Honors College Gets Approval
Baruch and Beyond
By Edward Ellis
Consulting Writer

The City University of New York has begun recruiting 100 students to participate in the Honors College. The $5 million project is set to begin in fall 2001. The program will target students with a 1350 SAT score in addition to other criteria.

Members of the Honors College will study at Baruch, Brooklyn, City, Hunter and Queens senior colleges and receive special benefits, including free tuition, a laptop computer, a $7,500 "academic spending account," and privileged access to New York's cultural attractions, such as Carnegie Hall.

It is unclear how this initiative will fit into existing honors programs, critics of the Honors College argue that such lavish spending to benefit such a small group (about least a 1350 SAT score in addition to other criteria) is a waste of resources. Critics argue that the project's goals are unclear and that the money could be better spent elsewhere.

See HONORS, Page 7

President Speaks at Leadership Weekend

Baruch President Edward Regan speaks to students during a Town Meeting at the 17th annual Leadership Weekend, held in Pawling, NY. Regan commented on a variety of issues. (photo/ Hubert Reyes)

By Adam Ostatzewski

News Editor

Addressing a crowd of more than 100 student leaders at the 17th annual Leadership Weekend, Baruch President Edward Regan responded to the recent controversy surrounding the resignation of Black and Hispanic Studies Department Chair Arthur Lewin.

Regan failed to address the resignation of Lewin, but mentioned the recent resignation on another professor of the same department. "She resigned against my urging," said Regan, referring to Professor Martha Vega. Lewin recently told The Ticker that the president asked for his resignation for reasons which he could not disclose. He did say, however, that he did not believe the reasons that were presented to him.

In response to student concerns about the future of the department, Regan indicated that all three attempts to meet with the department's remaining three professors were unsuccessful. According to Lewin, the president cancelled all three meetings.

"The department has not had a great history at Baruch—but in fact it's had a bad one," said Regan. "My goal is to strengthen it." Regan even alluded to the department's initiative to add a Caribbean Studies department.

Regan expects that Baruch will continue to improve in every way. He noted that the SAT scores of incoming freshmen, as well as starting salaries for Baruch graduates are on the rise. Regan sees Baruch continuing along "on the same trajectory we are on now."

Regan announced plans to solve Baruch's infamous problem: a lacking sense of community and campus atmosphere. "We are recruiting [three competing student teams] from the City College Urban Architecture Department for a competition for finding the best way to build a campus environment," said Regan.

With the arrival of the new academic complex and end of the 18th and See PRESIDENT, Page 7

Newly-Leased Building Dredges Up More Space Problems

Information Center or Admissions Center?
Part 2 of Space Race Series
By Vanessa Witenko

News Editor

Baruch has acquired more space, and questions have been raised to the proper allocation of space, and the true purposes of the allocated space. A new leased building will be located at 137 E 25 ST. West of the William and Anita Newman Library. The building is an addition to site B (the new building across the street from the Newman Library). Construction of 137 E 25 ST. building is expected to begin in December, and the first and third floors are scheduled to open in Spring 2001.

The building consists of nine floors, which will be leased; however, the second and fourth floor have been leased to Baruch. Amongst the nine floors will be a Health Center and the Health Center Office for International Students. and additional conference rooms.

The first floor will be the permanent location of the Information Center and the Health Center. The Information Center offers forms from the different offices at Baruch. In addition, the Information Center will process these forms. Such forms include add/drop, change of address, and petition for graduation. This will eliminate the problems of students going back and forth from office to office. The Information Center is being started by Jim Murphy, Director of Admissions and Financial Aid.

Currently there is the Information Desk in the lobby of the Newman Library, which handles the tasks. The question was raised as to why the Information Desk needs to be moved into a separate building, and called the Information Center. According to Murphy the current location raises problems for student's privacy.

"The location for the information desk has terrible acoustics. This raises privacy issues, because when conversing at the information desk one must continuously raise their voice in order to be heard," said Murphy.

Not all agree with Murphy's reasoning. "I have no difficulty hearing students, it's the library where most students speak low," said Mildred Castillo Information Desk coordinator.

Castillo does not believe the questions asked need privacy. The majority of questions that the Information Desk answers concern deadlines and requirements. "If I notice the topic is becoming more personal I will direct them upstairs where they can speak to someone confidential," said Castillo.

Vice-President Sam Johnson agrees with Castillo's reasoning. "As a general information center, privacy is not needed," said Johnson. Privacy only becomes an issue when the discussion is about financial records.

The purpose of the information center is to prevent students from running around to different offices, however placing the information center in another building, where students would not normally pass through, creates another stop for students.

"The current location is good because there is a lot of traffic here," said Castillo. Students who enter the building must pass the Information Desk. It is more convenient for students. The Information Desk can easily direct the students upstairs to the correct office, and if there is a problem, the desk is in a convenient enough location for the students to return for further direction and information.

The expected Information Center in 137 E 25 St. building will have four offices and two telemarketing rooms. The occupancy of the offices still need to be determined, but are expected to be initially distributed among Admissions and Financial Aid.

One telemarketing room will be

See STUDENTS, Page 3

In Asylum:
Dangers of AOL, Poetry,
CD Reviews, Limp Bizkit Tour,
Ninth Tiger Strikes Again

In Business:
Presz Delay Affects Wall St.,
Professional Dress/Casual Dress?
NYC Vintage Thrifts Shops

In Features:
Roving Reporter,
Graduate Hour,
Leadership Weekend

See Page 9

In Op/Ed:
Exposure: Prof. Lewin's
Rebuttal, Call and Response,
Letter to Baruch and President

See Page 13

In STUDENTS, Page 15
Site of new HealthCare center located at this end of the new building.

