Question 2: Do you think that you will be studying abroad in the future?

Answer: Yes, I think that I will be studying abroad in the future.

Baruch Students Study Abroad
Being a Baruch Student Doesn't Confine You to Baruch

By Odette Odik and Yasmin Wong
On Thursday, Sept. 21 the Baruch College Study Abroad Fair took place in the 7 floor Common area of the 21 college building. At the event, which was hosted by The Weissman Center, numerous students from different universities were able to explore opportunities that CUNY offers to study abroad. Richard Boyd, coordinator of the Study abroad program, pointed out that the current situation is a result of the recent CUTA-ACRC voting dilemma and effort to help students become global citizens.

Baruch currently offers two types of programs that enable students to study abroad. First, there is the exchange program, which has the advantage of being free. The other option is to pay the tuition of a foreign university in which the student enrolls. Both programs allow students to earn credits at Baruch. The exchange program is run through an agreement with the foreign university or program. Currently there are over 20 institutions that have agreements with Baruch. In addition, many students choose to study in other countries where they do not have agreements with Baruch. In the United States, there are a wide variety of options available.

The Teachers:
"The students that go abroad learn about different cultures and ways of life. They also learn about the importance of having a global perspective.

Name: Danielle
Major: Accounting
Registered to vote: Yes

Question 1: Do you think that you will be studying abroad in the future?

Answer: No, I don't think that I will be studying abroad in the future.

Question 2: Do you think that you will be studying abroad in the future?

Answer: Yes, I think that I will be studying abroad in the future.

Baruch Students Study Abroad
Being a Baruch Student Doesn't Confine You to Baruch

By Odette Odik and Yasmin Wong
On Thursday, Sept. 21 the Baruch College Study Abroad Fair took place in the 7 floor Common area of the 21 college building. At the event, which was hosted by The Weissman Center, numerous students from different universities were able to explore opportunities that CUNY offers to study abroad. Richard Boyd, coordinator of the Study abroad program, pointed out that the current situation is a result of the recent CUTA-ACRC voting dilemma and effort to help students become global citizens.

Baruch currently offers two types of programs that enable students to study abroad. First, there is the exchange program, which has the advantage of being free. The other option is to pay the tuition of a foreign university in which the student enrolls. Both programs allow students to earn credits at Baruch. The exchange program is run through an agreement with the foreign university or program. Currently there are over 20 institutions that have agreements with Baruch. In addition, many students choose to study in other countries where they do not have agreements with Baruch. In the United States, there are a wide variety of options available.

The Teachers:
"The students that go abroad learn about different cultures and ways of life. They also learn about the importance of having a global perspective.

Name: Danielle
Major: Accounting
Registered to vote: Yes

Question 1: Do you think that you will be studying abroad in the future?

Answer: No, I don't think that I will be studying abroad in the future.

Question 2: Do you think that you will be studying abroad in the future?

Answer: Yes, I think that I will be studying abroad in the future.
A Silent Dance

With a cap on his head and an armful of prizes, newly appointed Baruch President Ned Regan walked about at last semester’s Spring Fling, giving the impression that he would be the perfect president for the administration and the students. However, after a few short weeks in this role, Regan, the student-friendly president, has made every effort to distort that image.

The lines of communication between him and those who represent the voice of the students have been closed.

While attempts have been made to open up a relationship with the executive of the "flagship" CUNY school, our patience has only come off as buzzing. The dazzling game that has been played with the media has also been extended to the faculty, where it has been made known that the future of the Black and Hispanics studies department has now been put in limbo.

Many would say that the future of a major department at Baruch is an important enough issue to warrant an immediate meeting but at press time, four scheduled meetings between students and Baruch's newly appointed president had been postponed.

In order to continue the building, the foreman must be the one to lay that first brick.

Stepping Up To Standards

When it was decided that student services were to be placed at the bottom of the pecking order in CUNY's hierarchy of programs,

One would think that the introduction of higher learning such as CUNY would appreciate those that make it what it is.

By letting the standards of its constituents down, CUNY has done all except take the student's lunches and leave them crying for better service.

