Quintet in Opening for Stein Fund

By Norman Oshins

Trinity College held its first ever Revue at the gym, Coach Hal Holman and his boys wowing the Beaver hooters. The quintet, consisting of Bruce Auer, Bob Pitera, Bob Spenke, and Bill Spero, brought the house down. A total of more than one hundred alumni stars are expected to appear. All proceeds from the event will be turned over to the Stein Fund.

Stein Fund was set up in 1939 for the sole purpose of providing hospitalization for students who are injured while competing in the sport field for City College. It was initiated by the late Dr. Sidney Stein, CONY 1921. Dr. Stein had given the City College Athletics Department a grant to cover the cost of any student who would have wished to attend on the City College field, but for whom the hospital bill would be too heavy. Stein suffered a heart attack, and died in 1939, just as the fund was about to be set up for the first time.

In recognition of the long-service to the City College, and upon the death of Dr. Stein, the Varsity Club set up a hospital fund in his name. This fund has, during the years, been utilized in assisting students who have been injured during athletic contests. Previous to the setting up of the fund, students were on their own. First Minority Report

By Ivy Alpert

The minority report written by E. W. Woolf is an interesting document. Although he finds the proposal to be sound, not so the theory of defense. He feels that the proposal is not practically workable, and that it is only a matter of government policy to go home.

The report contains a number of suggestions for the betterment of the college. Among these, the one concerning the expansion of the student body is particularly noteworthy. Woolf suggests that the college should take advantage of the current enthusiasm for higher education and increase its enrollment.

The report also discusses the need for more efficient administration of the college. Woolf recommends the establishment of a central planning board to coordinate the activities of the various departments.

In conclusion, Woolf's report is a valuable contribution to the ongoing debate on the future of the college. It is a call for thoughtful consideration of the issues at hand, and a reminder that the welfare of the students and faculty is paramount.
Prof. Lewis F. Mott, Former English Dept. Head, Dead

Professor Lewis Freeman Mott, former chairman of the Departmental Board of the College, died Thursday at his home, 395 Riverside Drive, after a long illness. His age was 72.

Professor Mott, who was on the staff at his retirement in 1950 after serving on the faculty of the College for fifty years, was graduated from City in 1882. He was one of the founders of the Mercury, undergraduate humor magazine and one of the oldest publications of its kind in the country.

He was an authority on Shakespeare, Provincial literature Between Phoenix and Weir on Milton. In 1917 he was named chairman of the Liberal Studies' Advisory Board of the College.

In 1926 Professor Mott was one of the recipients of the Townsend Harris medal. Given each year by the College to several of its alumni, the award is given to students who have written theses of the highest merit.

The professor is quoted as having once expressed the conviction that he had read so many Shakespearean scholars that if they were placed side by side they would encircle the earth several times. And one day, when they would be so high that they couldn't see the top of the State building look like a bannock.

It was said that of the forty members of his department, thirtyone were among his former students.