Although it will be the Information Center, the blueprints suggest it will become the Admissions Office located at the front of the building.

Exam rooms and doctor’s offices will be located along this stretch.

This section of the floor will be used by the Office of International Students.

The conference rooms located on this floor as well as on the 3, 8 floors will be used as conference rooms for the first two years. If they go unused, they may become offices.

Second Floor Plan.

Ninth Floor of New Building Yet to Be Designed

Students Recommend Changes in Floor Plans

Continued From Front

used for a conference phone jack. The new phone system will resolve the problem for many people who called many times to call Baruch. Each phone will be transferred to different offices when the number of phones in the office is less than on the 2nd floor. The new phone system will prevent calls from being dissolved.

The purpose of the admissions office is to advise students in the process of applying for admission. Since the office will be occupied by admissions counselors, there are questions raised as to how many of the offices as in admissions, center in comparison to information centers.

The purpose of the office is to advise students on the procedures to apply to the college. Many students are required to complete the different programs offered to the college, and in order to receive the necessary information, they contact the admissions office, which provides information about the college.

The admissions office is responsible for the following functions: entering student data, maintaining the student information system, and providing information to students about the college.

The office has a web site that provides information about the college and the admissions process. The website is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The admissions office is responsible for the following functions:

- Entering student data
- Maintaining the student information system
- Providing information to students about the college
- Providing information to students about the admissions process

The office has a web site that provides information about the college and the admissions process. The website is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The admissions office is responsible for the following functions:

- Entering student data
- Maintaining the student information system
- Providing information to students about the college
- Providing information to students about the admissions process

The office has a web site that provides information about the college and the admissions process. The website is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The admissions office is responsible for the following functions:

- Entering student data
- Maintaining the student information system
- Providing information to students about the college
- Providing information to students about the admissions process

The office has a web site that provides information about the college and the admissions process. The website is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The admissions office is responsible for the following functions:

- Entering student data
- Maintaining the student information system
- Providing information to students about the college
- Providing information to students about the admissions process

The office has a web site that provides information about the college and the admissions process. The website is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The admissions office is responsible for the following functions:

- Entering student data
- Maintaining the student information system
- Providing information to students about the college
- Providing information to students about the admissions process

The office has a web site that provides information about the college and the admissions process. The website is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The admissions office is responsible for the following functions:

- Entering student data
- Maintaining the student information system
- Providing information to students about the college
- Providing information to students about the admissions process

The office has a web site that provides information about the college and the admissions process. The website is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The admissions office is responsible for the following functions:

- Entering student data
- Maintaining the student information system
- Providing information to students about the college
- Providing information to students about the admissions process

The office has a web site that provides information about the college and the admissions process. The website is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The admissions office is responsible for the following functions:

- Entering student data
- Maintaining the student information system
- Providing information to students about the college
- Providing information to students about the admissions process

The office has a web site that provides information about the college and the admissions process. The website is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The admissions office is responsible for the following functions:

- Entering student data
- Maintaining the student information system
- Providing information to students about the college
- Providing information to students about the admissions process

The office has a web site that provides information about the college and the admissions process. The website is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The admissions office is responsible for the following functions:

- Entering student data
- Maintaining the student information system
- Providing information to students about the college
- Providing information to students about the admissions process

The office has a web site that provides information about the college and the admissions process. The website is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week.
Samba. The Latin band Grupo Saveiro performed last week at the school. If a student finds that he or she is in need of preventative care for children, the amount as 40,000 CUNY students have children who may be eligible for this coverage. The program covers physicians exams, child health insurance. Under the new state sponsored program, Child Health Plus, children (under the age of 19) of CUNY students may be referred to medical centers like Brooklyn Hospital and the Beth Israel Singer Division.

September is STD Awareness Month. With the help of the Office of Student Life, the Health Center will try to spread safe sex awareness throughout the month. November is all of great opportunities for Baruch students. This month, there are more than enough incentives for students to be proactive about their health and to educate themselves. The Baruch College Health Center is the place on campus where students can go to get the information they need. The lowest cigarette prices are about their health.

Daniel Dance Connections Brings Samba to Baruch

By Annette Lewis
Cooper Union Senior

On Thursday, November 2nd, even the most dedicated accountant, or down-to-earth, non-enthusiastic Samba dancer, was thrilled to dance, while the Latin band performed at Baruch College. The event, which took place in room 1422 of the 360 PAS building, drew at least a hundred students.

The dance, which was free, was sponsored by Baruch's Department of Performing Arts. The event organizers, who were working on the ground floor of the college building, were happy to see so many people attending.

The event was part of a series of dance performances called Dance Connections. The program, which began three years ago, aims to expand students' cultural horizons by exposing them to various forms of dance.

The dance featured a variety of different styles, including Samba, which is popular in Brazil. The performers were all volunteers who loved dancing and wanted to share their love of music with others.

Overall, the event was a great success, with many students expressing their appreciation for the opportunity to dance. The organizers hope to continue hosting similar events in the future.
President Regan Addresses Student Issues

Continued From Front Page

President Regan sits with presidents of Lehman College, John Jay College and Hunter College as they discuss issues of concern to students.

The program is offered to CUNY faculty and staff who are interested in developing leadership skills and strengthening their professional development.

The program will be held at Baruch College and includes a combination of classroom instruction, case studies, and hands-on experience in leadership roles.

The program is open to all CUNY faculty and staff members, and is designed to help them develop the skills they need to succeed in leadership roles.

The program will be held in collaboration with the Center for Leadership Development and will be taught by experienced educators and professionals.

The program will be held from July 19, 2000 to August 25, 2000.