The past decade has seen each CUNY college try to regulate it's own student services, perhaps foreseeing such a destiny. CUNY decided to step in and set forth a few resolutions aimed at not only improving but unifying the standards for student services.

Perhaps foreseeing such a destiny, CUNY decided to step in and set forth a few resolutions aimed at not only improving but unifying the standards for student services.

With such a resolution set, there would be no worries over funding being pirated from health and wellness programs and transferred to another program.

Before the onset of such a resolution, the president would have had any and all power to take such a student service and give to the already fat pockets of academic services.

What happened is the seemingly free-going, easy approach Regan since the Spring Fling.

The construction of the bridge between the administration and the students has been put on hold and students will have no voice in being benefited by this game of silent, go seek.

In order to continue the building, the foreman must be the one to lay that first brick.

Women's Conditions in the Workplace: One Woman's Story

Women's problems in the workplace are not brand new, nor are they easily solved. Even if women were treated fairly in the workplace, they still pass through the same obstacles as men. In Baruch, women are no exception.

The harrowing tale of a woman's fight for equal treatment at Baruch is one that should make anyone think twice about their actions in the workplace.

It is time that Baruch and women who work for Baruch begin to address these issues.

"Baruch College is systematically whitewashing the department, and that was just the last straw," said Arthur Lewin, a former member of the Baruch College faculty.

Stepping Up To Standards

When it was decided that student services were to be placed at the bottom of the pecking order in CUNY's hierarchy of programs,

One would think that the introduction of higher learning such as CUNY would appreciate those that make it what it is.

By letting the standards of its constituents down, CUNY has done all except take the student's lunches and leave them crying for better service.

The past decade has seen each CUNY college try to regulate it's own student services, perhaps foreseeing such a destiny. CUNY decided to step in and set forth a few resolutions aimed at not only improving but unifying the standards for student services.

Perhaps foreseeing such a destiny, CUNY decided to step in and set forth a few resolutions aimed at not only improving but unifying the standards for student services.

With such a resolution set, there would be no worries over funding being pirated from health and wellness programs and transferred to another program.

Before the onset of such a resolution, the president would have had any and all power to take such a student service and give to the already fat pockets of academic services.

The standardization of student service will benefit to the heart and soul of CUNY.

It is important to beef up our academic service, making sure the needs of the student are met. Is it possible to continue on such a road, where there would be no sort of interaction?

What can we do to ensure that our students are treated fairly?

Women's Conditions in the Workplace: One Woman's Story

Women's problems in the workplace are not brand new, nor are they easily solved. Even if women were treated fairly in the workplace, they still pass through the same obstacles as men. In Baruch, women are no exception.

The harrowing tale of a woman's fight for equal treatment at Baruch is one that should make anyone think twice about their actions in the workplace.

"Baruch College is systematically whitewashing the department, and that was just the last straw," said Arthur Lewin, a former member of the Baruch College faculty.
Deferring taxes with TIAA-CREF can be so rewarding, you’ll wonder why you didn’t do it sooner.

Peace and Blessings my people. As I flipped through the Ticket I wasn’t exactly sure what I was looking for. I was unenlightened by the usual "Ticket to Heaven"多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多多哆
By Ovid Sanders

Storytelling: The Art of Persuasion

After plunging from a high of 135 in a low of 12 3/4 in a mere nine months, Internet advertising reliability company DoubleClick is racing to keep up with boom times.

After reporting quarterly disappointments and mediocre profits, virtually every major Internet company has scurried to improve their advertising revenue. But DoubleClick, a leader because of its reliability, is working on its new strategies for the first time in its history.

Despite the good news, DoubleClick's stock continued to rise, up to the downside during the middle of the week. The company's market capitalization was once again, for the second time, above 10 billion.

DoubleClick saw the optimum rate of earnings after the stock, which is the company's stock, moved up 20 points in a mere nine months. On the week of Tuesday, October 18, in which it has yet to realized.

DoubleClick has been a leader in the field of advertising, marketing, sales, and Internet users around the world. The company's double-digit numbers around the clock. Enough sound.

This may explain why 90 percent of the 1,100 plus companies that signed up with DoubleClick are now Internet-based but full-sized brick-and-mortar companies. That's very different from a couple of years ago, when nearly every company that advertised on the Internet was itself an Internet company.