The program will be held at Baruch College, located at 340 E. 14th St., New York, NY 10003.
Subject to terms of Wireless service agreement and calling plan brochures. Nokia mail-In rebate: One rebate per purchase of a Nokia 8260. Requires you to send messages. Not available for purchase in all areas. You can only send messages when using the AT&T network and then only in select geographic areas. The maximum message length is 160 characters. For a limited time, get a $50 mail-in rebate with the purchase of the featured Nokia 8260. Phone."
In a recent Universum American Undergraduate Survey, business students selected us as their number one employer. We were also named one of the top companies to work for by the 2000 Annual Survey of Accounting Professors. So why is everyone giving us such high marks? Maybe it's our commitment to ongoing training and the challenge of new and exciting projects. Maybe it's the environment that fosters personal and professional growth and development. Or maybe, because when it's all added up, students and professors alike know that we really make the grade.

Worldco LLC
IVY LEAGUE, GRADS FROM TOP SCHOOLS
Wanted for position of Proprietary Equity Trader
worldcollc.com

Worldco LLC, a leading "self clearing" trading firm, seeks bright determined individuals with the drive and commitment to become successful traders.

For those with 3.6+ GPA's, a chance to trade with firm's capital, with no capital contribution of your own.

Seasoned risk management team and mentoring program gives you the right instruction and support.

Sponsorship for Series 7 and 55. Join other Ivy-League alumni in a thriving trading environment.

Fax resume and cover letter to 212-292-0246, ATTN: Magda Kaczorowska, or e-mail resume and letter to mkaczorowska@wldc.com

---

THE BEST APHRODISIAC IN NEW YORK!

THE DONKEY SHOW

---

---

---

---

---

---
Quote of the Week:

“The department has not a great history at Baruch—in fact its had a bad one, my goal is to strengthen it.”

— Ned Regan, Baruch President

To: Baruch and its President

The Unbearable Lightness of Existence

Serving the needs of students is not a motto that Baruch practices. We feel it everyday. We wait twenty minutes for an elevator. We waited one year, after students paid and voted for a Health Center. We continue to wait for our bathrooms to be cleaned. We wait for more psychological counselors as we watch students plummet to their death. We wait on the floor for our next class. We wait in the library with our eyes closed for that is the only location with couches. We wait and wait and wait.

We are told to wait for the new building and all of our problems will be solved, however more problems are arising with the new space.

Egos are determining the space for students, and not in what is in the interest for them.

Eight additional conference rooms in the new leased building do not serve the utilitarian good for Baruch students. Eight additional conference rooms do not serve the utilitarian good for Baruch students. Once admitted, it would be a rare interest for them.

We are told to wait for the new building and all of our problems will be solved, however more problems are arising with the new space.

Egos are determining the space for students, and not in what is in the interest for them.

Conveyance is what students want. Apathy is associated with laziness, existence is run by a disk. are welcome. and should be mailed to the above

Existence Ignorance is bliss, but we must ask for who. Students want a Health Center. This was said through a democratic vote. Conveyance is what students want. Apathy is associated with laziness, existence is run by a disk. are welcome. and should be mailed to the above

Founded on an idea that finally came in my mind was how he was planning to make the depart­ment but, rather to strengthen an academically-troubled department. The reason you have pushed forward was that you needed time to familiarize your­self with the way the school is run.

Hispanic Studies-half the department. The majority of the faculty of Baruch has been Latino students (and even here, the Latino student participation during "Leadership Weekend" that your knowledge of the school is very minimal.

It is interesting to note that many students report that the only time they use the Health Center is during "Leadership Weekend." A very resourceful and witty old man, I would say. His fragile, it has almost been a week since we came back from "Leadership Weekend" and the Health Center is the problem. You are calling for an interview. You have the question I have for the school you are considering to visit. I believe that students do not suffer from rush decisions made by you or the administr­ation.

Let us see what you will do for us. The opportunity you have is the opportunity you have. If you wish to respond in the Ticker, the deadline of every issue is Wednesday night.

— Frank Mangiarca

Solution to Death Penalty

A recent National Public Radio documenta­tion, "Women and Death" studied the effects of capital punishment in five states. The states included were; Arizona, Texas, California, Virginia, and New York. All five states have seen an increase in the use of capital punishment in the last ten years. The data is conclusive that capital punishment is cruel and unusual punishment and that it is not an effective method of deterrence.

The question never asks us whether we can afford an expensive capital punishment. The question asks us whether we can afford a better society.

We continue to wait for our next class. We wait in the library with our eyes closed for that is the only location with couches. We wait and wait and wait.

We are told to wait for the new building and all of our problems will be solved, however more problems are arising with the new space.

Egos are determining the space for students, and not in what is in the interest for them.
Chairman Omali explains that elections are a monopoly on power. He points out that the death penalty is also an example of monopoly, as it is a form of political struggle used to control the masses. Politics is war without bloodshed, and elections are the means by which the capitalist class maintains control.

There are currently 2.5 million people in prison in the United States, which makes this country's rate the highest in the world. In Africa, one in every three African men lives in a prison cell. This reflects the conditions under which the capitalist class maintains control.

The fact that they allow workers and colonized peoples to vote is a deliberate tactic to maintain the illusion of democracy. The capitalist class is a minority, and it is only through forms of severe measures that it can enforce its will on the masses.

Chairman Omali explains that elections are a form of political struggle and will move to other forms of struggle as necessary. The fact that they allow workers and colonized peoples to vote is a deliberate tactic to maintain the illusion of democracy. The capitalist class is a minority, and it is only through forms of severe measures that it can enforce its will on the masses.

The key is which side is the aggressor. There are currently 2.5 million people in prison in the United States, which makes this country's rate the highest in the world. In Africa, one in every three African men lives in a prison cell. This reflects the conditions under which the capitalist class maintains control.

The American government supports terrorism, and the weapons and artillery it provides are used against the people. They would not benefit politically by supporting their morals and principles to win their current living situation. The American government is a tool of the capitalist class.

The proceeds from the Vintage Thrift Shop are donated to the City Opera, the Brooklyn Lyric, St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, and other charities. The Vintage Thrift Shop is located in the Third Ward of Brooklyn. The City Opera is the Barneys of Vintage clothing and is located just around the corner. The proceeds from the Vintage Thrift Shop are donated to the City Opera, the Brooklyn Lyric, St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, and other charities. The Vintage Thrift Shop is located in the Third Ward of Brooklyn. The City Opera is the Barneys of Vintage clothing and is located just around the corner.

Delayed Presidential Decision Causes Losses on Wall Street.

The Dot-com Bust

Last February, Heidi G. Miller, the highest paid manager of the e-commerce giant Amazon.com, was named as the new chief executive officer of the company. The move was seen as a sign of the new direction the company was taking. The new executive was expected to focus on the company's future growth and to ensure that the company remained on track to achieve its goals.

However, the move was not without its challenges. The dot-com bubble had burst in the previous year, and the company was facing tough competition in the e-commerce space. The new executive was expected to steer the company through these difficult times.

The Dot-com Bust

Last February, Heidi G. Miller, the highest paid manager of the e-commerce giant Amazon.com, was named as the new chief executive officer of the company. The move was seen as a sign of the new direction the company was taking. The new executive was expected to focus on the company's future growth and to ensure that the company remained on track to achieve its goals.

However, the move was not without its challenges. The dot-com bubble had burst in the previous year, and the company was facing tough competition in the e-commerce space. The new executive was expected to steer the company through these difficult times.

The Dot-com Bust

Last February, Heidi G. Miller, the highest paid manager of the e-commerce giant Amazon.com, was named as the new chief executive officer of the company. The move was seen as a sign of the new direction the company was taking. The new executive was expected to focus on the company's future growth and to ensure that the company remained on track to achieve its goals.

However, the move was not without its challenges. The dot-com bubble had burst in the previous year, and the company was facing tough competition in the e-commerce space. The new executive was expected to steer the company through these difficult times.

The Dot-com Bust

Last February, Heidi G. Miller, the highest paid manager of the e-commerce giant Amazon.com, was named as the new chief executive officer of the company. The move was seen as a sign of the new direction the company was taking. The new executive was expected to focus on the company's future growth and to ensure that the company remained on track to achieve its goals.

However, the move was not without its challenges. The dot-com bubble had burst in the previous year, and the company was facing tough competition in the e-commerce space. The new executive was expected to steer the company through these difficult times.

The Dot-com Bust

Last February, Heidi G. Miller, the highest paid manager of the e-commerce giant Amazon.com, was named as the new chief executive officer of the company. The move was seen as a sign of the new direction the company was taking. The new executive was expected to focus on the company's future growth and to ensure that the company remained on track to achieve its goals.

However, the move was not without its challenges. The dot-com bubble had burst in the previous year, and the company was facing tough competition in the e-commerce space. The new executive was expected to steer the company through these difficult times.

The Dot-com Bust

Last February, Heidi G. Miller, the highest paid manager of the e-commerce giant Amazon.com, was named as the new chief executive officer of the company. The move was seen as a sign of the new direction the company was taking. The new executive was expected to focus on the company's future growth and to ensure that the company remained on track to achieve its goals.

However, the move was not without its challenges. The dot-com bubble had burst in the previous year, and the company was facing tough competition in the e-commerce space. The new executive was expected to steer the company through these difficult times.

The Dot-com Bust

Last February, Heidi G. Miller, the highest paid manager of the e-commerce giant Amazon.com, was named as the new chief executive officer of the company. The move was seen as a sign of the new direction the company was taking. The new executive was expected to focus on the company's future growth and to ensure that the company remained on track to achieve its goals.

However, the move was not without its challenges. The dot-com bubble had burst in the previous year, and the company was facing tough competition in the e-commerce space. The new executive was expected to steer the company through these difficult times.

The Dot-com Bust

Last February, Heidi G. Miller, the highest paid manager of the e-commerce giant Amazon.com, was named as the new chief executive officer of the company. The move was seen as a sign of the new direction the company was taking. The new executive was expected to focus on the company's future growth and to ensure that the company remained on track to achieve its goals.

However, the move was not without its challenges. The dot-com bubble had burst in the previous year, and the company was facing tough competition in the e-commerce space. The new executive was expected to steer the company through these difficult times.

The Dot-com Bust

Last February, Heidi G. Miller, the highest paid manager of the e-commerce giant Amazon.com, was named as the new chief executive officer of the company. The move was seen as a sign of the new direction the company was taking. The new executive was expected to focus on the company's future growth and to ensure that the company remained on track to achieve its goals.

However, the move was not without its challenges. The dot-com bubble had burst in the previous year, and the company was facing tough competition in the e-commerce space. The new executive was expected to steer the company through these difficult times.

The Dot-com Bust

Last February, Heidi G. Miller, the highest paid manager of the e-commerce giant Amazon.com, was named as the new chief executive officer of the company. The move was seen as a sign of the new direction the company was taking. The new executive was expected to focus on the company's future growth and to ensure that the company remained on track to achieve its goals.