DoubleClick is a leader because it is one of the few companies that are still growing at a rate competitive with the Internet.
"BEST SEQUEL EVER! THIS IS THE SEQUEL 'SCREAM 2' WANTED TO BE"
WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL TEAM OUSTED IN FIRST ROUND

Just one season after winning the CUNY and Hudson Valley tournaments, the women's volleyball team's season came to a disappointing halt after the Stateswomen lost a tough quarterfinal match against CCNY. The team lost the match in five games: 15-11 (L); 15-1 (W); 15-10 (W); 15-10 (L); and 15-11 (L). With its fifth place positioning, the team had received a bye for the first round and fully expected to be the superior team against CCNY.

"It was a combination of inexperience and attrition," said head coach Jimmy Lam. He continued, "CCNY is not the first team that we have beaten in one game by a huge margin (15-1) and then we do not maintain that same consistency over the course of the set. We really never had a killer instinct and it showed when we faced seasoned teams. Additionally, we seemed to lose a lot of momentum toward the end of the season. Nonetheless, I still feel that we had all the components—we just came up short! We will learn from this year and hopefully grow because of it next year.

I would like to thank the entire team and in particular would like to wish my graduating senior, Marianna Papadopoulou, all the best. She truly exemplified what I have tried to teach this team!" The women's volleyball team finished with an 8-11 record, losing the last five games! Coach Lam thinks that if the season were a little longer his team would have gotten its second wind and changed its poor performance. He stressed that the goal has not changed for next year: return to the CUNY finals and win! With all his players returning except for sensational outside hitter, Marianna Papadopoulou, the team is on the right track.

In related news, Marianna Papadopoulou was named to the CUNY First Team All-Stars and Jeanette Espinoza was named to the CUNY Second Team All-Stars.

WOMEN'S TENNIS TEAM COMES IN THIRD

After a very strong regular-season finish, the women's tennis team found itself tied for fourth place in the conference with Brooklyn and CCNY at a 3-4 record. The team could not be happier going into the CUNY tournament. After a terrible beginning, the team was in good shape to make a mark!

In the semi-final round, Tanya Kozioloukka played the number five singles and lost 10-5. The number two spot was played by Arlena Asweung who lost the match 10-6. Jessica Rubenstein and Asweung played a doubles match that they lost 8-2. While the scores do not reflect it, the two girls played very well.

Two Baruch girls played in the championship round and essentially propelled Baruch to its third place finish. Barbara Bockowski and Ma Qin of Baruch lost a doubles match against Mcbride and Peranos of Hunter: 7-5 (L); 3-6 (W); and 6-0 (L). Barbara Boczowski lost a singles match to jets Chavez-Geller of Hunter: 6-2 and 6-3. Baruch College wound up with 19 pts.; Arnold Zelaya - six assists and 12 pts.; Pablo Luna - three assists and 11 pts. Even more impressive is that these three players played in only half the games that the other CUNY soccer leaders played!

This lack of team players during the season really hindered the Statesmen's ability and arguable cost the team the season. The team knew it had the tools, but never had the opportunity to establish a consistent repertoire. 'How can any team survive under these conditions?'

To Baruch's chagrin, York had other plans! In one of their more impressive performances of the season, York defeated Baruch 3-0. Marc Meeo, a junior forward from Haiti scored two of the Cardinals' goals, one in the 23rd minute on a through ball from Mark James and the second in the 72nd minute on a cross from Rene Nova. Alex Proano scored York's other goal on a corner kick that went untouched. Freshman Stephane Koutoud earned his fifth shutout of the season. At press time, York advances to face CCNY in the semifinals.

Baruch would end its season with a 3-5 conference record and a 6-8 overall record, having lost four games in a roll. The overall consensus by the team is that it was "just one of those days." Consider if you will, the Statesmen had a very strong defense and three players in the top 10 CUNY soccer leaders category: Omar Ayad — eight assists and 16 pts.; Arnold Zelaya — six assists and 12 pts.; and Pablo Luna — three assists and 11 pts. Even more impressive is that these three players played in only half the games that the other CUNY soccer leaders played!