However, the move was not without its challenges. The dot-com bubble had burst in the previous year, and the company was facing tough competition in the e-commerce space. The new executive was expected to steer the company through these difficult times.
The Most Dangerous Man on the Planet
Steve Case

The secrets behind the AOL empire are unearthed by our very own Michael Ferrarella. Read up on the “Dangers of AOL.”

Cover story: The Dangers of AOL
CD reviews
Movie reviews
Poetry
Features: Tons More
"Insider!" Issue
Upcoming Events
"Inside the Minds of..."
“The Dangers of AOL” reveal a side to the internet giant we may not have known...

movie reviews

Keana Reeves

strikes out... again!

The Watcher

Badazzed

Pay It Forward

concert reviews

Slipknot

Limp Bizkit

Jill Scott

inside includes

CD reviews

poetry

features column

10 & 11

3 & 5

Psychopathic Records Invades Sixth Avenue

By Dave Martinez

Arts/Entertainment

Halloween marked the day that Psychopathic Records dropped the bomb on the music industry, releasing three new albums on the same day. The Insane Clown Posse's (ICP) much anticipated duel albums, "Bizaar" and "Bizzar," along with fellow partners in crime, Twiztid's new album, "Freek Show," have been in the works for months and Psychopathic Records, the ICP-run underground music source, decided that Halloween would be the only appropriate time to get the party started.

For months now, the public has heard both the names of Twiztid through the endless rantings of way to celebrate than to come down to the Village the day after their record releases and have an autograph signing in the纺de of the West Village. Thousands upon thousands of face-painted Juggalos, a name given to ICP fans, "Juggalos (a name given to ICP fans," as the event was advertised in the local papers. As the event was advertised in the local papers, so many fans showed up that they had to be turned away. The line was so long that it wrapped around two city blocks, and people were seen waiting in the cold for hours. The event was a huge success, with thousands of fans showing up and having a great time.

The event was a huge success, with thousands of fans showing up and having a great time. The crowd was made up of people from all walks of life, and everyone had a great time. The event was a huge success, with thousands of fans showing up and having a great time. The event was a huge success, with thousands of fans showing up and having a great time.

Now with a small spotlight, ICP has decided to expose it for all it is worth, releasing duel albums to give people a true impression of what they are all about. Along with the release of Twiztid's "Freek Show," Psychopathic Records has a story to tell. The Insane Clown Posse's (ICP) much anticipated duel albums, "Bizaar" and "Bizzar," along with fellow partners in crime, Twiztid's new album, "Freak Show," have been in the works for months and Psychopathic Records, the ICP-run underground music source, decided that Halloween would be the only appropriate time to get the party started.

For months now, the public has heard both the names of Twiztid through the endless rantings of way to celebrate than to come down to the Village the day after their record releases and have an autograph signing in the纺de of the West Village. Thousands upon thousands of face-painted Juggalos, a name given to ICP fans, "Juggalos (a name given to ICP fans," as the event was advertised in the local papers. As the event was advertised in the local papers, so many fans showed up that they had to be turned away. The line was so long that it wrapped around two city blocks, and people were seen waiting in the cold for hours. The event was a huge success, with thousands of fans showing up and having a great time. The event was a huge success, with thousands of fans showing up and having a great time. The event was a huge success, with thousands of fans showing up and having a great time. The event was a huge success, with thousands of fans showing up and having a great time. The event was a huge success, with thousands of fans showing up and having a great time.
Deferring taxes with TIAA-CREF can be so rewarding, you'll wonder why you didn't do it sooner.

One of the fastest ways to build a retirement nest egg is through tax-deferred Supplemental Retirement Annuity (SRA). With SRAs, automatically deducted from your paycheck, you can easily build income to supplement your pension and Social Security.

And your contributions to TIAA grow and compound by earning interest each year, whether or not you're at work. SRAs and TIAA-CREF's yield historic investment performance, reinvestment of profits, and low fees or expense ratios, and you have more money working for you.

So why wait? Let us help you build a comfortable retirement today with a deferred SRA. We'll help you start saving in the years to come.

TIAA-CREF
Ensuring the future for those who shape it.

1.800.842.2776
www.tiaa-cref.org

THE AMERICAN UNIVERSITY
Summer in Paris 2001

Junebug022@hotmail.com

Alpha And Omega #4

Don't worry, I promise to bless you children with my shit on the next issue. Now, on to the amazing cover story.

I cannot believe that the editors at the Asylum had enough gall in to put a porn star on the cover of the last Asylum. I was truly impressed! But then I read the ar icle written by the Arts Editor, Jeffery Belsky. Now, as we all know, the arts section seems to be run single-handedly by our resident feminist, Dave Martinez. It's not too hard to see why Dave, the cake boy, didn't want to interview the porn princess, Shyla LaVue.
So, Jeffrey takes on the challenge.
Now, Mr. Belsky, do you have a posse? Didn't you get excited that you were talking to a porn star across the street? Did you tell her that you have seen all of her 150 movies and that you enjoy jacking-off to her? Why did you not tell her that you wished you had her on your list? Why did you not tell her some flame story about the world what you really thought of her.

Do you have one? Aren't you attracted to her?

Review: Don't be upset at Mr. Belsky, although if you are, then good. Just be honest and tell us the juicy stuff.

Trust me, the Baruch community will understand your feelings.

Finally, for all the people who think they have balls to write for this paper, I must prove it. I would love to publically ridicule you in writing for any nuisance that gets printed. If you want to get what's coming to you, then send Dick-tator Dave or any other
to do your work. Remember, this is not the news, it's just the true Peace!

Reader Response

Ninth Tiger needs to be caged!

Yo man I e-mailed you earlier and spoke the truth about that high class hooker being interviewed. Since I really want my opinions published I thought I should send you an edited version of how I feel. Whoever this female is she is not only not possible to live a lifestyle like and brag about it also makes you and your parents have the right to feel bad about yourselves.

To be completely honest with you you deserve a pity party and on my opinion of people I also agreed. I understand your feel-jings and if someone wants something, if someone else will surely will.

You can't help agree, to an extent. You can't help understand your feel-jings and if someone wants something, if someone else will surely will.

This paper, come and 1
nonsense that ge-

I would love
this paper, come and 1
nonsense that ge-

Finally, for all the people who think they have balls to write for
this paper, I must prove it. I would love publically ridicule you in writing for any nuisance that gets printed. If you want to get what's coming to you, then send Dick-tator Dave or any other
to do your work. Remember, this is not the news, it's just the true Peace!

Ninth Tiger ... "As I was reading, I felt like I was watching "Sex and the City."

When I read the ninth tiger, I fell in love. The story is so surreal that I don't know how to react except with laughter. "YOU KILLED ME!" KENLUST uses such words that only the extremely creative can think of. As I relished, I felt like I was watching "Sex and the City."
The College Years where Carrie meets Mr. Big while waiting for Miranda and Samantha leaves the bar. HBO managed to make the KESLENT similarly relates,
"I'm not completely all I want a woman. I want a woman. I want a woman. I want a woman. I want a woman in my life."

And then the words about it and tells everyone that she is now
Samantha with these two memo-"Sex." As sad and true as it is, I can accept and understand this but loved by men [and women] and if someone wants something, if someone else will surely will.

"Sex."

"Sex and the City."

"Sex and the City."

"Sex and the City."

"Sex and the City."

"Sex and the City."

"Sex and the City."

"Sex and the City."

"Sex and the City."

"Sex and the City."

"Sex and the City."

"Sex and the City."
Pay It Forward

by Michael Ferrarella
Contributing Writer

In one wish to make a good movie, one generally does not cast Keanu Reeves. The star of such "Wishful Thinking" hits as "Speed," "The Devil's Advocate," and "Dracula," Reeves has been best known as the man who can take a sword-fighting scene and stretch it out for ninety-three minutes. The reason is that Reeves can't dance. It looked more like a struggle to move his arms and legs.

It is true that Reeves' dancing wasn't particularly funny, but it was certainly better than anything else in "Bedazzled." If you're looking for a movie, you might want to look elsewhere.

The movie is a remake of the 1960 classic "Bedazzled," in which a man (played by Brendan Fraser) is granted a wish for every sin he commits. The first wish is granted by an angel (played by Marisa Tomei) who appears as a beautiful woman to the audience but is actually a devil in disguise.

The angel tells Fraser that she will grant him a wish for every sin he commits. Fraser, who is a successful business executive, wants to have a perfect life, so he asks for a woman to love him and a car to drive. The angel fulfills his wishes, but Fraser is not satisfied and asks for more.

The angel offers him a wish to change his life. Fraser asks for a woman to love him and a car to drive. The angel fulfills his wishes, but Fraser is not satisfied and asks for more.

The angel tells Fraser that he has one wish left; he can wish for anything he wants. Fraser asks for a perfect life, and the angel grants it.

The movie is a mix of comedy and romance, with a strong message about the importance of doing good deeds. It is a touching story that will warm your heart.

Still, there is a sweet charm to the movie. Brendan Fraser, with a chameleon-like quality into several different characters including a Columbus drug lord, an NBA player and Abraham Lincoln, is quite good at bringing his characters to life. As the angel, he finds himself and delivers several funny and insightful remarks.

This movie doesn't require much thought and can be good after a day of stress. I found myself laughing in my seat and enjoying the rest of the audience in spite of laughter. No, the movie didn't change my life and I hope it doesn't inspire you to do the same. That was touched especially by the big reveal. I knew, I knew, where does morality fit in all of this?
The Danger of AOL by Michael Ferrarella

The question of America Online's online reach has been fueled in the past years with their extensive service reach to homes and society. With their pending merger with Time-Warner, the question arises if AOL can continue to dominate the online scene. Time-Warner owns a cable television firm which in the future can also offer high-speed Internet access. In the proposed merger with Time-Warner, AOL would acquire some cable lines and be able to prevent other Internet services from offering high-speed services. AOL proposed that competitors would be allowed to use some of the cable lines, but only if they followed certain guidelines.

AOL, after all, has a great deal of power. It was reported that WorldCom informed their customers that they lost their Internet service unless they agreed to switch to AOL, and a Time Warner chairman recently stated that AOL might someday offer high-speed DSL connections as well. Currently, AOL subscribers who want to access other Internet services must cancel their Internet account or use a different login name and password into the AOL service.

PRISONERS TO THE SYSTEM: With the vast business proposals and transactions going on in the World of AOL, there is definitely a reason for all of us to feel a degree of concern. With AOL's reign needs to be seen in the context of the industry's need for more control in the market. AOL's answer to this is not simple. For example, AOL's dominance over other Internet services can be caused by their control of virtually every form of media.

In a recent column called "The Question of America Online's Relevance," a CNET columnist noted that "AOL is more than a portal. It's a portal to everything." One reader wrote on the paper's online discussion forum, "It's a portal to everything. It's a portal to everything. It's a portal to everything."

Time Warner merger before it happens could be seen as a major threat to the future of the company. One can send e-mails to and from any phone number, watch television while surfing the Internet, and buy products from online stores.