This lack of team players during the season really hindered the Statesmen's ability and arguably cost the team the season. The team knew it had the tools, but never had the opportunity to establish a consistent repertoire. How can any team survive under these conditions?

Coach Petar Mrkic noted that his team was extremely hard working and he certainly was disappointed that the team did not advance. But all things said and done, he is proud of his team and wishes his graduating seniors well. There is always next year!

In related news, Omar Ayad was named to the CUNY second Team All-Stars.

SEASON ENDS FOR MEN'S SOCCER TEAM

After a mediocre regular season, the men's soccer team approached the playoffs with the hope that it would "make some noise." The fifth-seeded Statesmen would have their entire roster, a luxury this season, and so the morale was high for the match-up against fourth-seeded York. Most fans know that fourth and fifth seeds are virtually interchangeable. To Baruch's chagrin, York had other plans!

In one of their more impressive performances of the season, York defeated Baruch 3-0. Marc Meeo, a junior forward from Haiti scored two of the Cardinals' goals, one in the 23rd minute on a through ball from Mark James and the second in the 72nd minute on a cross from Rene Nova. Alex Proano scored York's other goal on a corner kick that went untouched. Freshman Stephane Koutoud earned his fifth shutout of the season. At press time, York advances to face CCNY in the semifinals.

Baruch sports fans can now log on to the Baruch website (http://www.baruch.cuny.edu) and under "student life" they can find weekly sports news about the college. Coach interviews and player bios will also be available!

E-mail the sports editor to write for Ticker Sports!

kpious@yahoo.com

CUNY SECOND TEAM ALL-STAR

Jeanette Espinoza
FROSH

This marks Espinoza's first debut into the all-star category and probably because she is only a freshman. Espinoza is a setter from New York, NY. Espinoza led CUNY in service aces per game and was in the top three in assists per game.

MEN'S SOCCER: CUNY SECOND TEAM ALL-STAR

Omar Ayad

Ayad has had a stellar season. Ayad has been in the top 10 CUNY soccer leaders category throughout the season. The midfielder ended up with eight assists and 16 pts. Last year Ayad led CUNY in scoring, but this year his play was stunted by lack of games played.

ARRIVED:

Baruch sports fans can now log on to the Baruch website (http://www.baruch.cuny.edu) and under "student life" they can find weekly sports news about the college. Coach interviews and player bios will also be available!

E-mail the sports editor to write for Ticker Sports!

kpious@yahoo.com

SEASON ENDS FOR MEN'S SOCCER TEAM

After a mediocre regular season, the men's soccer team approached the playoffs with the hope that it would "make some noise." The fifth-seeded Statesmen would have their entire roster, a luxury this season, and so the morale was high for the match-up against fourth-seeded York. Most fans know that fourth and fifth seeds are virtually interchangeable. To Baruch's chagrin, York had other plans!

In one of their more impressive performances of the season, York defeated Baruch 3-0. Marc Meeo, a junior forward from Haiti scored two of the Cardinals' goals, one in the 23rd minute on a through ball from Mark James and the second in the 72nd minute on a cross from Rene Nova. Alex Proano scored York's other goal on a corner kick that went untouched. Freshman Stephane Koutoud earned his fifth shutout of the season. At press time, York advances to face CCNY in the semifinals.

Baruch would end its season with a 3-5 conference record and a 6-8 overall record, having lost four games in a roll. The overall consensus by the team is that it was "just one of those days." Consider if you will, the Statesmen had a very strong defense and three players in the top 10 CUNY soccer leaders category: Omar Ayad — eight assists and 16 pts.; Arnold Zelaya — six assists and 12 pts.; and Pablo Luna — three assists and 11 pts. Even more impressive is that these three players played in only half the games that the other CUNY soccer leaders played!

This lack of team players during the season really hindered the Statesmen's ability and arguably cost the team the season. The team knew it had the tools, but never had the opportunity to establish a consistent repertoire. How can any team survive under these conditions?

Coach Petar Mrkic noted that his team was extremely hard working and he certainly was disappointed that the team did not advance. But all things said and done, he is proud of his team and wishes his graduating seniors well. There is always next year!

In related news, Omar Ayad was named to the CUNY second Team All-Stars.