Ironically, AOL's own unsolicited e-mails can't be blocked. "AOL welcome screen, which appears on the services' start page. If more than one out of every four visitors click on anything other than AOL's content, AOL has demanded the right to cancel the entire account. AOL will then be able to charge the customer and be forced to hang up with my account active." A more evil-light for the cable line is the fact the cable box on top of the television, which AOL can't control, causes them from their Monopoly of Understanding. "It's a crucial element for service to be shared. Without it, AOL can't do business. and AOL has already purchased the domain BigBrother.com."

Big Brother Is Watching

Tired of busy signals?

With such a vast control of the most powerful companies in the various forms of media, erosion of this control is likely to occur at the rate of light speed. As one reader warned, "It's just a matter of time before AOL gains even more control over the Internet."

Americans United referred to it as a "serious issue of what regulations look like when one has the power to pull the plug." Everyone negotiation right now that the "AOL's customers could be forced to cancel their accounts and use a completely new computer service."
I, A...tor From the tree Your freedom gone, your courage lost, you're no more than a...

And wonders what remains of our Rights he fought to keep, What would be your answer, if he called out from the grave: Ills this still the land of the free and home of the brave?

If he stood by your bedside, in a dream, while you're asleep, Your leaders ship artillery, and guns to foreign shores, sworn.

His words were true, we are not Free, we have ourselves to

So they can padlock churches, and steal the family farm. "Your public servants don't uphold the solemn oath they've "People of the Republic, arise and take a stand! "Can you regain the freedom for which we fought and died? Preserve our Great Republic, and God-given Right!

You pay a tax you do not owe, to please the I.R.S." Your children must attend a school that doesn't educate. On land that you believe you own, you pay a yearly rent. "You buy permits to travel, and permits to own a gun, "Your money is no longer made of Silver or of

"Your kiss was a kiss you said you'd never feel again. "And the heart monitor started to scream With monotonous beeping tones They replaced your cheerful laughter But a tear stung my eye

But then life ebbs

And realized life is nothing more Than an hourglass filled with sand

"What if I waited too long? I ran to your door Glass shattered on the floor I gripped at my heart eyes wide open

"I see her stress Silencing her screams I helped her through - She thanked me nicely - I vowed never to let her down again."

The Game of Footprints

We

No one looked. No one heard. No one saw. No one took their blinders off.

One of the waves burst the anger She liked to enjoy like me. The playful waves come noiseless under a tree somewhere. His stress crystallized in your pupils. The Game of Footprints

To My Beloved

How can I tell you I love you when... Looking at you has turned me blind, blinding your words has made me deaf, Touching you has made me numb, So how can I tell you I love you?

I tell you calling me closed my eyes I saw you suffering I heard your torturous cries I fell to my knees I was torn apart I was so real I grabbed at my heart I dropped everything Glass shattered on the floor With eyes wide shut I ran to your door

"Where is she?" I screamed in a frantic state What if I waited too long? What if I got here too late?

My knees trembled As they took me to you I raised my eyes to your bed... Reality is so harsh, yet so true Machines prod your body Colorless skin clung to your bones They replaced your cheerful laughter With monotonous beeping tones I wanted to be strong for you But a tear stung my eye I made myself look away I could not let you see me

I bit my lip And thought of a smile Somewhere I held back my tears Though my soul was全村 the while

When you started coughing I told you it would be ok Because I could not admit to myself That you were slipping away

But coughing turned to choking Consuming blood clots into the machine A shudder took over your body And the doctor started to scream My mind raced

My heart pulsed madly I heard the doctor say She just shook her head

Richard Sproul'ss

With the flip of a switch Silence flooded my ears I let my soul care in The waves were alone - Me, you, and my fears

I kissed your forehhead I tucked you in And rested life nothing more Than an hourglass filled with sand

That's all she asked. She no longer care. She no longer feel protected She no longer feel loved.

Throbbing and thieving deep within my soul People are calling me Faultily through Trying to break in But I'm too late to this Song of mine

Not gonna ever let go

-Dora

Favorite Song

The Journeyman

I am free it's pretty easy to be For I am a product of a God, which gives me all power to infinity See, everyone is scared to walk bare afraid of what people will think So the reason they speak they may need to speak, saying it makes them at ease Release the stress, for it's used as a blessing At church when they sing This is the blood of Christ, drink it and you should feel alright But why do I need to drink it, to feel exist, when I have my insight What is right is in my mind Since I am a product of the almighty gene pool To all those genetic engines out there It's your fears that make you fight the natural years Creating a new aim, forget about helping the enslaved Making those born with disabilities feel ashamed No genetic engineering on me But naturally and continue to live chemically free No pesticides, pharmicides, they're both chemicals used to control society And my for methods for doctors to meet Take my money, wait a two-hour delay for the nurse to say I need a-ray Great, just what I need more bills to pay Send me to neurology and still can't figure out why I can't sleep Could it be that they're contaminating me like a landfill that continues to get buried I stopped digging my death hole Looked into my soul, and knew I could build up to my eternal home I said no more polluting Now I eat organic vegetables that are soothing Wash my body with soap made from honey See a holistic doctor that is building me I am free, naturally.

The Game of Footprints

We

The Journeyman

FILLED WITH REVENGE AS MY ONLY SCAPEGOAT, I SEMBRADERED INTO OUR RELATIONSHIP UNAWARE, OF COURSE, THAT VENGEANCE AND NOT REDEMPTION HAD CRYSTALLIZED IN YOUR PUPILS. So AS OUR INEVITABLE DALLIANCE OF TUG OF WAR ENSUED, AND WITH NO PROGRESSION BY EITHER AVENGER I RELEASED THE ROPE, BUT WAITING YOU TUMBLE BACKWARD - HAIR IN YOUR FACE - AND FEELING THE FLEETING WEIGHT OF DISCHARGED HUMANITY, I LEFT FOR THE ROPE. I LEFT FOR THE NORMALCY THAT I HAD JUST LOST, FIND IN THE CURSE OF PATRALEELS - ANGER - WE WERE ONE. I HAD GROWN QUITE FORD OF YOUR VEHEMENT VERIFICATION ON LOVE. MOSTLY BECAUSE IT MIRRORED THE DENSITY OF THE SOO-INTESTED CONVERSATION ON MY PALMS AND LIPS. BUT I MISCALCULATED MY JUMP AND FOUND MYSELF STARING AT YOUR FEET. CLEARLY AMAZING AT HOW YOU OVERPOWERED ME, YOU LET OUT A HOLY LAUGH, BUT MYSELF AS CONCEPTION SET IN. I BEGAN TO DRIFT OFF WITH THE FULL INTENTION OF WALKING AWAY. BUT YOU... YOU HELD ME AND PLACED YOUR LIPS ON MY OPEN MOUTH, AND FOR ONCE I LOST ALL EMOTION - EVEN AS YOUR SCENT HAIRPOISED ME AGAINST AND TOWARD THE FACADE OF UNENDING SMILES. BUT THE JOURNEYMAN THAT I AM, AND BETRAYED BY FONDNESS, I HAD MYSELF A NEW HOME AND MY EYES IMAGINED SUNS SETTING... SETTING...

-GENRITA PIQUA qtiopai@yahoo.com
The Anger Management Tour: Day 1 and Day 2 Relived

Day 1

Contemporary Airs Arena

By Robert Hidago

While Papa Roach headed into a packed house on a Friday afternoon, during the show the audience was feeling the contact high. The place was overcrowded and angry and I needed my anger outlet. The place was like a Pitbull. The group was just coming off a Friday show at the Starland Ballroom in New Jersey. It was mobbed and barely had time to catch their breath before coming at me. The show went on without a hitch. Papa Roach really put on a clean show and the crowd was into it. Even the DJ they brought in for the night was good.

Papa Roach put on a show in front of a crowd that was only vaguely aware of the band. Enough to bring the crowd to its feet. Some of Papa Roach's older stuff about some of the songs was great. They did a good job of playing their more recent stuff as well.

Day 2

Contemporary Airs Arena

By Robert Hidago

Papa Roach, a band that rose to fame in the early 2000s, is back with a bang! Their latest album, "The Grey Chapter," features a mix of hard rock and alternative rock. The band is known for their aggressive sound and powerful vocals.

The shows were a success, with the band drawing large crowds at both the Chicago Theatre and the House of Blues. The energy was hot, bringing the crowd to its feet. Limp Bizkit, who opened the show, also put on a great performance.

The band's recent album, "The Grey Chapter," has received mixed reviews. Some fans have praised the band's return to form, while others have criticized the lack of new material. Regardless, the shows were a success, and the band is looking forward to their next tour.

K-Rock's Halloween Costume Ball Featuring Slipknot

Halloween has unfortunately turned into a glorified, glittery, fun day with no basis for the holiday. But Slipknot turned that around with their show that should always go down in history. On October 31st, 2000, Slipknot put on a show at the Hammerstein Ballroom that should forever be remembered. The lead singer of Slipknot, Corey Taylor, gave the crowd a performance that will go down in history. The crowd was so non-responsive this even did an "N Sync" medley.

The crowd was completely involved in the show, and everyone was singing along. The entire floor was mashing around, and Slipknot's music that is available for sale on their CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone.

The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone. The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone. The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone. The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone. The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone. The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone. The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone. The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone. The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone. The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onset of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone.

The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone. The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone. The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone. The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone. The CD is pretty good as well. He is also being compared to another great vocalist like Allister, but switched often. His music is sick. The onslaught of Slipknot stresses that life brings to everyone.
 Invite you and a guest to a complimentary screening of **

 A.Ra::S -- The Last West of

**

 TICKER aSyLuM NOVEMBER 13, 2000 **

By Jeffery Belsky

 Article Editor **

The Insane Clown Posse (ICP) released two different albums on Halloween in the midst of thousands of thousands of juggles nationwide. What is a juggler, you ask? It is the same singer who gave ICP the name of people who love them. I, personally, am proud to proclaim that I am a juggler and love these two new albums. If you don’t know who ICP are, this will quickly prepare you as to what the real name of juggles is. This album is a complete circle of songs that ICP specify these people who love them. I, personally, am pleased to proclaim that I am a juggler and love these two new albums. If you don’t know who ICP are, this will quickly prepare you as to what the real name of juggles is. This album is a complete circle of songs that ICP specify these people who love them. I, personally, am pleased to proclaim that I am a juggler and love these two new albums. If you don’t know who ICP are, this will quickly prepare you as to what the real name of juggles is. This album is a complete circle of songs that ICP specify these people who love them. I, personally, am pleased to proclaim that I am a juggler and love these two new albums. If you don’t know who ICP are, this will quickly prepare you as to what the real name of juggles is. This album is a complete circle of songs that ICP specify these people who love them. I, personally, am pleased to proclaim that I am a juggler and love these two new albums. If you don’t know who ICP are, this will quickly prepare you as to...
NOT A SOUND.
NOT A WARNING.
NOT A CHANCE.
NOT ALONE.

RED
PLANET

STARTS FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10
AT THEATRES EVERYWHERE

PG 13 PARENTS STRONGLY CAUTIONED
Some Material May Be Inappropriate for Children Under 13
Violent Content, Strong Language

FOR MORE INFORMATION ABOUT THIS MOVIE
America Online Keyword: Red Planet
www.movietone.com/RedPlanet www.movietone.com